Railways 1,802 exceptionally well executed coins, of which 688 were struck from dies and the rest were castings.

26. Statement II of the Appendix gives by calendar years the number of Annual coinages, whole rupees coined in the Indian Mints from 1835 to 31st March 1907.

The rupee coinage of the year amounted to 25,38 lakhs including 6,00 lakhs for the Gold Standard Reserve. Of this Bombay coined 16,05 lakhs of which 14,91 were from purchased silver bullion, 2 from local coins of the Tonk State received for conversion into British rupees, and the balance, 1,12, from withdrawn and uncurrent coins. Calcutta coined 9,33 lakhs, of which 8,58 were from newly purchased silver and 75 from withdrawn and uncurrent coin. Out of the coinage from purchased Silver 2,00 and 4,00 lakhs respectively were paid to the Gold Standard Reserve at Calcutta and Bombay. The number of rupees, therefore, which formed an addition to the circulation through the purchase of bullion was 17,49 lakhs. The net profit on rupee coinage amounted, as stated in para. 11 above, to 6,02 lakhs.

27. The usual examination of the rupee circulation was made in May 1907, The Rupee census, when 253 Government treasuries each sorted 10,000 rupees according to the dates

25. The tables in the margin give False Coinage. the numbers of counterfeit coins cut and broken in the different provinces during the calendar year 1906 and the usual comparative statistics for the past ten years. They show that the number of counterfeit rupees discovered in 1906 in the Treasuries, Currency offices and Railway cash offices in course of examination of coin received by them is somewhat higher than the number similarly discovered in 1905. It must, however, be remembered that the number of transactions is rapidly increasing annually. Out of the total number of 68,632, 32,716 were detected in Railway cash offices, 7,558 being found on the North Western Railway alone. The number of counterfeit rupees received at the Mints for examination during the year was 4,514, of which 848 were struck from dies and the rest were castings. Most of the former were well executed, but the majority of the latter consisted of palpable counterfeits made of base metal. The Bombay Mint received from the Bombay, Baroda and Central India and the Rajputana-Malwa borne by each. The result is given below with those of the previous fifteen years. Details by Provinces appear in Statement IX of the Appendix.

currency Agencies. 29. The Currency Agencies in all provinces, except the Punjab and at Mandalay in Burma, are strictly Currency chests opened for resource purposes, whereas at the Agencies proper exchanges with the public take place. The chests permit of the transfer of Treasury funds from one place to another without actual movements of coin, and thus supply a very speedy means of withdrawing Treasury surpluses to head-quarters. On 31st March 1907 the number of Currency chests was 219, and they contained balances amounting to 7,32 lakhs or 1,69 lakhs more than on the corresponding date in the previous year. The increase occurs in the Calcutta, Allahabad and Madras circles and was due to the necessity of speedily withdrawing Treasury surpluses to the Presidency towns to meet the payment of heavy Council bills.

The following table distributes the total balance in Agencies on 31st March 1907 in details of circles :—

31. The increase as compared with last year occurs chiefly under half notes. Notes lost by theft are not included in the above statement as no claim lies against the Department on their account. Payment of stopped notes cannot be refused, but if the presenter is not known he is pointed out to the Police who enquire into the circumstances connected with his possession of the note. There were 1,320 stopped notes on the Calcutta list at the close of the year. During the year 272 such notes were presented and all the presenters were pointed out to the Police, one only being prosecuted and convicted. Notes proved to have been wholly destroyed are not paid off at once, but only after 20 years, when their value, which has been invested, is paid together with the accrued interest. The number of destroyed notes and the investments made on their account are shown below. It will be seen that there was a considerable increase in the number during the year. The increase compared with previous years is chiefly due to the large number of notes included in certain single cases,

Thus one case in Calcutta covered 43 notes, one case in Allahabad 37 notes and one case in Lahore 13 notes.

There were nine new forgeries during the year. Seven were of the Calcutta Circle notes—of five R10 notes of the  $\frac{P. A.}{43}$ ,  $\frac{P. A.}{63}$ ,  $\frac{O. A.}{76}$ ,  $\frac{R.}{59}$  and  $\frac{R.}{61}$  series respectively, of one R50 note of the  $\frac{O. A.}{91}$  series, and of a R100 note bearing serial No.  $\frac{W.}{76}$  and two of the Madras Circle R100 notes of the  $\frac{T. A.}{54}$  and  $\frac{T. A.}{75}$  series.

The forgery of the Calcutta circle R50 note of the  $\frac{O. A.}{91}$  series and that of R10 notes of the  $\frac{P. A.}{43}$  and  $\frac{P. A.}{63}$  series are hand drawn forgeries, the latter being well-executed. The forgery of the  $\frac{O. A.}{76}$  series note is a very poor imitation as is also the forgery of R100 note of the  $\frac{W.}{76}$  series. The colouring and figuring seem to have been done by lithograph and the paper is of the ordinary kind with no water marks.

The forged note for R10 of the  $\frac{R.}{61}$  series of the Calcutta circle is a pen and ink sketch. The forged note of the  $\frac{R.}{59}$  series is a lithograph on plain paper. The Madras circle forged notes have colouring and figuring which resemble those on a genuine note but the letters, figures and blocks are mere clever pen and ink sketches and the paper ordinary with no water marks.

At Allahabad there were three prosecutions — two in connection with old forgeries of the Calcutta circle notes of R1,000 and R10 respectively, and one in connection with the new forgery of R100 note of the  $\frac{W}{76}$  series — but in all of them the accused were acquitted. One case remained under enquiry at the close of the year. There was a prosecution at Karachi in connection with the forgery of the Calcutta Circle note for R10 of the  $\frac{P. A.}{63}$  series, but it was dropped, as the District Magistrate, Karachi, thought that the grounds against the accused were insufficient. The enquiry in regard to the two Madras new forgeries is pending. There was no prosecution elsewhere and nothing remarkable about the forgeries.

33. In the Calcutta case which was under enquiry last year the accused Fraudulent Claim was convicted and sentenced to a fine of R200. Several cases of false claims on half notes of the usual kind occurred in Calcutta but only one case was prosecuted and that case resulted in an acquittal.

At the Rangoon Currency office two fraudulent claims were presented in connection with two burnt fragments of cancelled R10 notes which somehow escaped complete destruction at Messrs. Steel Brothers' Mills where the cancelled notes were burnt, the furnace at the Currency office having been temporarily demolished owing to alteration in the building. The accused in one case was convicted and sentenced to 31 days' rigorous imprisonment but in the other case the accused having absconded, the case could not be proceeded with.

34. The following are the usual details of the remittances of whole and half rupees made during the year :— Remittances of silver.

The total volume of the year's remittances in current coin was less than that of last year by about 2 crores. The remittances to Calcutta and Rangoon were less by 1,68 and 1,35 lakhs respectively, but those to Madras and its Agencies were more by 1,03 lakhs. The usual detailed explanation of movement of coin from one circle to another is given below.

The most important remittances in the first quarter were those of 125 lakhs to the Allahabad circle for opium payments and of 215 lakhs to the Lahore circle for issues in connection with the wheat trade. The whole of the amount required for the Allahabad circle was supplied from Bombay in April and May. Of the remittance to the Lahore circle 80 lakhs were sent from Calcutta in May, 45 lakhs from Ajmer partly in April and partly in June, and 90 lakhs from Allahabad and its Agencies in June. There was an active demand for rupees in the Madras circle throughout this quarter and it was necessary to strengthen the reserve. For this purpose, remittances aggregating 35 lakhs in April, 25 lakhs in May and 35 lakhs in June were sent from Bombay. Karachi also required help to the extent of 30 lakhs to meet the requirements of the export trade. This help was sent from the Bombay circle.

The predominant feature in the second quarter was the demand at Calcutta in connection with the jute trade. As in last year, the season practically commenced from about the third week of July. The rupee stock at the Calcutta Currency office was at that time about 450 lakhs but its rapid diminution in spite of supplies from the Mint, necessitated the import of 50 lakhs from Bombay in August, and of 50 and 200 lakhs respectively from the Allahabad circle and Bombay in September.

In the third quarter further supplies were brought to Calcutta of 32 lakhs from Lahore, 100 lakhs from Rangoon and 100 lakhs from Bombay in October and of 50 lakhs from Bombay in November and December. The total remittances to Calcutta in the jute season thus amounted to 582 lakhs and this was supplemented by supplies from the Mint amounting to about 4½ crores. Some portion of the demand at Calcutta was also diverted to Dacca, to which large remittances were sent from the Eastern Bengal treasuries. The other important remittances in this quarter were 70 lakhs to Madras and its agencies and 50 lakhs to Rangoon from Bombay. The remittance to Madras was required partly in connection with the groundnut trade and was divided between November and December in amounts aggregating 30 and 40 lakhs respectively. The supply to Rangoon was sent in December in anticipation of the demands in the rice season. The cotton trade in Bombay did not prove embarrassing, and no remittances from outside were required to finance it.

Of the remittances in the fourth quarter, the most noticeable were 125 lakhs to Rangoon and 152 lakhs to the Allahabad circle. The season in Rangoon was about the normal and remittances of 100 lakhs in January, half from Calcutta and half from Bombay, and of 25 lakhs in February from Bombay, in addition to the 50 lakhs sent in advance in December, proved ample. The remittance to the Allahabad circle was sent in March in anticipation of the opium requirements. Of this 102 lakhs were sent from Bombay and 50 lakhs from Calcutta. The Lahore circle and Karachi also required aid to the extent of 50 and 70 lakhs respectively, principally to meet the requirements of the spring harvest in Upper India. The former was supplied from the United Provinces and the latter from Bombay. The stock in Calcutta being rather low in January, 25 lakhs from Allahabad and an equal amount from Bombay were brought down as a margin of safety.

37. The absorption of rupees and half rupees in the year under report exceeded that in the preceding year by 350 lakhs. This increase was due largely to greater activity in the traffic in jute and jute manufactures. The total value of the exports of Indian merchandise during the year was about 15 crores more than in 1905-06, but of this about 13 crores occurred under jute and jute manufactures. Seeds came next with an increase of about  $2\frac{1}{2}$  crores. There was a decline of about  $1\frac{1}{4}$  crores in the exports of wheat and wheat flour, but this was met to a large extent by a rise under tea. The exports of raw cotton were about  $\frac{3}{4}$  crore higher, but those in cotton manufactures fell off by about  $2\frac{1}{4}$  crores; against this decline, however, there was a set-off of about 2 crores in hides and skins. There was no material variation between the two years in the exports of rice. As might have been expected, the highest absorption took place in the Calcutta circle, the next in order being Bombay. The following special points in the total absorption in each quarter of the year may be noticed.

In the first quarter the Punjab absorbed about a crore and a half in connection with the trade in wheat and seeds. Madras also absorbed a crore in the trade in cereals. These issues were, however, greatly counterbalanced by the receipts into treasuries in Bengal and Burma in payment of Government revenue.

The main feature of the second quarter was the large net issue of about  $10\frac{1}{2}$  crores in Bengal and Eastern Bengal to meet the requirements of an excellent jute crop combined with exceptionally high prices of jute.

The demand for rupees on account of the trade in jute continued to the end of the third quarter, but the issues in Bombay in connection with the export trade in cotton fell off considerably in comparison with last year. The increase in Eastern Bengal and Assam, as compared with last year, was due principally to a portion of the jute demand usually made at Calcutta having been transferred to Dacca.

In the fourth quarter Bombay and Burma absorbed about  $2\frac{1}{4}$  crores each in connection with the cotton and the rice trade respectively. There was, now, however, at the same time a pretty large return of coin from circulation in Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Madras and Berar in the shape of revenue.

Treasuries at branches of the Presidency Banks are excluded from this statement. It is not to be understood from the above figures that a majority of Treasuries could have cashed large values of notes, but merely that they did so in the case of small quantities presented by the ordinary non-trading public. Traders, knowing that it would be useless to ask for large sums in silver in exchange for notes, do not make the attempt.

42. Statement VIII in the Appendix shows the proportions of Treasury and Bank balances which, in each Province, were held in the form of Currency notes. Excluding Reserve Treasuries, the percentage of balances held in notes was :—

Receipts and Expenditure.

43. The figures of receipts and expenditure in Statement VI of the Appendix are only approximate, as the accounts of 1906-07 are not yet closed. The charges of the year are less than those of 1905-06 by R1,55,000, due entirely on a decrease in the charges for note forms.

PRESENT :

His Excellency the Earl of Minto, P.C., G.C.M.G., G.M.S.I., G.M.I.E., Viceroy and Governor General of India, presiding.
His Honour Sir Denzil Ibbetson, K.C.S.I., Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab.
His Excellency General Viscount Kitchener of Khartoum, G.C.B., O.M., G.C.M.G., Commander-in-Chief in India.
The Hon'ble Mr. H. Erle Richards, K.C.
The Hon'ble Mr. E. N. Baker, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Major-General C. H. Scott, C.B., R.A.
The Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson, Kt., C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Mr. J. F. Finlay, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Mr. J. O. Miller, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Mr. S. Ismay, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Tikka Sahib Ripudaman Singh of Nabha.
The Hon'ble Dr. Rashbehary Ghose, C.I.E., D.L.
The Hon'ble Mr. T. Gordon Walker, C.S.I.

NEW MEMBER.

The Hon'ble MR. GORDON WALKER took his seat as an Additional Member of Council.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Hon'ble TIKKA SAHIB RIPUDAMAN SINGH OF NABHA asked the following questions :—

"Have the Government of India noticed the report of an alleged occurrence published by the "Tribune" of Lahore, in its issue of 22nd August, under the heading "Strange if True"?

"Is it true that 'the police have so far done nothing in connection with the burning to ashes by the local Muhammadans of a magnificent Sikh temple in the village of Udharwal in the Jhelum district'?

"Is it also true 'that two more Gurdwaras, those of the villages of Farid and Gandekas, have also been looted by them'?

"If the facts stated above are true, will the Government be pleased to state what action they propose to take in this matter, in view of the fact that these occurrences are bound to deeply wound the feelings of the loyal Sikh community?

"If the publication has not received Government's attention and should the Government have no information of the occurrence, will it be pleased to institute a searching enquiry with a view to the punishment of the offenders, and lay the papers on the Council table?"

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON replied :—

"It is not true that the police have done nothing in connection with the burning of the Gurdwara at Udharwal. News of a fire having broken out in the Gurdwara reached the police station at Chakwal and incendiarism being suspected a Sub-Inspector visited the spot and arranged for the prosecution of three persons whom he suspected of having taken the opportunity of the village being evacuated for plague to burn and loot the Gurdwara and a neighbouring house which was also burnt. The Hindus of the village insisted that other persons also were guilty and the case was further investigated by a Sikh Sub-Inspector and subsequently by an Inspector. The case has been fully enquired into and the persons believed to be guilty will be brought before the courts for trial.

"The Government of India have received no information regarding the alleged looting of Gurdwaras at the villages of Farid and Gandekas, but inquiries are being made."

LOCAL AUTHORITIES LOAN (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER moved that the Bill further to amend the Local Authorities Loan Act, 1879, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Erle Richards, the Hon'ble Mr. Ismay, the Hon'ble Dr. Rashbehary Ghose and the mover.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE BILL, 1901.

The Hon'ble MR. RICHARDS moved for leave to withdraw the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature, which was introduced in Council on the 20th December, 1901. He said :—"My Lord, the motion which I have the honour to make is preliminary to that which stands next on the notice paper, and I think it my duty to the Council to offer a few words of explanation for the course which I am inviting them to adopt. It will be within their recollection that six years ago leave was given to introduce a Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure. It is not necessary to enlarge upon the reasons which induced the Council to assent to that course: they will be found stated in the report of the speech of Sir Thomas Raleigh: and I do not think that anyone who has observed the improvement in the Civil Courts which has taken place during the 25 years that have elapsed since the last Code was passed, or whose misfortune it is to have from time to time to deal with the mass of decisions which has accumulated around that Code, can doubt that the decision of Council was wise. The Bill introduced in 1901 was circulated in due course and elicited a great amount of valuable comment from Judges and others qualified to speak on the subject in all parts of India. It was referred to a Select Committee in October, 1902, consisting of the Hon'ble Sir Thomas Raleigh, the Hon'ble Sir Denzil Ibbetson, the Hon'ble Rai Bahadur P. Ananda Charlu, the Hon'ble Mr. Pugh, the Hon'ble Rai Bahadur Bipin Krishna Bose, the Hon'ble Mr. Whitworth, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Rampini, the Hon'ble Mr. Power and the Hon'ble Rai Sri Ram Bahadur. Their report was presented to this Council in the following March, and the Bill, as amended by them, was then again circulated for opinions. I take this opportunity of acknowledging the debt we feel to the Members of that Committee for the work they did in the consideration of the subject. It is difficult to over-estimate the care and exactness with which they examined every detail of Civil Procedure; their labours have done much to facilitate the task of their successors. It cannot, however, be denied that the reception with which this second Bill met was not enthusiastic: I do not refer to criticisms of detail; there were some 700 clauses in the Bill and I should think but poorly of my profession if they could not suggest at least 700 defects in an Enactment of that length. But objections of substance were taken which appeared to the Government of India to deserve more consideration. It was alleged that the Bill was too ambitious in its aims, that it sought to provide for every detail of procedure, and to meet every possible contingency: that it attempted to embody the effect of an excessive number of decided cases. The result, it was said, was that the Bill had become complicated and cumbrous and that it would be a source of much litigation. It is not necessary, my Lord, to express any exact opinion upon those criticisms. The Bill has been before the Council and the public and they can judge how far they were well founded. It is probably fair to say that, to a great extent they were exaggerated, but to the Government of India it appears that there was at least sufficient force in them to make it desirable to reconsider the Bill before it was passed into law. The fact that there had been a considerable difference of opinion among the members of the Select Committee presented a further reason for that course. The matter was accordingly taken up in the Department over which I have the honour to preside. We considered the general nature of the objections and we took every opportunity of consulting Indian lawyers upon them. I would particularly desire in this connection to express my acknowledgments to Mr. Justice Chatterjee of Lahore, to Sir Gooroo Das Banerjee, to Mr. Lowndes of the Bombay Bar, to the Hon'ble Rai Sri Ram Bahadur, and to Mr. Justice Woodroffe, all of whom have been good enough to assist us in some detail. In the result a fresh draft was prepared and this has recently been submitted to a Special Committee and has formed the basis of their deliberations. The Bill which I shall ask leave to introduce if the present motion is carried, is the Bill as amended by that Special Committee. But it is necessary to first clear the ground by withdrawing the Bill which is at present before this Council, because two of the members of the Special Committee are not members of your Lordship's Council, and the new Bill cannot, therefore, be treated as an amendment by a Select Committee. It is for this reason, my Lord, that I make the present motion."

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE BILL, 1907.

The Hon'ble MR. RICHARDS moved for leave to introduce a new Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to the procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature. He said:—"I now move, my Lord, for leave to introduce the new Bill to which I have already made reference and at the outset I desire to call the attention of Council to one fact which is of itself a sufficient justification for this motion. This Bill, my Lord, has the approval of the Special Committee appointed by the Government of India to consider the amendment of Civil Procedure and the four gentlemen who were associated with me on that Committee were the Chief Justice of Bengal, the Chief Justice of Bombay, the Hon'ble Mr. Ismay, and the Hon'ble Dr. Rashbehary Ghose. I do not know that there are four other lawyers in India who could command more completely the confidence of the public in a matter such as this, and the fact that they have approved of this Bill, and have approved of it unanimously, is, I venture to think, an argument of an almost conclusive character in its favour. The Report of the Committee with notes on clauses will be found among the papers which I have laid upon the table, but Council will expect that I should make some further explanation to them of the principal alterations proposed in the Bill. It deals with matters which are for the most part familiar only to lawyers, but I propose to call attention only to the more general features and in doing so I will endeavour to avoid technical details as far as may be possible.

“ My Hon'ble Colleagues, or the majority of them at any rate, must have had occasion at some time or other to look at the Code of Civil Procedure and if they will take in their hands the Draft Bill which is on this table, they will see that in form it presents a different appearance to that of the existing Code. The Bill itself consists of some 150 clauses only as against the 650 of which the present Code consists. But the change is one more of form than of reality : we recommend but few alterations of a radical character in the law ; the difference arises from a rearrangement of the provisions. And if my colleagues will glance at the clauses of the Bill they will see that, speaking generally, they contain general propositions only : they lay down the general powers and jurisdictions of the Courts, they state the broad limits within which the Courts may act, but they make no attempt to provide for details : or to set up machinery to deal with minor matters. All these less important provisions will be found in the First Schedule and I will explain to Council the reason why this plan has been adopted and the advantages which, as is thought, will follow from it.

“ The present Code, my Lord, has been in force for 25 years and the experience of those years, although it has shown that on the main lines the Bill was rightly framed, has also shown that in many respects there are defects. It would have been impossible that this should not have been so in the case of a measure so complicated as a Code of Civil Procedure. But the fact, my Lord, that these defects have remained so long uncured is an undoubted evil, and it is an evil which must necessarily ensue if every detail of procedure is to be confined within the iron walls of a statute. Change can then be made only by the legislature, and that necessarily involves delay. We cannot bring in Bills year by year to remedy defects as they occur. If we were to do so, our Statute Book would be full to confusion with small Enactments. But in the case of amending Acts of wider scope the process of legislation must be slow. This very Bill has been under the consideration of the Government of India for 14 years, and the present Code was for a similar time on the anvil. The result follows that improvements can only be made at long intervals and that imperfections in procedure may remain for years unremedied. In this way the action of our Courts is hampered and injustice is perpetuated. There is, my Lord, a further disadvantage in the absence of any elasticity in a law such as this. The Code of Civil Procedure extends practically to the whole of British India : indeed, I might go further, for it has been adopted or is followed in many of the Native States. When one considers how vast the area is to which it applies, how diverse are the conditions and the wants of the inhabitants of that area, one realizes how impossible it is to frame a fixed Code suitable alike to every part of this country. In a fixed Code the law-giver can only aim at setting up some one standard of procedure : and since it is not possible to postpone reforms in the interests of backward areas, it follows that the standard must necessarily be fixed by the needs of the more advanced communities. The result is that some of the machinery of the Code is more elaborate than is necessary for certain areas. Sir John Strachey has pointed this out in his book, and it is a fact that is hardly susceptible of dispute. My Lord, if some power were given to alter minor provisions without resort to the legislature, if there were means to enact that the more elaborate details of procedure should not apply in special circumstances or in special areas, these two objections could be avoided. The Committee are strongly of opinion that this should be done, they believe that in every respect it is expedient to introduce more elasticity into our procedure. They do not desire to do away with uniformity in main principles, they do not desire that there should be radical differences of procedure between the different Provinces. But they think that, with due regard to those considerations, it is possible to confer a power to change the less important provisions of the Code in order that defects in them can be remedied at once as they are discovered and in order that in special circumstances the Courts may have power to simplify our legal machinery and to make it more adapted to the wants of less advanced communities.

“ This, my Lord, is the reason of the changes in arrangement to which I have called attention. The Bill itself enacts the general principles of procedure ; provisions which in the opinion of the Committee are not fundamental and can be varied without creating any divergence of principle are placed in the Schedule. A power to vary these provisions or to make new provisions is then given to the High Courts but it is given subject to certain checks. In the first place the High Court can only act with the sanction of the Local Government or, in the case of the High Court of Calcutta, of the Government of India. That, my Lord, will ensure that every change shall be fully considered before it is made, and it will ensure that such uniformity is maintained among the various Provinces as may be thought desirable. The Committee have strengthened this by their recommendation that no proposal for change should be accepted before it has been communicated to the Government and to the other High Courts ; though this is not a matter which requires to be provided for in the Act. Further than that it is proposed that High Courts shall only act after they have consulted Rule Committees,—standing bodies to be created by each High Court, on which the various branches of the legal profession are to have representatives. The Government of India attach importance to these Committees, they think that it will be most valuable to have the opinion of practitioners before changes are made. In England, my Lord, a Rule Committee constituted in the same way has been invested with similar powers to make rules of procedure and has exercised them with success for many years past, indeed, the main part of the practice in England depends, not upon Statute, but upon Rules. In India we have not hitherto followed this example. In 1859 when our first Code of Civil Procedure was passed the Courts, if one compares them with their present condition, were in their infancy and it may well be that it was wise to tie down their action within narrow limits. But there can be no reason now-a-days for denying to High Courts a power which is exercised with such beneficial results in England and which will, as I anticipate, be equally beneficial in India. The High Courts are more competent to deal with these matters than the legislature, and I submit to this Council that it is proper to give them powers to do so.

“ It has sometimes been objected by those with whom I have discussed this proposal that High Courts will be inert and will not care to exercise the power to amend the Rules. My first answer is that, even if that be so, no harm will be done, for the position will be exactly as it is now. The Act and the Schedules will contain the whole of the existing Code and if any High Court does not desire to alter those provisions, they can maintain the status quo and, in that case, they will stand exactly as they do at this moment. And here I may observe that in placing the Rules in a Schedule and giving power to the Courts to alter them we are following exactly the precedent of the earlier Judicature Acts. My second answer is that I decline to accept the anticipation that High Courts will be inert. My experience is that the High Courts of India (and I include in this expression the Chief Courts) and the Judges who compose those Courts are foremost in their desire to improve the administration of justice. If this Bill be passed into law they will have the opportunity of taking an active part in the improvement of procedure : and I, at least, am confident that they will take advantage of that opportunity in the best interests of the public.

“ The Committee have referred in their Report to one objection that will be urged against their proposal. They anticipate that it will be pointed out that the change in the arrangement of the Code and the alteration in the familiar numbering of the sections will be a cause of inconvenience to practitioners. It is hardly necessary however to observe that this inconvenience will be of the most temporary character and that it will diminish day by day as the Code becomes familiar to those who have to deal with it. I do not for one moment believe that the members of my profession will allow such an objection to influence their judgment, if in other respects they approve of the change we propose. I sympathize with them in the inconvenience they will suffer at the first but I appeal to them to suffer it in order to gain those great advantages which, in the opinion of the Special Committee will result from the change.

"I have every confidence, my Lord, that this reform will commend itself to the Courts and to the members of the various branches of my profession. And I have reason to hope that it will meet with the approval of Local Governments ; at least it has the high authority of the Government of the United Provinces, for I find that in their letter commenting on the former Bill, they put forward a proposal on this point which is substantially the same as that which is adopted in this Bill.

"So much, my Lord, for the change in arrangement, and, for the reasons which, as we believe, justify that change. Before dealing with specific amendments I desire to say a word or two as to the general principles on which we have proceeded. There was a good deal of adverse comment on the last Bill in regard to the changes of language. It is no doubt a temptation to any draftsman to bring the language of an old enactment into conformity with modern fashions in drafting. But there are objections to doing so which in my judgment should prevail in a case such as this. The wording of the existing Code is familiar to practitioners and is well understood by them : it has been interpreted, almost every sentence of it, by the Courts. To change that wording merely for the sake of verbal improvement would not therefore make the meaning clearer, while on the other hand, any change, even of a formal character, must involve some risk of opening a door to litigation. In the main therefore we have endeavoured to preserve the existing language except where it appeared to us that there was some advantage of substance to be gained by alteration. Another comment on the former Bill was that it went into unnecessary detail, it was said that the clauses were long and complicated. We have endeavoured to avoid this criticism by framing clauses on less ambitious lines. It is impossible to provide for every contingency and we have thought it better to aim at laying down general rules rather than to elaborate details in the hopes of meeting every possible case that could arise. Since the Code of 1882 was passed there has been a manifest improvement in the Courts which have to administer it, and from the information at my command I am confident that the Courts are improving year by year. There is the less need therefore now for an elaboration of detail. The Courts can safely be trusted to give effect to principles and it is in the interests of justice that they should apply principles rather than limit their judgments to the question whether any particular case before them is within the four corners of a section. One further point remains and that is in regard to Case Law. There has been, as I have said, an immense number of decisions on the Code and to incorporate them, or even a small portion of them, would be to turn the Code into a mere Digest of rulings. The amendments in the Bill dealing with case law have therefore been confined to points on which there is a conflict of authority between the various High Courts. When a doubt has been raised as to the meaning of a section and that doubt has been set at rest by a decision accepted and followed by all High Courts, no amendment has been made.

"I turn now, my Lord, to particular amendments of substance and the first I would call attention to is the new definition of "decrees" which will be found on the first page. This is a technical matter and I would only say of it for the information of my legal friends that the chief point in the amendment is the recognition of a distinction between preliminary and final decrees. It is hoped that this will have a sensible effect in rendering execution more expeditious. In other respects the preliminary part of the Bill does not call for observation.

"Provisions relating to the jurisdiction of Courts and res judicata have not been materially altered. The section of the present Code which deals with res judicata is reproduced in the Bill with but little change. It is an impossibility to embody a treatise on a subject so complicated as res judicata within the limits of a clause or even of a series of clauses ; and it seems better to abandon the attempt and to leave the law as it stands, subject to the small amendments which are shown in italicised type. On the whole the section does not work badly. The clause as to foreign judgments has been remodelled but has not been substantially altered.

"Clauses 15 to 25, relating to the place of suing, are re-arranged in what is hoped is a more convenient form ; they are, speaking generally, a reproduction of the existing Code.

"The next ten clauses stand in the place of 16 chapters and 200 sections of the existing Code ; these clauses are an illustration of the scheme on which the Bill has been re-arranged. They state the general principles only and the whole of the detailed provisions on which practitioners will have to work will be found in the First Schedule. It is provided in clause 26 that every suit shall be instituted by the presentation of a plaint. This is a fundamental part of our Civil Procedure. The provisions as to the form of plaint, and the presentation, rejection, and so on of pleadings are minor matters and they have been placed in the Rules. Clause 27 gives a general power to issue summonses to defendants, and clauses 28 and 29 provide for service of summons outside the province in which the Court of issue is situated. Clause 30 sums up the general powers of the Court in regard to discovery and the summoning of witnesses. These again are carried out in detail in the Rules. Clauses 31 and 32 are merely ancillary to 30. Clause 33 lays down that after a case has been heard there must be judgment and a decree on that judgment. This again is fundamental and no change should be allowed. Clause 34 deals with interest, a matter which can hardly be relegated to Rules. Clause 35 lays down the general power of Courts in regard to costs.

"We have, therefore, in these ten clauses a skeleton of a suit—institution, summons, discovery, judgment, decree, interest and costs,—and the whole of the rest of the provisions are in Schedule I. I do not think that I can, with advantage, refer to the changes of detail in this Schedule. But I do desire to call the attention of Council to the new rules which have been inserted in regard to pleadings and admission. The Special Committee attach much importance to accurate pleadings ; they think that a clear definition of the real points in dispute in a suit is a matter of substance, because it makes for economy both of time and of expense. They also attach importance to the existence of provisions for enabling facts and documents to be admitted, thus doing away with the necessity for formal proof. The Rules on this heading have therefore been remodelled and it is hoped that High Courts will see that they are followed by subordinate Courts. It may be that some of these provisions will be found too elaborate for some mofussil Courts ; but if that be so it will be within the power of High Courts to withdraw them either generally or in regard to particular areas. The forms of pleadings have been brought up to date but in regard to these forms and to the other forms in the Schedule it is fair to the Committee to observe that the time at their disposal has not permitted of their completing these forms ; some of them have been inserted in the Schedule in blank. They will be printed in full before the Bill is again before the Council. I need only add in regard to the procedure in suits that special provisions have been made in regard to suits by firms and that there is power given to the High Courts to provide for summary procedure in suits for liquidated demands, such as rent or other definite sums payable under contracts.

"I pass now, my Lord, to the subject of execution : a subject around which controversy on any amendment of Civil Procedure seems to rage most fiercely. The debate in this Council on the passing of the 1877 Code was mainly confined to this subject and a large portion of the volumes of comments on the Bill which has just been withdrawn from this Council are filled with observations and suggestions as to execution. There is such a variety of opinions on every point that I confess I have felt a difficulty in coming to any definite conclusion. But after hearing the matter discussed at length in the Committee I feel able to suggest that the true view is that, speaking generally, the machinery of execution is good enough but that the evils which undoubtedly exist arise from the mode in which that machinery is worked. This seems to be established by the fact that in the Presidency-towns there is little or no difficulty in regard to execution; the Courts are not often troubled with disputes about execution within those areas. One reason for the difference may be found in the fact that service within the limited areas of the Presidency-towns is easy to effect and easy to prove: service in the large and scattered areas of the mofussil is attended with difficulties in both these respects. Indeed, my Lord, the service of process generally in the mofussil is one of the great defects of our procedure. The Committee have made a recommendation in respect of it but it is obviously not a matter which can be cured by legislation: the remedy is with the Executive. It may be that in some districts service by post can be substituted, and power has been given for this purpose in the Bill but that can hardly be done in all districts in the mofussil. The view taken by the Committee in regard to execution is that no radical alterations are necessary; they have introduced a certain number of small changes, all tending to expedition and simplicity, but beyond that they have confined themselves to amendments of the existing provisions. The Select Committee of this Council introduced a system of execution by precepts issued to other Courts; but to that system great exception was taken and the fact that two members of the Select Committee, Mr. Justice Rampini and the Hon'ble Mr. Whitworth, dissented on this point, lent force to those objections. The Committee, my Lord, have advised the Government of India that it would not be safe or wise to accept this procedure. A power has been given in the Bill to issue precepts for the purpose of interim attachment only, pending execution of the decree, a proposal which has the authority of the Calcutta High Court, but beyond that they have not felt it safe to go.

"Two other points deserve mention. Hitherto, some confusion has been occasioned by the fact that the Transfer of Property Act and the Code of Civil Procedure both deal with execution in mortgage-suits. In the Bill it is proposed that these proceedings should be dealt with only in the Code. Provisions have been introduced in the Rules for this purpose and the sections of the Transfer of Property Act have been repealed in consequence.

"In the present Code there are a number of sections relating to the execution of decrees by Collectors, sections which were much discussed in the debates in the Council in 1877. These sections do not apply of their own force and they have been applied only in four Provinces and in three out of those four Provinces only in certain districts. It does not seem proper therefore to cumber the general provisions of the Code with these special powers; there have been retained in the Bill some 5 clauses authorising such a transfer; the detailed provisions have been set out in a separate Schedule. They have not been included in the General Schedule of Rules because it is thought that the Executive and not the High Courts should have the superintendence of the proceedings of Collectors.

"Turning again to the Bill, my Lord, the next subject to which I wish to call attention is that of arbitration. It will be within the knowledge of Council that at the present time there are two systems of arbitration in force in India: one under the Code of Civil Procedure and the other under the Indian Arbitration Act. The difference in substance between these two enactments is not great, the difference in form is considerable. The Committee think it is desirable that the whole subject should be dealt with in one enactment and they further think that arbitration is a separate subject which does not properly form part of the Code of Civil Procedure; for these reasons they have placed the provisions in regard to arbitration in a Schedule in order that their repeal can be more easily effected. In regard to the arbitration provisions the only amendment is that relating to appeals, an explanation of which will be found in the Report.

"Clause 91 of the Bill is new; it confers a power to bring actions in respect of public nuisances with the consent of the Advocate General, irrespective of the question whether the plaintiff has suffered special damage. At the present time it is necessary for anyone who institutes a suit in respect of the stoppage of a public way or injury, to other public rights, to prove that he has himself suffered damage beyond that which he has suffered as a member of the public, otherwise the suit will not lie. The form of action by the Attorney General on the relation of parties has not been adopted in India. It has been represented to us that some right of action should be given in these cases irrespective of the question of damage, and for that reason we have inserted this clause.

"There is a note in the Report on the clauses relating to Public Charities to which I desire to invite the attention of Council. There is a considerable feeling that some greater control should be exercised over charitable funds. In the case of temples particularly it is said that there are large funds which are at present spent on no useful object, they are more than are necessary for the upkeep of the temples or for the conduct of worship there, and the suggestion is commonly made that these funds might be put to some purpose of greater benefit to the community. The present Code gives powers to bring suits for the removal of trustees, for accounts, for schemes and so on, but it is urged that there are difficulties in the way of discovering the true position of such funds and that some power is required for that purpose. The Committee have felt, my Lord, that this is a matter which should be in the main determined by the communities interested and they have contented themselves with calling attention to the point.

"The next subject dealt with in the Bill is the important one of Appeals, and in regard to that I have little to say, because in fact the provisions remain much as they are in the present Code. No one can doubt that the multiplicity of appeals in India is an evil. On the other hand, there is a strong feeling among the public that it would be an injustice to deprive them of the right of obtaining the decision of the highest tribunals. I hope, my Lord, that the time will come, and I believe confidently that it is coming, when by the improvement of the lower Courts this feeling will subside. But for the present it is a factor which must be taken into account, and I think that it is wise to leave matters alone for the present.

"I have already explained the nature of the rule-making power which is dealt with in Part X of the Bill and in regard to Part XI (Miscellaneous), I would only call attention to clauses 145 and 148 to 150, which widen the discretion of Courts. They confer powers to enlarge time and to amend written proceeding, and they recognize the inherent powers of the Court to make such orders as may be necessary for the ends of justice or to prevent abuse of the process of the Court. In these ways greater elasticity will, it is hoped, be of benefit.

"These, my Lord, are the chief amendments. They will be found discussed in detail in the papers which will be circulated with this Bill; and they will, no doubt, receive that careful criticism from the profession and the public which is of such value to the Government of India. I would only remind our critics that two former Bills have already been circulated on this subject, and that every single provision of the Code of Civil Procedure has been subjected to comment on those occasions: I would, therefore, ask them to confine their criticisms, so far as may be, to the more important matters which are dealt with in the first part of the Report.

"It is impossible, my Lord, to frame any Bill on so contested a subject which would defy every criticism. The Code of Civil Procedure is the longest Act on our Statute Book and it can hardly be hoped that in framing an amending Act of that length there should be no errors or no omissions. But the Government of India believe that this Bill is framed on the right principles; they believe that it is a considerable step in advance, and that it should effect a real improvement in the procedure of our Civil Courts.

"My Lord, I will not formally make this motion until I have expressed the sincere thanks of the Government of India to those gentlemen who were associated with me on the Special Committee, for the invaluable help they have given in the revision of this Bill. They have brought to the consideration of it great learning and wide experience, and they have devoted their time and their abilities without stint to the public service. If there be good in the Bill it is due, my Lord, mainly to them."

The Hon'ble DR. RASIBEHARY GHOSE said:—"My Lord, the learned Law Member has so fully explained the leading provisions of the Bill that I need not detain the Council more than a few minutes. As the Special Committee observe in their report, experience has shown that the present Code of Civil Procedure calls for amendment for the most part in matters of detail which cannot be stereotyped in a code without serious risk of paralysing the action of the Court in the administration of justice. In England, there is no Code of Civil Procedure properly so called but the provisions in the Judicature Acts supplemented by the rules of the Supreme Court, which may be varied without the intervention of the legislature, very efficiently supply its place. Principles are thus isolated from details which are regulated by statutory rules made by competent authority; and this is the tendency of all modern legislation which incorporates in an Act only broad general rules, leaving the details to be worked out on these rules. For devolution is now in the air and is about us everywhere; the Council Chamber, where we are assembled, not excepted. In the Bill now before us, this principle has been followed; and I have every reason to think that this new departure which marks an important advance in codification and avoids the fatal mistake of crystallising what ought to be fluent will be welcomed by every lawyer except possibly some inglorious Eldon to whom all reform is hateful. I do not, however, deny that there may be room for argument whether a particular provision should be contained in the body of the Code or relegated to rules, for it is not always easy to draw the line correctly.

"I should add that the Select Committee carefully avoided any departure from the Code of 1882 except where experience has suggested improvements or a change has been called for by competent authority. A brief account of these alterations will be found in the notes in the second part of their report, while the more important alterations are discussed in the first part. It is unnecessary to go through them in detail and I will content myself with saying that, though no drastic alterations have been made in the existing Code, many obscurities would now be removed, doubts resolved, and some inconsistencies harmonised,—inconsistencies, if not in the Code, at least, in the case-law, in which the true meaning of some of its provisions has been obscured rather than elucidated. I may also be permitted to add that the subject of the execution of decrees received the special attention of the Committee and though they did not see their way to any very drastic changes in the present system, I trust that the new provisions relating to execution would enable any diligent creditor to reap the fruits of his judgment without unnecessary delay. He would, for example, be entitled to apply for immediate execution in every case where the decree is for the payment of money; while the judgment-debtor's house would no longer be a castle from which he can hurl defiance at his creditor. The Bill also makes provision for an interim attachment of the debtor's property outside the jurisdiction of the Court and affords facilities for the levy of execution on salaries as well as on partnership property, which are not now enjoyed by an execution-creditor. Again, the judgment-debtor may not, where a decree for an injunction has been obtained against him, defeat or delay execution by wilful disobedience. The right to proceed summarily against ancestral property in the hands of the legal representative of a deceased debtor has also been now placed on a secure footing. Other changes have been made in the law relating to execution, but I do not wish to occupy the Council with them and would only draw attention to Order XXXIV, which deals with suits relating to mortgages. The incorporation of this Order in the Code will, I am sure, be welcomed by every one who is familiar with the almost endless controversies which have gathered round the applicability of the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure to the enforcement of decrees for sale under the Transfer of Property Act.

"One word more. It has been said of the English law that it is a 'codeless myriad of precedents'—a 'wilderness of single instances'; but Indian experience shows that even a code may soon be buried in an intractable tropical jungle of case-law unless the axe is vigorously applied by the legislature from time to time."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said :—"I am sure that my Hon'ble Colleagues will agree with me that we all owe our thanks to the Hon'ble Mr. Erle Richards, and to the Committee over which he has so ably presided, for the time and trouble which they have devoted to their work and for the Report which they have placed before us. I also feel sure that my Hon'ble Colleagues are very grateful to the Hon'ble Mr. Erle Richards for the able manner in which he has explained the Bill to the Council."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. RICHARDS introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. RICHARDS moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 27th September, 1907.

RESULT OF THE MEASURES ADOPTED FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF WILD ANIMALS AND VENOMOUS SNAKES DURING THE YEAR 1906.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

(PUBLIC.)

NOS. 2372—2384.

RESOLUTION.

The total number of persons reported to have been killed by wild animals in 1906 was 2,084 as against 2,051 in 1905. There was an increase of mortality principally in the United Provinces where wolves are reported to have killed 178 persons as against 76 in 1905. Of this number of deaths the Allahabad division accounts for 122. The reason for this increase has not been ascertained. It is stated, however, that efforts to exterminate these animals have not been relaxed in any part of the province. In the Madras Presidency the number of deaths rose from 299 to 320, of which 82 were in the Ganjam district and 49 in the Cuddapah district as compared with 59 and 2 respectively in 1905. Tigers are stated to have been responsible for the greater mortality in the former district, but no explanation has been given for the large increase of 45 in the number of deaths caused by "other animals" in Cuddapah. In Bombay, where the total number of deaths caused by wild animals increased from 30 to 58, 20 persons were killed by wolves, 16 of the deaths being caused by a mad wolf in the Karmala taluka of the Sholapur district. In Bengal the number of persons killed by elephants rose from 9 in 1905 to 18 in 1906. Seven of these deaths occurred in the Darjeeling district and four in Cuttack. The Government of Bengal has approved a form of license and agreement for the capture of wild elephants in the former district; and a proposal is stated to have been made by the Magistrate of Cuttack for the organisation of a khedda in Dhenkanal, Keonjhar and Sukinda. Tigers killed a larger number of persons than in 1905 in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies, in the United Provinces, and in Burma. The Government of Bombay offered rewards of Rs. 100 and Rs. 200 for the destruction of two man-eating panthers which committed depredations in the Nasik and Kanara districts respectively. In the Kumaun division of the United Provinces 20 deaths are attributed to tigers against 4 in 1905. Special rewards were offered for the destruction of an animal known to be a man-eater, and since the close of the year one man-eating tiger has been killed. The reports submitted by the Governments of Madras and Burma do not show what steps, if any, were taken for the destruction of the tigers responsible for the increased number of deaths in those provinces. The mortality caused by these animals decreased from 390 to 295 in Bengal, and from 105 to 65 in the Central Provinces and Berar. Three man-eaters were destroyed in Sambalpur and Angul in Bengal, and one in the Mandla district of the Central Provinces.

2. In 1906, 22,854 persons are reported to have died from snake-bite as against 21,797 in 1905. There was a large increase of mortality ascribed to high floods which drove snakes to take shelter in houses and homestead lands in the districts of Muzaffarpur, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Saran and Furi in Bengal, and in the Dacca and Rajshahi divisions of Eastern Bengal and Assam. No special cause has been assigned for the increase by 362 in the number of deaths from snake-bite in the Rohilkhand, Allahabad and Benares divisions of the United Provinces. In Burma, the majority of deaths from snake-bite are caused in paddy-fields by the Russell's viper and the gradual opening up of new land to cultivation is considered by the local Government to be the main reason for the increased mortality. The treatment of snake-bite with Brunton's lancets and permanganate of potash was introduced in the Bombay Presidency and in the Central Provinces and Berar in 1905, and experiments have since been made in the United Provinces, the Punjab and Burma. The information supplied regarding these experiments is not sufficient to enable an opinion to be formed as to the success of the treatment, and in the majority of cases reported it was not ascertained whether the snakes which caused the bites were venomous or not.

3. The total number of cattle destroyed by wild animals during the year was 86,467 as against 92,709 in 1905. As usual, leopards and tigers were much more destructive than other animals and killed 41,768 and 28,714 cattle respectively. There was a large increase in the destruction caused by tigers in the United Provinces, Burma and Coorg; by leopards in Madras, Burma and Eastern Bengal and Assam; by wolves in Bombay, Bengal and the Punjab, and by hyenas in Madras, Bombay, North-West Frontier Province and Eastern Bengal and Assam. The number of cattle killed by snakes rose from 8,099 in 1905 to 8,187 in 1906. The statistics cannot, however, be regarded as accurate.

4. The number of wild animals reported to have been killed during the year 1906 was 15,856 against 16,834 in 1905. Fewer leopards and bears were destroyed, but wolves were killed in much larger numbers, especially in the United Provinces. The rewards paid for the destruction of wild animals amounted to Rs. 1,21,529 as against Rs. 1,27,665 in 1905. The total number of snakes killed fell from 64,117 in 1905 to 60,547 in 1906, and the amount of rewards paid for their destruction from Rs. 2,676 to Rs. 2,639.

5. The number of licenses (in Form XI) issued free of cost under the Indian Arms Act, 1878, for the destruction of wild animals or the protection of crops during the year was 11,304 against 8,901 in 1905; and the total number of licenses of this nature in force, including such as were valid from previous years, amounted to 41,653 as compared with 37,833.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to local Governments and Administrations* and that it be published in the supplement to the Gazette of India for general information; also that a copy be forwarded to the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 5th September 1907, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The western end of the trough of low pressure remained close against the hills throughout the week and the Arabian Sea monsoon was extremely feeble as a rainbearing current; weather was accordingly almost dry, except in northeast India, Burma and the south of the Peninsula: in the lastnamed, area light rain fell locally on several days. The Bay current was fairly active in Burma and northeast India during the week and was assisted in the latter area by two depressions; the first formed over Calcutta on the first, and disappeared without moving far, after giving heavy rain in Chota Nagpur and Bihar; the second was forming over the north of the Bay at the close of the period, and had caused light to moderate rainfall in Orissa on the 5th.

Burma.—Rain fell in all parts of the province and was of daily occurrence at most stations on the coast, but was unusually scanty in the dry area in the central districts. Skies were moderately to heavily overcast and temperature was normal except for a slight defect in Tenasserim on the 4th.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell over the greater part of the division on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd September, and locally on the remaining days of the week. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded and temperature was normal except from the 2nd to the 5th September when weather was cooler than usual in Chota Nagpur and the adjacent districts.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—With the exception of general rain in the extreme east of the United Provinces on the 30th August and a few falls in the east submontane districts towards the close of the week weather was practically dry throughout the division. Skies were clear or only lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was low in the area of rainfall on the 30th August but was normal everywhere during the rest of the week.

Northwest India.—Only a few scattered falls of rain occurred. Skies were moderately clouded in parts of Rajputana and Gujarat and were clear or only lightly clouded elsewhere. Temperature was normal except for a slight excess at some stations in the Frontier Province and the Punjab during the last four days of the week.

The Peninsula.—Weather was almost dry except in the southern half of the Peninsula, and there the rainfall was light and more or less local in character. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was slightly high in the central Madras coast districts and normal elsewhere.

The week's rainfall was below the average over the whole country to the west of Bihar and Chota Nagpur with the exception of the southeastern districts of the Peninsula. The rainfall of the whole monsoon period up to the 5th September is 20 per cent. or more in excess in the subdivisions of Rajkot and Bijapur, and is 20 per cent. or more in defect in the Indo-Gangetic Plain (West), the Himalayas and Sub-Himalayas (West) the east coast (South) and the subdivisions of Darbhanga, Bahraich, Jubbulpore, Jhansi, Jaipur, Bellary, Mysore and Madura, only about half the usual amount of rain having fallen in the subdivisions of Bahraich, Lahore and Bellary. In the remainder of the country rainfall differs from the normal by less than 20 per cent. and is therefore approximately normal.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 31st August 1907.

Burma.—Transplanting is nearly completed in Lower Burma. Floods have occurred in the Mudon, Kyaikmaraw and Kawkarcik townships of the Amherst district; it is as yet uncertain whether it will be possible to replant the flooded area; if the floods subside quickly and seedlings are available the damage will not be serious. In all other Lower Burma districts prospects are good. In Upper Burma, Thayetmyo and Mandalay received over 2 inches of rain; Meiktila and Yamethin received half an inch; and Sagaing and Minbu one-third of an inch only. Minute amounts fell in Magwe, Shwabo, Lower Chindwin and Myingyan, while Pakokku received none at all. In Thayetmyo prospects are still reported as unsatisfactory. In Mandalay outside the canal tract prospects are poor and owing to the small rise of the river the outlook in the inundated area is unfavourable. Transplanting is retarded in the Indaw township of Katha for want of rain. Crops are still withering in parts of the Kanbalu, Yeu and Shwabo sub-divisions of Shwabo. More rain is required for unirrigated paddy in Sagaing; other crops in Sagaing are fairly good. Prospects in the Monywa township of Lower Chindwin have improved by the recent rain. An average outturn is now expected in Kyaukse. More rain is required for wet-weather paddy in Meiktila. Prospects in Myingyan are bad; in other districts prospects are good to fair. The price of paddy has risen slightly in Rangoon and Henzada and has fallen considerably in Katha; elsewhere it is stationary.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is hot and cloudy. Slight to moderate rain fell in all districts. More rain is wanted throughout Eastern Bengal and in Lower Assam. Plucking and manufacture of tea are in progress and prospects generally are fair to good. Mosquito blight is less severe in Cachar. Ploughing for and transplantation of winter rice and harvesting of early rice and jute are in progress. Prospects of other standing crops are generally good, but transplanting of winter rice is being impeded by want of rain and by lowness of rivers. Insects also are damaging crops in Dacca and Sibsagar. Gathering of potatoes in the Khasi Hills is nearly finished and the outturn is good. Prices of common rice are:—Manipur 16; Kohima 10; Rangamati 9½; Chittagong 9; Comilla 8½; Noakhali and Silchar 8½; Bogra and Pabna 8½; Dacca, Mymensingh, Faridpur, Barisal, Rampur Boalia, Malda, Sylhet, Dhubri, Gauhati and Dibrugarh 8; Dinajpur 7½; Jalpaiguri, Tezpur, Nowgong and Sibsagar 7; Shillong 6½; Rangpur 6; and Ajjal 5 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in seven; have fallen in four; and have remained stationary in the remaining districts.

Bengal.—There was general rain almost all over the Province during the week; the fall was light in Birbhum, Hooghly, Nadia and Saran; and heavy in Bankura, Midnapore, Gaya, Shahabad, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Cuttack, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh, Manbhum and Cooch Behar; in other districts it was moderate. The recent rain has been very beneficial to the standing crops in Bihar. Rain is still wanted in several districts for the transplantation of winter paddy which is reported to have suffered in parts of Burdwan and Murshidabad. The cutting and steeping of jute still continue. The harvesting of other autumn crops has commenced in some districts. Damage has been caused by floods and excessive rain in Midnapore, the 24 Parganas, Shahabad, Monghyr, Cuttack, Ranchi and Palamau. High floods are also reported from Balasore and Puri, but the extent of damage done in the two districts is not yet known. Sugarcane is doing well. Relief operations in Darbhanga have been closed from the 31st August. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in five and has fallen in eleven districts.

United Provinces.—Rain has fallen in almost all districts, but more rain is required especially in Saharanpur, parts of Bijnor, Muzaffarnagar, Meerut, Bulandshahr, Hardoi, Bahraich, Gonda and Unao. Sowings are nearly completed. Weeding is going on and irrigation is in progress where practicable. Transplantation of late rice continues except in parts of Bahraich, Ballia and Gonda. Fields for spring crops are being prepared. Slight damage has been done by locusts in Dehra Dun and by insects in Ballia. Fodder is scarce and dear in Farrukhabad, Hardoi, Kheri and Unao. Markets are well stocked and prices are stationary.

Punjab.—Light to moderate rain has fallen in all districts, except Rohtak, Delhi, Sialkot, Lyallpur and Multan; and good rainfall is reported from parts of Ambala. Prices of food-grains are generally rising in some districts. Sowings of autumn crops and ploughings for the next spring crops continue. Weeding is in progress in Gurgaon, Jullundur and Sialkot. Carrots are being sown in Gurgaon and toria in Amritsar. The condition of the standing crops is generally good to average. The crops are withering on account of high westerly winds and cessation of rains in Gurgaon and Delhi; strong westerly winds are also blowing in Rohtak. More rain is badly wanted in some districts.

Rats are damaging the standing crops in Ambala, Lahore and Sialkot. Locusts appeared in parts of Rohtak, but did no damage to crops. The standing crops are being damaged by insects in parts of Shahpur. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain fell at the Kulachi and Swabi tehsils of the Dera Ismail Khan and Peshawar districts. Autumn sowings are finished in Dera Ismail Khan and prospects are good; but more rain is now wanted everywhere. Land is being prepared for spring sowings. Irrigation from the Kabul river canal in the Peshawar district has been restored. Extensive irrigation from hill torrents in Dera Ismail Khan and irrigation from the Paharpur canal are in progress. The water-supply and fodder are sufficient. Prices of food-grains except of gram are rising slightly. Prices—wheat 14½ to 19½; maize 20½ to 32½; gram 16½ to 23; and bajra 18½ to 22 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was slight rain during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Prices—wheat 10 to 20 and maize 15 to 33 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is fair. Fodder is sufficient. Land is being prepared for autumn cultivation.

Kashmir.—The weather is bright. Crops are in good condition. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—The rainfall was average during the week; the chief falls were.—2 inches 32 cents in Bikaner; 2 inches 42 cents in Tonk; and 1 inch 11 cents in Marwar; good rain fell in Kotah, Jhalawar and Sirohi and light rain elsewhere. Agricultural operations are in progress. Crops in Marwar, Partabgarh, and in places in Mewar and Jhalawar have been damaged by heavy rain. A break in the rains in Jaipur, Kishangarh and Ajmer has improved the general condition of crops. Cattle are generally in good condition except in parts of Mewar. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are falling in Dungarpur, Bundi, Karauli and Dholpur; are rising in Partabgarh; and are practically steady elsewhere.

Central India.—There was general rain during the week. Sowing and weeding are in progress. Agricultural stock is in good condition in Gwalior, Bundelkhand and Malwa. Pasturage is fair in Baghelkhand and good elsewhere. Prices are high in Bhopal and Baghelkhand and are steady elsewhere. Crops have been slightly damaged by rats and insects in parts of Gwalior and Malwa and by heavy rain in Indore and Bhopal.

Central Provinces.—The weather is warm and occasionally cloudy. Light rain fell in all districts during the week except in Seoni, Akola, Bultana and Yeotmal; the rainfall in Saugor, Narsinghpur and the districts of Chhattisgarh ranged from 2½ inches to 1 inch; elsewhere the amount received was under ½ inch. The cessation of the heavy rain was very opportune and the sunshine has greatly improved the condition of the crops in several districts where damage from excessive moisture was apprehended. Sowings are practically completed. Cotton has been injured by floods in parts of Wardha and Chanda and has been ploughed up and replaced by juar or til. Weeding is in rapid progress everywhere and transplanting and thinning of rice are nearly completed. Preparation of land for spring sowings continues in Berar, Saugor, Jubbulpore, Mandla and Bilaspur. Juar and til in Saugor and til in Narsinghpur have been slightly damaged by continuous rain. Fodder and water are sufficient. The condition of the standing crops is good and prospects are generally favourable. Prices—wheat remained stationary in seventeen districts and gram, rice and juar in eighteen districts; rice became cheaper by 2 seers in Nimar.

Native States.—Jashpur received 11½ inches of rain; Sirguja 6½; Sarangarh 5½; Raigarh 4½; Udaipur 3½; Kanker 3½; Bastar 2½; Raj-Nandgaon 1½; Kawardha and Chhuikhadan each 1 inch; and Khairagarh 77 cents. More rain is required in Kawardha and Udaipur. Sowing of autumn crops is not quite completed and weeding, thinning and transplantation of rice and preparation of land for spring sowings are in rapid progress everywhere. The standing crops generally are in good condition. Fodder and water are adequate. Gram became dearer by 2 seers in Chhuikhadan and Sirguja.

Bombay.—Good rain fell during the week in parts of the Konkan, Nasik, Belgaum, Kathiawar, Palanpur and Mahi Kantha; and slight rain elsewhere. More rain is needed in parts of Sholapur and the Karnatak. Inundation in Sind is still low. Autumn sowing continues in parts of Sind, Gujarat, West Khandesh, Satara, the Karnatak, Baroda, Palanpur and Cutch. Transplantation is progressing in parts of Sind, Gujarat, the Konkan, Nasik, and Palanpur. Seedlings have been damaged by recent excessive rain in parts of Poona, Satara, Baroda, Palanpur, and Cutch; by rats in parts of Karachi and Hyderabad; and by locusts in parts of Thar and Parkar. The fodder-supply is generally adequate. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Drinking water is sufficient. The supply of water for irrigation is sufficient except in parts of Nasik and Bijapur. The quantity of food-grains purchasable per rupee is in the Karnatak 22 to 33 per cent; in the Deccan 2 to 25 per cent; in Sind 13 to 25 per cent; and in the Konkan 12 to 33 per cent less than the normal; and in Gujarat normal to 36 per cent less than the normal. During the week ending the 24th August 27 persons were relieved gratuitously in Belgaum.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall during the week was 1 inch and 5 cents. Prospects continue favourable. More rain is required in parts of Raichur and Mahbubnagar. The autumn and early rice crops are fair to good and are being weeded. Spring sowings have commenced in parts. Prices:—wheat 7½; coarse rice 7½; and juar 16 seers per rupee.

Mysore.—There was generally slight rain during the week. Prices of food-grains are fluctuating. The standing crops are in good condition but more rain is generally needed. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—The rainfall during the week was 6 inches and 9 cents. Transplanting of rice is nearly completed. Prices of food-grains are normal. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in South Canara; heavy in the Vizagapatam Agency and Malabar; good in the Nilgiris, Ganjam, Vizagapatam littoral, Madras, South Arcot, Chingleput and North Arcot; nil in Tinnevely; and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are insufficient in parts of all districts, except Cuddapah, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, Malabar, South Canara and the Nilgiris. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress generally. The standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Kistna, Guntur and the Central and South Deccan require more rain; and some in parts of Godavari and Malabar have been damaged by floods or heavy rain. Harvests are proceeding except in Kistna, Guntur, Tanjore and South Kanara with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of Godavari, Bellary, Cuddapah, Nellore, Madura and Tinnevely. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in ten districts; has fallen in four; and has slightly risen in nine. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in seven districts; has fallen in eight; and has slightly risen in six. Cholam is stationary in four districts; has fallen in three; and has slightly risen in seven. Cumbu is stationary in four districts; has fallen in five; and has slightly risen in six.

All persons may be joined in one suit as plaintiffs in whom any right to relief in respect of or arising out of the same transaction or series of transactions is alleged to exist, whether jointly, severally or in the alternative, where, if such persons brought separate suits, any common question of law or fact would arise.

[New.]

2. Where it appears to the Court that any joinder of plaintiffs may embarrass or delay the trial of the suit, the Court may put the plaintiffs to their election or order separate trials or make such other order as may be expedient.

S. 28; cf. O.

3. All persons may be joined as defendants against whom the right to any relief is alleged to exist, whether jointly, severally or in the alternative.

Ss. 26, 28; cf.
O. 16, rr. 1
and 4.]

4. Judgment may be given without any amendment—

(a) for such one or more of the plaintiffs as may be found to be entitled to relief, for such relief as he or they may be entitled to;

(b) against such one or more of the defendants as may be found to be liable, according to their respective liabilities.

[O. 16, r. 5.]

5. It shall not be necessary that every defendant shall be interested as to all the relief claimed or as to every cause of action included in any suit against him.

[S. 29; cf. O.
16, r. 6.]

6. The plaintiff may, at his option, join as parties to the same suit all or any of the persons severally, or jointly and severally, liable on any one contract, including parties to bills of exchange, hundis and promissory notes.

[O. 16, r. 7.]

7. Where the plaintiff is in doubt as to the person from whom he is entitled to obtain redress, he may join two or more defendants in order that the question as to which of the defendants is liable, and to what extent, may be determined as between all parties.

[Ss. 30, 32; cf.
O. 16, r. 9.]

8. (1) Where there are numerous persons having the same interest in one suit, one or more of such persons may, with the permission of the Court, sue or be sued, or may defend, in such suit, on behalf of all persons so interested. But the Court shall in such case give, at the plaintiff's expense, notice of the institution of the suit to all such persons either by personal service or, where from the number of persons or any other cause such service is not reasonably practicable, by public advertisement, as the Court in each case may direct.

(2) Any person on whose behalf a suit is instituted or defended under sub-rule (1) may apply to the Court to be made a party to such suit.

10. (1) Where a suit has been instituted in the name of the wrong person as plaintiff or where it is doubtful whether it has been instituted in the name of the right plaintiff, the Court may at any stage of the suit, if satisfied that the suit has been instituted through a bond fide mistake, and that it is necessary for the determination of the real matter in dispute so to do, order any other person to be substituted or added as plaintiff upon such terms as the Court thinks just.

(2) The Court may at any stage of the proceedings, either upon or without the application of either party, and on such terms as may appear to the Court to be just, order that the name of any party improperly joined, whether as plaintiff or defendant, be struck out, and that the name of any person who ought to have been joined, whether as plaintiff or defendant, or whose presence before the Court may be necessary in order to enable the Court effectually and completely to adjudicate upon and settle all the questions involved in the suit, be added.

(3) No person shall be added as a plaintiff suing without a next friend or as the next friend of a plaintiff under any disability without his consent.

(4) Where a defendant is added, the plaintiff shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, be amended in such manner as may be necessary, and amended copies of the summons and of the plaint shall be served on the new defendant and, if the Court thinks fit, on the original defendant.

(5) Subject to the provisions of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, section 22, the proceedings as against any person added as defendant shall be deemed to have begun only on the service of a summons.

(2) The authority shall be in writing signed by the party giving it and shall be filed in Court.

1. Every suit shall as far as practicable be framed as to afford ground for final decision upon the subjects in dispute and to prevent further litigation concerning them.

2. (1) Every suit shall include the whole of the claim which the plaintiff is entitled to make in respect of the cause of action; but a plaintiff may relinquish any portion of his claim in order to bring the suit within the jurisdiction of any Court.

(2) Where a plaintiff omits to sue in respect of, or intentionally relinquishes, any portion of his claim, he shall not afterwards sue in respect of that portion so omitted or relinquished.

(3) A person entitled to more than one relief in respect of the same cause of action may sue for all or any of such reliefs; but if he omits to sue for one or more of such reliefs, he shall not afterwards sue for any relief so omitted.

para. 6. Where the suit is instituted after the expiration of the period ordinarily prescribed by the law of limitation, the plaintiff shall show the ground upon which exemption from such law is claimed.

para. 7. Every plaintiff shall state specifically the relief which the plaintiff claims either simply or in the alternative, and it shall not be necessary to ask for general or other relief which may always be given as the Court may think fit just to the same extent as if it had been asked for. And the same rule shall apply to any relief claimed by the defendant in his written statement.

para. 8. Where the plaintiff seeks relief in respect of several distinct claims or causes of action founded upon separate grounds, they shall be stated as far as may be separately and distinctly. And the same rule shall apply where the defendant relies upon several distinct grounds of defence or set-off founded upon separate and distinct facts.

58.] 9. (1) The plaintiff shall endorse on the plaint, or annex thereto, a list of the documents (if any) which he has produced along with it ; and, if the plaint is admitted, shall present as many copies on plain paper of the plaint as there are defendants, unless the Court by reason of the length of the plaint or the number of the defendants, or for any other sufficient reason, permits him to present a like number of concise statements of the nature of the claim made, or of the relief claimed in the suit, in which case he shall present such statements.

(2) Where the plaintiff sues, or the defendant or any of the defendants is sued, in a representative capacity, such statements shall show in what capacity the plaintiff or defendant sues or is sued.

(3) The plaintiff may, by leave of the Court, amend such statements so as to make them correspond with the plaint.

(4) The chief ministerial officer of the Court shall sign such memorandum and copies or statements if, on examination, he finds them to be correct.

10. (1) The plaint shall at any stage of the suit be returned to be presented to the Court in which the suit should have been instituted. [S. 57.]

(2) On returning a plaint the Judge shall endorse thereon the date of its presentation and return, the name of the party presenting it, and a brief statement of the reasons for returning it.

11. The plaint shall be rejected in the following cases :— [Ss. 53, 54.]

(a) where it does not disclose a cause of action ;

(b) where the relief claimed is undervalued, and the plaintiff, on being required by the Court to correct the valuation within a time to be fixed by the Court, fails to do so ;

(c) where the relief claimed is properly valued, but the plaint is written upon paper insufficiently stamped, and the plaintiff, on being required by the Court to supply the requisite stamp-paper within a time to be fixed by the Court, fails to do so ;

(d) where the suit appears from the statement in the plaint to be barred by any law.

12. Where a plaint is rejected the Judge shall record an order to that effect with the reasons for such order. [S. 55.]

13. The rejection of the plaint on any of the grounds hereinbefore mentioned shall not of its own force preclude the plaintiff from presenting a fresh plaint in respect of the same cause of action. [S. 56.]

Documents relied on in plaint.

14. (1) Where a plaintiff sues upon a document in his possession or power, he shall produce it in Court when the plaint is presented, and shall at the same time deliver the document or a copy thereof to be filed with the plaint. [S. 59.]

(2) Where he relies on any other documents (whether in his possession or power or not) as evidence in support of his claim, he shall enter such documents in a list to be added or annexed to the plaint

15. Where any such document is not in the possession or power of the plaintiff, he shall, if possible, state in whose possession or power it is. [S. 60.]

16. Where the suit is founded upon a negotiable instrument, and it is proved that the instrument is lost, and an indemnity is given by the plaintiff, to the satisfaction of the Court, against the claims of any other person upon such instrument, the Court may pass such decree as it would have passed if the plaintiff had produced the instrument in Court when the plaint was presented, and had at the same time delivered a copy of the instrument to be filed with the plaint. XVIII of 1891.

17. (1) Save in so far as is otherwise provided by the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1891, where the document on which the plaintiff sues is an entry in a shop-book or other book in his possession or power, the plaintiff shall produce the book at the time of filing the plaint, together with a copy of the entry on which he relies.

(2) The Court, or such officer as it appoints in this behalf, shall forthwith mark the original entry to be produced for the purpose of identification; and, after examining and comparing the copy with the original, shall, if it is found correct, certify it to be so and return the book to the plaintiff and cause the copy to be filed.

18. (1) A document which ought to be produced in Court by the plaintiff when the plaint is presented, or to be entered in the list to be added or annexed to the plaint, and which is not produced or entered accordingly, shall not, without the leave of the Court, be received in evidence on his behalf at the hearing of the suit.

(2) Nothing in this rule applies to documents produced for cross-examination of the defendant's witnesses, or in answer to any case set up by the defendant or handed to a witness merely to refresh his memory.

ORDER VIII.

Written Statement and Set-off.

[S. 110.]

1. The defendant may, or, if so required, by the Court, shall at or before the first hearing or within such time as the Court may permit, present a written statement of his defence.

[O. 19, r. 15.]

2. The defendant must raise by his pleading all matters which show the suit not to be maintainable, or that the transaction is either void or voidable in point of law, and all such grounds of defence, as if not raised would be likely to take the opposite party by surprise, or would raise issues of fact not arising out of the plaint, as, for instance, fraud, limitation, release, payment, performance, or facts showing illegality.

[O. 19, r. 17.]

3. It shall not be sufficient for a defendant in his written statement to deny generally the grounds alleged by the plaintiff, but the defendant must deal specifically with each allegation of fact of which he does not admit the truth, except damages.

[O. 19, r. 19.]

4. Where a defendant denies an allegation of fact in the plaint, he must not do so evasively, but answer the point of substance. Thus, if it is alleged that he received a certain sum of money, it shall not be sufficient to deny that he received that particular amount, but he must deny that he received that sum or any part thereof, or else set out how much he received. And if an allegation is made with divers circumstances, it shall not be sufficient to deny it along with those circumstances.

[O. 19, r. 13.]

5. Every allegation of fact in the plaint, if not denied specifically or by necessary implication, or stated to be not admitted in the pleading of the defendant, shall be taken to be admitted, except as against a person under disability:

[1 of 1872, s. 58.]

Provided that the Court may in its discretion require any facts so admitted to be proved otherwise than by such admission.

6. (1) Where in a suit for the recovery of money the defendant claims to set-off against the plaintiff's demand any ascertained sum of money legally recoverable by him from the plaintiff, not exceeding the pecuniary limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, and both parties fill the same character as they fill in the plaintiff's suit, the defendant may, at the first hearing of the suit, but not afterwards unless permitted by the Court, present a written statement containing the particulars of the debt sought to be set off.

(2) The written statement shall have the same effect as a plaint in a cross-suit so as to enable the Court to pronounce a final judgment in respect both of the original claim and of the set-off: but this shall not affect the lien, upon the amount decreed, of any pleader in respect of the costs payable to him under the decree.

(3) The rules relating to a written statement by a defendant apply to a written statement in answer to a claim of set-off.

Illustrations.

(a) A bequeaths Rs. 2,000 to B and appoints C his executor and residuary legatee. B dies and D takes out administration to B's effects. C pays Rs. 1,000 as surety for D; then D sues C for the legacy. C cannot set-off the debt of Rs. 1,000 against the legacy, for neither C nor D fills the same character with respect to the legacy as they fill with respect to the payment of the Rs. 1,000.

(b) A dies intestate and in debt to B. C takes out administration to A's effects and B buys part of the effects from C. In a suit for the purchase-money by C against B, the latter cannot set-off the debt against the price, for C fills two different characters, one as the vendor to B, in which he sues B, and the other as representative to A.

(c) A sues B on a bill of exchange. B alleges that A has wrongfully neglected to insure B's goods and is liable to him in recompensation which he claims to set off. The amount not being ascertained can not be set off.

(d) A sues B on a bill of exchange for Rs. 500. B holds a judgment against A for Rs. 1,000. The two claims being both definite pecuniary demands may be set off.

(e) A sues B for compensation on account of trespass. B holds a promissory note for Rs. 1,000 from A and claims to set off that amount against any sum that A may recover in the suit. B may do so, for, as soon as A recovers, both sums are definite pecuniary demands.

(f) A and B sue C for Rs. 1,000. C cannot set off a debt due to him by A alone.

(g) A sues B and C for Rs. 1,000. B cannot set off a debt due to him alone by A.

(h) A owes the partnership firm of B and C Rs. 1,000. B dies, leaving C surviving. A sues C for a debt of Rs. 1,500 due in his separate character. C may set off the debt of Rs. 1,000.

7. No pleading subsequent to the written statement of a defendant other than by way of defence to a set-off shall be presented except by the leave of the Court and upon such terms as the Court thinks fit, but the Court may at any time require a written statement or additional written statement from any of the parties and fix a time for presenting the same.

8. Any ground of defence which has arisen after the institution of the suit or the presentation of a written statement claiming a set-off may be raised by the defendant or plaintiff, as the case may be, in his written statement.

9. Where any party from whom a written statement is so required fails to present the same within the time fixed by the Court, the Court may pronounce judgment against him, or make such order in relation to the suit as it thinks fit.

(The First Schedule.)
(Order IX.)

ORDER IX.

Appearance of Parties and Consequence of Non-appearance.

1. On the day fixed in the summons for the defendant to appear and answer, the parties shall be in attendance at the Court-house in person or by their respective pleaders, and the suit shall then be heard unless the hearing is adjourned to a future day fixed by the Court.

2. If on the day so fixed it is found that the summons has not been served upon the defendant in consequence of the failure of the plaintiff to pay the court-fee or postal charges (if any) chargeable or payable for such service, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed:

Provided that no such order shall be made although the summons has not been served upon the defendant, if on the day fixed for him to appear and answer he attends in person or by agent when he is allowed to appear by agent.

3. Where neither party appears when the suit is called on for hearing, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed.

4. Where a suit is dismissed under rule 2 or rule 3, the plaintiff may (subject to the law of limitation) bring a fresh suit; or if, within the period of thirty days from the date of the order dismissing the suit, he satisfies the Court that there was sufficient excuse for his not paying the court-fee and postal charges (if any) chargeable or payable within the time fixed by the Court before the issue of the summons, or for his non-appearance, as the case may be, the Court shall make an order setting aside the dismissal and appointing a day for proceeding with the suit.

5. (1) Where, after a summons has been issued to the defendant, or to one of several defendants, and returned unserved, the plaintiff fails for a period of one year from the date of the return made to the Court by the officer ordinarily certifying to the Court returns made by the serving officers, to apply for the issue of a fresh summons and to satisfy the Court that he has used his best endeavours to discover the residence of the defendant who has not been served, or that such defendant is avoiding service of process, the Court may make an order that the suit be dismissed as against such defendant.

(2) In such case the plaintiff may (subject to the law of limitation) bring a fresh suit.

6. (1) Where the plaintiff appears and the defendant does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing, then—

(a) if it is proved that the summons was duly served, the Court may proceed ex parte;

(b) if it is not proved that the summons was duly served, the Court shall direct a second summons to be issued and served on the defendant;

(c) if it is proved that the summons was served on the defendant, but not in sufficient time to enable him to appear and answer on the day fixed in the summons, the Court shall postpone the hearing of the suit to a future day to be fixed by the Court, and shall direct notice of such day to be given to the defendant.

(2) Where it is owing to the plaintiff's default that the summons was not duly served or was not served in sufficient time, the Court shall order the plaintiff to pay the costs occasioned by the postponement.

7. Where the Court has adjourned the hearing of the suit ex parte, and the defendant, at or before such hearing, appears and assigns good cause for his previous non-appearance, he may, upon such terms as the Court directs as to costs or otherwise, be heard in answer to the suit as if he had appeared on the day fixed for his appearance.

8. Where the defendant appears and the plaintiff does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing, the Court shall make an order that the suit be dismissed, unless the defendant admits the claim, or part thereof, in which case the Court shall pass a decree against the defendant upon such admission, and, where part only of the claim has been admitted, shall dismiss the suit so far as it relates to the remainder.

9. (1) Where a suit is wholly or partly dismissed under rule 8, the plaintiff shall be precluded from bringing a fresh suit in respect of the same cause of action. But he may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside, and if in the opinion of the Court there was reasonable cause for his non-appearance when the suit was called on for hearing, the Court shall set aside the dismissal upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

(2) No order shall be made under this rule unless notice in writing of the application has been served on the opposite party.

10. Where there are more plaintiffs than one, and one or more of them appear, and the others do not appear, the Court may, at the instance of the plaintiff or plaintiffs appearing, permit the suit to proceed in the same way as if all the plaintiffs had appeared, or make such order as it thinks fit.

11. Where there are more defendants than one, and one or more of them appear, and the others do not appear, the suit shall proceed, and the Court shall, at the time of pronouncing judgment, make such order as it thinks fit with respect to the defendants who do not appear.

12. Where a plaintiff or defendant, who has been ordered to appear in person, does not appear in person, or show sufficient cause to the satisfaction of the Court for failing so to appear, he shall be subject to all the provisions of the foregoing rules applicable to plaintiffs and defendants, respectively, who do not appear.

Setting aside Decrees ex parte.

13. In any case in which a decree is passed ex parte against a defendant, he may apply to the Court by which the decree was passed for an order to set it aside; and if he satisfies the Court that the summons was not duly served, or that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the suit was called on for hearing, the Court shall make an order setting aside the decree as against him upon such terms as to costs, payment into Court or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

14. No decree shall be set aside on any such application as aforesaid unless notice thereof in writing has been served on the opposite party.

ORDER X.

Examination of Parties by the Court.

- [S. 117.] 1. At the first hearing of the suit the Court shall ascertain from each party or his pleader whether he admits or denies such allegations of fact as are made in the plaint or written statement (if any) of the opposite party, and as are not expressly or by necessary implication admitted or denied by the party against whom they are made. The Court shall record such admissions and denials.
- [S. 118.] 2. At the first hearing of the suit, or at any subsequent hearing, any party appearing in person or present in Court, or any person able to answer any material questions relating to the suit by whom such party or his pleader is accompanied, may be examined orally by the Court: and the Court may, if it thinks fit, put in the course of such examination questions suggested by either party.
- [S. 119.] 3. The substance of the examination shall be reduced to writing by the Judge, and shall form part of the record.
- [S. 120.] 4. (1) Where the pleader of any party who appears by a pleader or any such person accompanying a pleader as is referred to in rule 2, refuses or is unable to answer any material question relating to the suit which the Court is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer if interrogated in person, the Court may postpone the hearing of the suit to a future day and direct that such party shall appear in person on such day.
- (2) If such party fails without lawful excuse to appear in person on the day so appointed, the Court may pronounce judgment against him, or make such order in relation to the suit as it thinks fit.

ORDER XI.

Discovery and Inspection.

- [O. 31, r. 1.] 1. In any suit the plaintiff or defendant by leave of the Court may deliver interrogatories in writing for the examination of the opposite parties or any one or more of such parties, and such interrogatories when delivered shall have a note at the foot thereof stating which of such interrogatories each of such persons is required to answer: Provided that no party shall deliver more than one set of interrogatories to the same party without an order for that purpose: Provided also that interrogatories which do not relate to any matters in question in the suit shall be deemed irrelevant, notwithstanding that they might be admissible on the oral cross-examination of a witness.
- [O. 31, r. 2.] 2. On an application for leave to deliver interrogatories, the particular interrogatories proposed to be delivered shall be submitted to the Court. In deciding upon such application, the Court shall take into account any offer, which may be made by the party sought to be interrogated to deliver particulars, or to make admissions, or to produce documents relating to the matter in question, or any of them, and leave shall be given as to such only of the interrogatories submitted as the Court shall consider necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.
- [O. 31, r. 3.] 3. In adjusting the costs of the suit inquiry shall be made of the instance of any party by the Court into the propriety of exhibiting such interrogatories, and if it is the opinion of the taxing officer or of the Court, either with or without an application for inquiry, that such interrogatories have been exhibited unreasonably, vexatiously, or at improper length, the costs occasioned by the said interrogatories and the answers thereto shall be paid in any event by the party in fault.

4. Interrogatories shall be in the Form No. 2 in [O] Form of interrogatories. Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.
5. Where any party to a suit is a corporation or a [O] body of persons, whether incorporated or not, empowered by law to sue or be sued, whether in its own name or in the name of any officer or other person, any opposite party may apply for an order allowing him to deliver interrogatories to any member or officer of such corporation or body, and an order may be made accordingly.
6. Any objection to answering any interrogatory on [C] the ground that it is scandalous, objections to interrogatories by answer. or irrelevant or not exhibited bona fide for the purpose of the suit, or that the matters inquired into are not sufficiently material at that stage, or on any other ground, may be taken in the affidavit in answer.
7. Any interrogatories may be set aside on the ground [C] that they have been exhibited unreasonably or vexatiously, or struck out on the ground that they are prolix, oppressive, unnecessary or scandalous; and any application for this purpose may be made within seven days after service of the interrogatories.
8. Interrogatories shall be answered by affidavit to [C] be filed within ten days, or Affidavit in answer, within such other time as the Court may allow.
9. No exceptions shall be taken to any affidavit in [C] answer, but the sufficiency or otherwise of any such affidavit objected to as insufficient shall be determined by the Court.
10. Where any person interrogated omits to answer, or answers insufficiently, the party [C] interrogating may apply to the Court for an order requiring him to answer, or to answer further, as the case may be. And an order may be made requiring him to answer or answer further, either by affidavit or by viva voce examination, as the Court may direct.
11. Any party may, without filing any affidavit, apply [C] to the Court for an order directing any other party to any suit to make discovery on oath of the documents which are or have been in his possession or power, relating to any matter in question therein. On the hearing of such application the Court may either refuse or adjourn the same, if satisfied that such discovery is not necessary, or not necessary at that stage of the suit, or make such order, either generally or limited to certain classes of documents, as may, in its discretion, be thought fit: Provided that discovery shall not be ordered when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.
12. The affidavit to be made by a party against whom [C] such order as is mentioned in the last preceding rule has been made, shall specify which (if any) of the documents therein mentioned he objects to produce and it shall be in the Form No. 7 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.

The Code of Civil Procedure Bill.(The First Schedule.)(Order XI.)

- r. 14; 13. It shall be lawful for the Court, at any time during the pendency of any suit, to order the production by any party thereto, upon oath, of such of the documents in his possession or power, relating to any matter in question in such suit, as the Court shall think right; and the Court may deal with such documents, when produced, in such manner as shall appear just.
- r. 15; 14. Every party to a suit shall be entitled, at any time, by notice in writing, to give notice to any other party, in whose pleadings or affidavits reference is made to any document, to produce such document for the inspection of the party giving such notice, or of his pleader, and to permit him or them to take copies thereof; and any party not complying with such notice shall not afterwards be at liberty to put any such document in evidence on his behalf in such suit unless he shall satisfy the Court that such document relates only to his own title, he being a defendant to the suit, or that he had some other cause or excuse which the Court shall deem sufficient for not complying with such notice, in which case the Court may allow the same to be put in evidence on such terms as to costs and otherwise as the Court shall think fit.
- r. 16; 15. Notice to any party to produce any documents referred to in his pleadings or affidavits shall be in the Form No. 5 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.
- r. 17; 16. The party to whom such notice is given shall, within ten days from the receipt of such notice, deliver to the party giving the same a notice stating a time within three days from the delivery thereof at which the documents, or such of them as he does not object to produce, may be inspected at the office of his pleader, or in the case of bankers' books or other books of account or books in constant use for the purposes of any trade or business, at their usual place of custody, and stating which (if any) of the documents he objects to produce, and on what ground. Such notice shall be in the Form No. in Appendix with such variations as circumstances may require.
- r. 18; 17. (1) Where the party served with notice under rule 16 omits to give such notice of a time for inspection or objects to give inspection, or offers inspection elsewhere than at the office of his pleader, the Court may, on the application of the party desiring it, make an order for inspection in such place and in such manner as it may think fit: Provided that the order shall not be made when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.
- (2) Any application to inspect documents, except such as are referred to in the pleadings, particulars or affidavits of the party against whom the application is made or disclosed in his affidavit of documents shall be founded upon an affidavit showing of what documents inspection is sought, that the party applying is entitled to inspect them, and that they are in the possession or power of the other party. The Court shall not make such order for inspection of such documents when and so far as the Court shall be of opinion that it is not necessary either for disposing fairly of the suit or for saving costs.
18. (1) Where inspection of any business books applied for, the Court may, if it thinks fit, instead of ordering inspection of the original books, order a copy of any entries therein to be furnished and verified by the affidavit of some person who has examined the copy with the original entries, and such affidavit shall state whether or not there are in the original book any and what erasures, interlineations or alterations: Provided that, notwithstanding that such copy has been supplied, the Court may order inspection of the book from which the copy was made.
- (2) Where on an application for an order for inspection privilege is claimed for any document, it shall be lawful for the Court to inspect the document for the purpose of deciding as to the validity of the claim of privilege.
- (3) The Court may, on the application of any party to a suit at any time, and whether an affidavit of documents shall or shall not have already been ordered or made, make an order requiring any other party to state by affidavit whether any one or more specific documents, to be specified in the application, is or are, or has or have at any time been, in his possession or power; and, if not then in his possession, when he parted with the same and what has become thereof. Such application shall be made on an affidavit stating that in the belief of the deponent the party against whom the application is made has, or has at some time had, in his possession or power the document or documents specified in the application, and that they relate to the matters in question in the suit, or to some of them.
19. Where the party from whom discovery of any kind or inspection is sought objects to the same, or any part thereof, the Court may, if satisfied that the right to the discovery or inspection sought depends on the determination of any issue or question in dispute in the suit, or that for any other reason it is desirable that any issue or question in dispute in the suit should be determined before deciding upon the right to the discovery or inspection, order that such issue or question be determined first, and reserve the question as to the discovery or inspection.
20. Where any party fails to comply with any order to answer interrogatories, or for discovery or inspection of documents, he shall, if a plaintiff, be liable to have his action dismissed for want of prosecution, and, if a defendant, to have his defence, if any, struck out, and to be placed in the same position as if he had not defended, and the party interrogating may apply to the Court for an order to that effect, and an order may be made accordingly.
21. Any party may, at the trial of a suit, use in evidence any one or more of the answers or any part of an answer of the opposite party to interrogatories without putting in the others or the whole of such answer: Provided always that in such case the Court may look at the whole of the answers, and if it shall be of opinion that any others of them are so connected with those put in that the last-mentioned answers ought not to be used without them, it may direct them to be put in.
22. This Order shall apply to infant plaintiffs and Order 10 apply to defendants, and to the next friends and guardians for the suit of persons under disability.

Admission.

- [O. 32, r. 1.] 1. Any party to a suit may give notice, by his pleading, or otherwise in writing, that he admits the truth of the whole or any part of the case of any other party.
- [O. 32, r. 2 ; s. 128.] 2. Either party may call upon the other party to admit any document, saving all just exceptions ; and in case of refusal or neglect to admit, after such notice, the costs of proving any such document shall be paid by the party so neglecting or refusing, whatever the result of the suit may be, unless the Court otherwise directs : and no costs of proving any document shall be allowed unless such notice is given, except where the omission to give the notice is, in the opinion of the Court, a saving of expense.
- [O. 32, r. 3.] 3. A notice to admit documents shall be in the Form No. 6 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.
- [O. 32, r. 4.] 4. Any party may, by notice in writing, at any time not later than nine days before the day fixed for the hearing, call on any other party to admit, for the purposes of the suit only, any specific fact or facts mentioned in such notice. And in case of refusal or neglect to admit the same within six days after service of such notice, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Court, the costs of proving such fact or facts shall be paid by the party so neglecting or refusing, whatever the result of the suit may be, unless the Court otherwise directs : Provided that any admission made in pursuance of such notice is to be deemed to be made only for the purposes of the particular suit, and not as an admission to be used against the party on any other occasion or in favour of any person other than the party giving the notice : Provided also that the Court may at any time allow any party to amend or withdraw any admission so made on such terms as may be just.
- [O. 32, r. 5.] 5. A notice to admit facts shall be in the Form No. 6 in Appendix C, and admissions of facts shall be in the Form No. 7 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require.
- [O. 32, r. 6.] 6. Any party may at any stage of a suit, where admissions of fact have been made, either on the pleadings, or otherwise, apply to the Court for such judgment or order as upon such admissions he may be entitled to, without waiting for the determination of any other question between the parties : and the Court may upon such application make such order, or give such judgment, as the Court may think just.
- [O. 32, r. 7.] 7. An affidavit of the pleader or his clerk, of the due signature of any admissions made in pursuance of any notice to admit documents or facts, shall be sufficient evidence of such admissions, if evidence thereof is required.
- [O. 32, r. 8.] 8. Notice to produce documents shall be in the Form No. 5 in Appendix C, with such variations as circumstances may require. An affidavit of the pleader, or his clerk, of the service of any notice to produce, and of the time when it was served, with a copy of the notice to produce, shall in all cases be sufficient evidence of the service of the notice, and of the time when it was served.
- [O. 32, r. 9.] 9. If a notice to admit or produce specifies documents which are not necessary, the costs occasioned thereby shall be borne by the party giving such notice.

ORDER XIV.

Settlement of Issues and Determination of Points of Law.

1. (1) Issues arise when a material proposition of fact or law is affirmed by the one party and denied by the other.

(2) Material propositions are those propositions of law or fact which a plaintiff must allege in order to show a right to sue or a defendant must allege in order to constitute his defence.

(3) Each material proposition affirmed by one party and denied by the other shall form the subject of a distinct issue.

(4) Issues are of two kinds: (a) issues of fact, (b) issues

(5) At the first hearing of the suit the Court shall, after reading the plaint and the written statements, if any, and after such examination of the parties as may appear necessary, ascertain upon what material propositions of fact or of law the parties are at variance, and shall thereupon proceed to frame and record the issues on which the right decision of the case appears to the Court to depend.

(6) Nothing in this rule requires the Court to frame and record issues where the defendant at the first hearing of the suit makes no defence.

2. Where issues both of law and of fact arise in the same suit, and the Court is of opinion that the case may be disposed of on the issues of law only, it shall try those issues first, and for that purpose may, if it thinks fit, postpone the settlement of the issues of fact until after the issues of law have been determined.

3. The Court may frame the issues from all or any of the following materials:—

(a) allegations made on oath by the parties, or by any persons present on their behalf, or made by the pleaders of such parties;

(b) allegations made in the pleadings or in answers to interrogatories delivered in the suit;

(c) the contents of documents produced by either party.

4. Where the Court is of opinion that the issues cannot be correctly framed without the examination of some person not before framing issues, before the Court or without the inspection of some document not produced in the suit, it may adjourn the framing of the issues to a future day, and may (subject to any law for the time being in force) compel the attendance of any person or the production of any document by the person in whose possession or power it is by summons or other process.

5. (1) The Court may at any time before passing a decree amend the issues or frame additional issues on such terms as it thinks fit, and all such amendments or additional issues as may be necessary for determining the matters in controversy between the parties shall be so made or framed.

(2) The Court may also, at any time before passing a decree, strike out any issues that appear to it to be wrongly framed or introduced.

6. Where the parties to a suit are agreed as to the question of fact or of law to be decided between them, they may by agreement be stated in form of issues, may state the same in the form of an issue, and enter into an agreement in writing that, upon the finding of the Court in the affirmative or the negative of such issue,—

(a) a sum of money specified in the agreement or to be ascertained by the Court, or in such manner as the Court may direct, shall be paid by one of the parties to the other of them, or that one of them be declared entitled to some right or subject to some liability specified in the agreement;

(b) some property specified in the agreement and in dispute in the suit shall be delivered by one of the parties to the other of them, or as that other may direct; or

Disposal of the Suit at the first Hearing.

S. 153.] 2. Where there are more defendants than one, and any one of the defendants is not at issue with the plaintiff on any question of law or of fact, the Court may at once pronounce judgment for or against such defendant and the suit shall proceed only against the other defendants.

[S. 154.] 3. (1) Where the parties are at issue on some question of law or of fact, and issues have been framed by the Court as hereinbefore provided, if the Court is satisfied that no further argument or evidence than the parties can at once adduce is required upon such of the issues as may be sufficient for the decision of the suit, and that no injustice will result from proceeding with the suit forthwith, the Court may proceed to determine such issues, and, if the finding thereon is sufficient for the decision, may pronounce judgment accordingly, whether the summons has been issued for the settlement of issues only or for the final disposal of the suit :

Provided that, where the summons has been issued for the settlement of issues only, the parties or their pleaders are present and none of them object.

(2) Where the finding is not sufficient for the decision, the Court shall postpone the further hearing of the suit, and shall fix a day for the production of such further evidence, or for such further argument as the case requires.

[S. 155.] 4. Where the summons has been issued for the final disposal of the suit and either party fails without sufficient cause to produce the evidence on which he relies, the Court may at once pronounce judgment, or may, if it thinks fit, after framing and recording issues, adjourn the suit for the production of such evidence as may be necessary for its decision upon such issues.

ORDER XVI.

Summoning and Attendance of Witnesses.

[S. 159.] 1. At any time after the suit is instituted, the parties may obtain, on application to the Court or to such officer as it appoints in this behalf, summonses to persons whose attendance is required either to give evidence or to produce documents.

[S. 160.] 2. (1) The party applying for a summons shall, before the summons is granted and to be paid into Court on applying for summons, pay into Court such a sum of money as appears to the Court to be sufficient to defray the travelling and other expenses of the person summoned in passing to and from the Court in which he is required to attend, and for one day's attendance.

(2) In determining the amount payable under this rule, the Court may, in the case of any person summoned to give evidence as an expert, allow reasonable remuneration for the time occupied both in giving evidence and in performing any work of an expert character necessary for the case.

(3) Where the Court is subordinate to a High Court, regard shall be had, in fixing the scale of such expenses, to any rules made in that behalf.

3. The sum so paid into Court shall be tendered to the person summoned, at the time of serving the summons, if it can be served personally. [S. 16]

[S. 16]

(2) Where it is necessary to detain the person summoned for a longer period than one day, the Court may, from time to time, order the party at whose instance he was summoned to pay into Court such sum as is sufficient to defray the expenses of his detention for such further period, and, in default of such deposit being made, may order such sum to be levied by attachment and sale of the moveable property of such party ; or the Court may discharge the person summoned without requiring him to give evidence ; or may both order such levy and discharge such person as aforesaid.

5. Every summons for the attendance of a person to give evidence or to produce a document shall specify the time and place at which he is required to attend, and also whether his attendance is required for the purpose of giving evidence or to produce a document, or for both purposes ; and any particular document, which the person summoned is called on to produce, shall be described in the summons with reasonable accuracy. [S. 16]

6. Any person may be summoned to produce a document, without being summoned to give evidence ; and any person summoned merely to produce a document shall be deemed to have complied with the summons if he causes such document to be produced instead of attending personally to produce the same.

7. Any person present in Court may be required by the Court to give evidence or to produce any document then and there in his possession or power.

8. Every summons under this Order shall be served as nearly as may be in the same manner as a summons to a defendant, and the rules in Order V as to proof of service shall apply in the case of all summonses served under this rule.

(3) In lieu of or at the time of issuing such proclamation, or at any time afterwards, the Court may, in its discretion, issue a warrant, either with or without bail, for the arrest of such person, and may make an order for the attachment of his property to such amount as it thinks fit, not exceeding the amount of the costs of attachment and of the fine which may be imposed under section 32:

(2) Where the Court sees sufficient cause for allowing the decree to be executed on an application made under this section, it shall make such order as it deems necessary for protecting the interests of the persons who have not joined in the application.

Provided that, where the decree, or such interest as aforesaid, has been transferred by assignment, notice in writing of such application shall be given to the transferor and the judgment-debtor, and the decree shall not be executed until the Court has heard their objections (if any) to its execution:

Provided also that, where a decree for the payment of money against two or more persons has been transferred to one of them, it shall not be executed against the others.

17. (a) if the two sums are equal, satisfaction shall be entered upon both decrees; and

(b) if the two sums are unequal, execution may be taken out only by the holder of the decree for the larger sum and for so much only as remains after deducting the smaller sum, and satisfaction for the smaller sum shall be entered on the decree for the larger sum as well as satisfaction on the decree for the smaller sum.

20. The Court may, in its discretion, refuse execution at the same time against the person and property of the judgment-debtor. [S. 247, para.]

21. (1) Where an application for execution is made—

(a) more than one year after the date of the decree, or

(b) against the legal representative of a party to the decree, the Court executing the decree shall issue a notice to the person against whom execution is applied for requiring him to show cause, on a date to be fixed, why the decree should not be executed against him:

Provided that no such notice shall be necessary in consequence of more than one year having elapsed between the date of the decree and the application for execution if the application is made within one year from the date of the last order against the party against whom execution is applied for, passed on any previous application for execution, or in consequence of the application being made against the legal representative of the judgment-debtor, if upon a previous application for execution against the same person the Court has ordered execution to issue against him.

(2) Nothing in the foregoing sub-rule shall be deemed to preclude the Court from issuing any process in execution of a decree without issuing the notice thereby prescribed, if, for reasons to be recorded, it considers that the issue of such notice would cause unreasonable delay or would defeat the ends of justice.

22. (1) Where the person to whom notice is issued under the last preceding rule does not appear or does not show cause to the satisfaction of the Court why the decree should not be executed, the Court shall order the decree to be executed.

(2) Where such person offers any objection to the execution of the decree, the Court shall consider such objection and make such order as it thinks fit.

23. (1) When the preliminary measures (if any) required by the foregoing rules have been taken, the Court shall, unless it sees cause to the contrary, issue its process for the execution of the decree.

(2) Every such process shall bear date the day on which it is issued, and shall be signed by the Judge or such officer as the Court may appoint in this behalf, and shall be sealed with the seal of the Court and delivered to the proper officer to be executed.

The Code of Civil Procedure Bill.

24. (1) The officer entrusted with the execution of the process shall endorse thereupon the day on, and the manner in, which it was executed, and, if the latest day specified in the process for the return thereof has been exceeded, the reason of the delay, or, if it was not executed, the reason why it was not executed, and shall return the process with such endorsement to the Court.

[S. 343.]

(2) Where the endorsement is to the effect that such officer is unable to execute the process, the Court shall examine him touching his alleged inability, and may, if it thinks fit, summon and examine witnesses as to such inability and shall record the result.

Stay of execution.

25. (1) The Court to which a decree has been sent for execution shall, upon sufficient cause being shown, stay the execution of such decree for a reasonable time, to enable the judgment-debtor to apply to the Court by which the decree was made, or to any Court having appellate jurisdiction in respect of the decree or the execution thereof, for an order to stay the execution, or for any other order relating to the decree or execution which might have been made by such Court of first instance or appellate Court if execution had been issued hereby, or if application for execution had been made hereto.

(2) Where the property or person of the judgment-debtor has been seized under an execution, the Court which issued the execution, may order the restitution or discharge of such property or person pending the result of the application for such order.

29. Where a suit is pending in any Court against the holder of a decree of such Court, on the part of the person against whom the decree was passed, the Court may, on such terms as to security or otherwise, as it thinks fit, stay execution of the decree until the pending suit has been decided.

Mode of execution.

30. Every decree for the payment of money, including a decree for the payment of money as the alternative to some other relief, may be executed by the detention in the civil prison of the judgment-debtor or by the attachment and sale of his property, or by both.

31. (1) Where the decree is for any specific moveable, or for any share in a specific moveable, it may be executed by the seizure, if practicable, of the moveable or share, and by the delivery thereof to the party to whom it has been adjudged, or to such person as he appoints to receive delivery on his behalf, or by the detention in the civil prison of the judgment-debtor, or by the attachment of his property, or by both.

(2) Where any attachment under sub-rule (1) has remained in force for six months, if the judgment-debtor has not obeyed the decree and the decree-holder has

may be sold, and out of the proceeds the Court may award to the decree-holder, in cases where any amount has been fixed by the decree to be paid as an alternative to delivery of moveable property, such amount, and, in other cases, such compensation as it thinks fit, and shall pay the balance (if any) to the judgment-debtor on his application.

(3) Where the judgment-debtor has obeyed the decree and paid all costs of executing the same which he is bound to pay, or where, at the end of six months from the date of the attachment, no application to have the property sold has been made, or, if made, has been refused, the attachment shall cease.

32. (1) Where the party against whom a decree for the specific performance of a contract, or for restitution of conjugal rights, or for an injunction, has been passed, has had an opportunity of obeying the decree and has wilfully failed to obey it, the decree may be enforced by his detention in the civil prison, or by the attachment of his property, or by both, or, if the party against whom a decree for specific performance or for an injunction has been passed is a corporation, then with the leave of the Court, by the detention in the civil prison of the directors or other principal officers thereof.

(2) Where any attachment under this rule has remained in force for one year, if the judgment-debtor has not obeyed the decree and the decree-holder has applied to have the attached property sold, the property may be sold; and out of the proceeds the Court may award to the decree-holder such compensation as it thinks fit, and shall pay the balance (if any) to the judgment-debtor on his application.

A, a person of little substance, erects a building which renders uninhabitable a family mansion belonging to B. A, in spite of his detention in prison and the attachment of his property, declines to obey a decree obtained against him by B and directing him to remove the building. The Court is of opinion that no sum realizable by the sale of A's property would adequately compensate B for the depreciation in the value of his mansion. B may apply to the Court to remove the building and may recover the cost of such removal from A in the execution-proceedings.

33. (1) Notwithstanding anything in rule 32, the Court, either at the time of passing a decree for the restitution of conjugal rights or at any time afterwards, may order that the decree shall not be executed either by detention in prison, or by attachment of property.

[Cf. 47 & 48
ss. 2 to 4.]

(2) Where the Court has made an order under sub-rule (1), and the decree-holder is the wife, it may order that, in the event of the decree not being obeyed within such period as may be fixed in this behalf, the judgment-debtor shall make to the decree-holder such periodical payments as may be just, and, if it thinks fit, require that the judgment-debtor shall, to its satisfaction, secure to the decree-holder such periodical payments.

(3) The Court may from time to time vary or modify any order made under sub-rule (2) for the periodical payment of money, either by altering the times of payment or by increasing or diminishing the amount, or may temporarily suspend the same as to the whole or any part of the money so ordered to be paid, and again revive the same, either wholly or in part as it may think just.

(4) Any money ordered to be paid under this rule may be recovered as though it were payable under a decree

The Code of Civil Procedure Bill.(The First Schedule.)(Order XXI.)

[S. 261.] 34. (1) Where a decree is for the execution of a document or for the endorsement of a negotiable instrument and the judgment-debtor neglects or refuses to obey the decree, the decree-holder may prepare a draft of the document or endorsement in accordance with the terms of the decree and deliver the same to the Court.

(2) The Court shall thereupon cause the draft to be served on the judgment-debtor in the manner hereinbefore provided for the service of summons, together with a notice in writing requiring his objections (if any) to be made within such time as the Court fixes in this behalf.

(3) Where the judgment-debtor objects to the draft, his objections shall be stated in writing within such time, and the Court shall make such order approving or altering the draft, as it thinks fit.

(4) The decree-holder may deliver to the Court a document being a fair copy of the draft with such alterations (if any) as the Court may have directed upon the proper stamp-paper if a stamp is required by the law for the time being in force; and the Judge or such officer as may be appointed in this behalf shall execute the document so delivered.

[S. 262.] (5) The execution of a document or the endorsement of a negotiable instrument under this rule may be in the following form, namely:—

“C. D., Judge of the Court of (or as the case may be), for A. B., in a suit by E. F. against A. B.”, and shall have the same effect as the execution of the document or the endorsement of the negotiable instrument by the party ordered to execute or endorse the same.

(6) The Court, or such officer as it may appoint in this behalf, shall cause the document to be registered if its registration is required by the law for the time being in force or the decree-holder desires to have it registered, and may make such order as it thinks fit as to the payment of the expenses of the registration.

(2) Where a decree is for the joint possession of immovable property, such possession shall be delivered by affixing a copy of the warrant on some conspicuous place on the property and proclaiming by beat of drum, or other customary mode, the substance of the decree.

(3) Where possession of any building or enclosure is to be delivered and the person in possession, being bound by the decree, does not afford free access, the Court, through its officers, may, after giving reasonable warning and facility to any woman not appearing in public according to the customs of the country to withdraw, remove or open any lock or bolt or break open any door or do any other act necessary for putting the decree-holder in possession.

[S. 264.] 36. Arrest and detention in the civil prison.

37. (1) Notwithstanding anything in these rules, where an application is for the execution of a decree for the payment of money by the arrest and detention in the civil prison of a judgment-debtor who is liable to be arrested in pursuance of the application, the Court may, instead of issuing a warrant for his arrest, issue a notice calling upon him to appear before the Court on a day to be specified in the notice and show cause why he should not be committed to the civil prison. [S. 245B.]

(2) Where appearance is not made in obedience to the notice, the Court shall, if the decree-holder so requires, issue a warrant for the arrest of the judgment-debtor.

38. Every warrant for the arrest of a judgment-debtor shall direct the officer entrusted with its execution to bring him before the Court with all convenient speed, unless the amount which he has been ordered to pay, together with the interest thereon and the costs (if any) to which he is liable, be sooner paid. [S. 337.]

39. (1) At any time after a warrant for the arrest of a judgment-debtor has been issued, the Court may cancel it on the ground of illness. [S. 653.]

(2) Where a judgment-debtor has been arrested, the Court may release him if, in its opinion, he is not in a fit state of health to be detained in the civil prison.

40. (1) Where a judgment-debtor who has not been released under the provisions of section 55, sub-section (4), appears before the Court in obedience to a notice issued under rule 37, or is brought before the Court after being arrested in execution of a decree for the payment of money, and it appears to the Court that the judgment-debtor is unable from poverty or other sufficient cause to pay the amount of the decree or, if that amount is payable by instalments, the amount of any instalment thereof, the Court may, upon such terms (if any) as it thinks fit, make an order disallowing the application for his arrest and detention, or directing his release, as the case may be. [S. 33.]

(2) Before making an order under sub-rule (1), the Court may take into consideration any allegation of the decree-holder touching any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) the decree being for a sum for which the judgment-debtor was bound in any fiduciary capacity to account;

(b) the transfer, concealment or removal by the judgment-debtor of any part of his property after the date of the institution of the suit in which the decree was passed, or the commission by him after that date of any other act of bad faith in relation to his property, with the object or effect of obstructing or delaying the decree-holder in the execution of the decree;

(c) any undue preference given by the judgment-debtor to any of his other creditors;

(d) refusal or neglect on the part of the judgment-debtor to pay the amount of the decree or some part thereof when he has, or since the date of the decree has had, the means of paying it;

(e) the likelihood of the judgment-debtor absconding or leaving the jurisdiction of the Court with the object or effect of obstructing or delaying the decree-holder in the execution of the decree.

(3) While any of the matters mentioned in sub-rule (2) are being considered, the Court may, in its discretion, order the judgment-debtor to be detained in the civil prison, or leave him in the custody of an officer of the Court, or release him on his furnishing security, to the satisfaction of the Court, for his appearance when required by the Court.

(4) A judgment-debtor released under this rule may be re-arrested.

(5) Where the Court does not make an order under sub-rule (1), it shall cause the judgment-debtor to be arrested if he has not already been arrested and, subject to the other provisions of this Code, commit him to the civil prison.

7.] 41. Where a decree is for the payment of money the decree-holder may apply to the Court for an order—
Examination of judgment-debtor as to his property.

- (a) that the judgment-debtor, or
(b) in the case of a corporation, any officer thereof, or
(c) any other person,

be orally examined as to whether any or what debts are owing to the judgment-debtor and whether the judgment-debtor has any and what other property or means of satisfying the decree; and the Court may make an order for the attendance and examination of such judgment-debtor, or officer or any other person, and for the production of any books or documents.

35.] 42. Where a decree directs an inquiry as to rent or mesne profits or any other matter, the property of the judgment-debtor may, before the amount due from him has been ascertained, be attached, as in the case of an ordinary decree for the payment of money.

69.] 43. Where the property to be attached is moveable property, other than agricultural produce, in the possession of judgment-debtor, the attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and the attaching officer shall keep the property in his own custody or in the custody of one of his subordinates, and shall be responsible for the due custody thereof:

Provided that, when the property seized is subject to speedy and natural decay, or when the expense of keeping it in custody is likely to exceed its value, the attaching officer may sell it at once.

70.] 44. (1) Where the property to be attached is agricultural produce, the attachment shall be made by affixing a copy of the warrant of attachment,—

- (a) where such produce is a growing crop, on the land on which such crop has grown, or
(b) where such produce has been cut or gathered, on the threshing-floor or place for treading out grain or the like or fodder-stack on or in which it is deposited, and another copy on the outer door or on some other conspicuous part of the house in which the judgment-debtor ordinarily resides or, with the leave of the Court, on the outer door or on some other conspicuous part of the house in which he carries on business or personally works for gain or in which he is known to have last resided or to have personally worked for gain; and the produce shall thereupon be deemed to have passed into the possession of the Court.

(2) Where agricultural produce is attached under sub-rule (1), the Court shall make such arrangements for the custody thereof as it may deem sufficient and, for the purpose of enabling the Court to make such arrangements, every application for the attachment of a growing crop shall specify the time at which it is likely to be fit to be cut or gathered.

(3) Subject to such conditions as may be imposed by the Court in this behalf either in the order of attachment or in any subsequent order, the judgment-debtor may tend, cut, gather and store the produce and do any other act necessary for maturing or preserving it; and if the judgment-debtor fails to do all or any of such acts, the decree-holder may, with the permission of the Court and subject to the like conditions, do all or any of them either by himself or by any person appointed by him in this behalf, and the costs incurred by the decree-holder shall be recoverable from the judgment-debtor as if they were included in, or formed part of, the decree.

(4) Agricultural produce attached as a growing crop shall not be deemed to have ceased to be under attachment or to require re-attachment merely because it has been severed from the soil.

(5) Where an order for the attachment of a growing crop has been made at a considerable time before the crop is likely to be fit to be cut or gathered, the Court may suspend the execution of the order for such time as it thinks fit, and may, in its discretion, make a further order prohibiting the removal of the crop pending the execution of the order of attachment.

(6) A growing crop which from its nature does not admit of being stored shall not be attached under this rule at any time less than twenty days before the time at which it is likely to be fit to be cut or gathered.

45. Where agricultural produce has been attached then,— [New.]

(a) if the presiding officer has been authorised in this behalf by the Local Government by notification in the local official Gazette, the Court shall make all arrangements and give all directions necessary for carrying out the purposes of the attachment, and,

(b) if the presiding officer has not been so authorised, the Court shall issue a precept to the Collector, and thereupon the Collector, or any subordinate of the Collector deputed by him in this behalf, shall make all such arrangements and give all such directions as aforesaid.

(b) a share in the capital of a corporation,
(c) other moveable property not in the possession of the judgment-debtor, except property deposited in, or in the custody of, any Court, the attachment shall be made by a written order prohibiting,—

- (i) in the case of the debt, the creditor from recovering the debt and the debtor from making payment thereof until the further order of the Court;
(ii) in the case of the share, the person in whose name the share may be standing from transferring the same or receiving any dividend thereon;

[New.] 48. (1) Where the property to be attached is the salary or allowances of a public officer or of a servant of a railway company or local authority, the Court, whether the judgment-debtor or the disbursing officer is or is not within the local limits of the Court's jurisdiction, may order that the amount shall, subject to the provisions of section 60, be withheld from such salary or allowances either in one payment or by monthly instalments as the Court may direct; and, upon notice of the order to such officer as the Government may by notification in the Gazette of India or in the local official Gazette, as the case may be, appoint in this behalf, the officer or other person whose duty it is to disburse such salary or allowances shall withhold and remit to the Court the amount due under the order, or the monthly instalments, as the case may be.

(2) Where the attachable proportion of such salary or allowances is already being withheld and remitted to a Court in pursuance of a previous and unsatisfied order of attachment, the officer appointed by the Government in this behalf shall forthwith return the subsequent order to the Court issuing it with a full statement of all the particulars of the existing attachment.

(3) Every order made under this rule, unless it is returned in accordance with the provisions of sub-rule (2), shall, without further notice or other process, bind the Government or the railway company or local authority, as the case may be, while the judgment-debtor is within the local limits to which this Code for the time being extends and while he is beyond those limits if he is in receipt of any salary or allowances payable out of His Majesty's Indian revenues or the funds of a railway company carrying on business in any part of British India or local authority in British India; and the Government or the railway company or local authority, as the case may be, shall be liable for any sum paid in contravention of this rule.

[Cf. 53 & 54 Vict. c. 39, s. 43.] 49. (1) Save as otherwise provided by this rule, property belonging to a partnership shall not be attached or sold in execution of a decree other than a decree passed against the firm or against the partners in the firm as such.

(2) The Court may, on the application of the holder of a decree against a partner, make an order charging the interest of such partner in the partnership property and profits with payment of the amount due under the decree and the interest thereon, and may, by the same or a subsequent order, appoint a receiver of the share of such partner in the profits (whether already declared or accruing) and of any other money which may be coming to him in respect of the partnership, and direct accounts and inquiries and make an order for the sale of such interest or other orders as might have been directed or made if a charge had been made in favour of the decree-holder by such partner, or as the circumstances of the case may require.

(3) The other partner or partners shall be at liberty at any time to redeem the interest charged or, in the case of a sale being directed, to purchase the same.

[Cf. O. 46, r. 2.] (4) Every application for an order under sub-rule (2) shall be served on the judgment-debtor and on his partners or such of them as are within British India.

[Cf. ibid., r. 1.] (5) Every application made by any partner of the judgment-debtor under sub-rule (3) shall be served on the decree-holder and on the judgment-debtor, and on such of the other partners as do not join in the application and as are within British India.

(6) Service under sub-rule (4) or sub-rule (5) shall be deemed to be service on all the partners, and all orders made on such applications shall be similarly served.

50. Where the property is a negotiable instrument not deposited in a Court, nor in the custody of a public officer, the attachment shall be made by actual seizure, and the instrument shall be brought into Court and held subject to further orders of the Court.

51. Where the property to be attached is in the custody of any Court or public officer, the attachment shall be made by a notice to such Court or officer, requesting that such property, and any interest or dividend becoming payable thereon, may be held subject to the further orders of the Court from which the notice is issued:

Provided that, where such property is in the custody of a Court, any question of title or priority arising between the decree-holder and any other person not being the judgment-debtor, claiming to be interested in such property by virtue of any assignment, attachment or otherwise, shall be determined by such Court.

52. (1) Where the property to be attached is a decree, either for the payment of money or for sale in enforcement of a mortgage or charge, the attachment shall be made,—

(a) if the decrees were passed by the same Court, then by order of such Court, and,

(b) if the decree sought to be attached was passed by another Court, then by the issue to such other Court of a notice in writing by the Court which passed the decree sought to be executed, requesting such other Court to stay the execution of its decree unless and until—

(i) the Court which passed the decree sought to be executed cancels the notice, or

(ii) the holder of the decree sought to be executed or his judgment-debtor applies to the Court receiving such notice to execute its own decree.

(2) Where a Court makes an order under clause (a) of sub-rule (1), or receives an application under sub-head (ii) of clause (b) of the said sub-rule, it shall, on the application of the creditor who has attached the decree or his judgment-debtor, proceed to execute the attached decree and apply the net proceeds in satisfaction of the decree sought to be executed.

(3) The holder of a decree sought to be executed by the attachment of another decree of the nature specified in sub-rule (1) shall be deemed to be the representative of the holder of the attached decree and to be entitled to execute such attached decree in any manner lawful for the holder thereof.

(4) Where the property to be attached in the execution of a decree is a decree other than a decree of the nature referred to in sub-rule (1), the attachment shall be made, by a notice in writing, by the Court which passed the decree sought to be executed, to the holder of the decree sought to be attached, prohibiting him from transferring or charging the same in any way; and, where such decree has been passed by any other Court, also by sending to such other Court a notice to abstain from executing the decree sought to be attached until such notice is cancelled by the Court from which it was sent.

(5) The holder of a decree attached under this rule shall give the Court executing the decree such information and aid as may reasonably be required.

(6) On the application of the holder of a decree sought to be executed by the attachment of another decree, the Court making an order of attachment under this rule shall give notice of such order to the judgment-debtor bound by the decree attached; and no payment or adjustment of the attached decree made by the judgmentdebtor in contravention of such order after receipt of notice thereof, either through the Court or otherwise, shall be recognised by any Court so long as the attachment remains in force.

[S. 274.] 53. (1) Where the property is immoveable, the attachment shall be made by an order prohibiting the judgment-debtor from transferring or charging the property in any way, and all persons from taking any benefit from such transfer or charge.

(2) The order shall be proclaimed at some place on or adjacent to such property by beat of drum or other customary mode, and a copy of the order shall be affixed on a conspicuous part of the court-house, and also, where the property is land paying revenue to the Government, in the office of the Collector of the district in which the land is situate.

[S. 275.] Removal of attachment after satisfaction of decree. 54. Where—

- (a) the amount decreed with costs and all charges and expenses resulting from the attachment of any property are paid into Court, or
- (b) satisfaction of the decree is otherwise made through the Court or certified to the Court, or
- (c) the decree is set aside or reversed, the attachment shall be deemed to be withdrawn, and, in the case of immoveable property, the withdrawal shall, if the judgment-debtor so desires, be proclaimed at his expense, and a copy of the proclamation shall be affixed in the manner prescribed by the last preceding rule.

[S. 277.] 55. Where the property attached is coin or currency notes, the Court may, at any time during the continuance of the attachment, direct that such coin or notes, or a part thereof sufficient to satisfy the decree, be paid over to the party entitled under the decree to receive the same.

[New.] 56. Where any property has been attached in execution of a decree but by reason of the decree-holder's default the Court is unable to proceed further with the application for execution, it shall either dismiss the application or for any sufficient reason adjourn the proceedings to a future date. Upon the dismissal of such application the attachment shall cease.

Investigation of claims and objections.

[S. 278.] 57. (1) Where any claim is preferred to, or any objection is made to the attachment of, any property attached in execution of a decree on the ground that such property is not liable to such attachment, the Court shall proceed to investigate the claim or objection with the like power as regards the examination of the claimant or objector, and in all other respects, as if he was a party to the suit :

Provided that no such investigation shall be made where the Court considers that the claim or objection was designedly or unnecessarily delayed.

(2) Where the property to which the claim or objection applies has been advertised for sale, the Court ordering the sale may postpone it pending the investigation of the claim or objection.

[S. 279.] 58. The claimant or objector must adduce evidence to show that at the date of the attachment he had some interest in, or was possessed of, the property attached.

59. Where upon the said investigation the Court is satisfied that for the reason stated in the claim or objection such property was not, when attached, in the possession of the judgment-debtor or of some person in trust for him, or in the occupancy of a tenant or other person paying rent to him, or that, being in the possession of the judgment-debtor at such time, it was so in his possession, not on his own account or as his own property, but on account of or in trust for some other person, or partly on his own account and partly on account of some other person, the Court shall make an order for releasing the property, wholly or to such extent as it thinks fit, from attachment.

60. Where the Court is satisfied that the property was, at the time it was attached, in possession of the judgment-debtor as his own property and not on account of any other person, or was in the possession of some other person in trust for him, or in the occupancy of a tenant or other person paying rent to him, the Court shall disallow the claim.

61. Where the Court is satisfied that the property is subject to a mortgage or lien in favour of some person not in possession, and thinks fit to continue the attachment, it may do so, subject to such mortgage or lien.

62. Where a claim or an objection is preferred, the party against whom an order is made may institute a suit to establish the right which he claims to the property in dispute, but, subject to the result of such suit, if any, the order shall be conclusive.

Sale generally.

63. Any Court executing a decree may order that any property attached by it and liable to sale, or such portion thereof as may seem necessary to satisfy the decree, shall be sold, and that the proceeds of such sale, or a sufficient portion thereof, shall be paid to the party entitled under the decree to receive the same.

64. Save as otherwise prescribed, every sale in execution of a decree shall be conducted by an officer of the Court or by such other person as the Court may appoint in this behalf, and shall be made by public auction in manner prescribed.

67. Save in the case of property of the kind described in the proviso to rule 43, no sale hereunder shall, without the consent in writing of the judgment-debtor, take place until after the expiration of at least thirty days in the case of immovable property, and of at least fifteen days in the case of moveable property, calculated from the date on which the copy of the proclamation has been affixed in the court-house of the Judge ordering the sale.

Provided that, where the sale is made in, or within the precincts of, the court-house, no such adjournment shall be made without the leave of the Court.

(2) Where a sale is adjourned under sub-rule (1) for a longer period than seven days, a fresh proclamation under rule 66 shall be made, unless the judgment-debtor consents to waive it.

(3) Every sale shall be stopped if, before the lot is knocked down, the debt and costs (including the costs of the sale) are tendered to the officer conducting the sale, or proof is given to his satisfaction that the amount of such debt and costs has been paid into the Court which ordered the sale.

(3) Where a decree-holder purchases, by himself or through another person, without such permission, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the judgment-debtor or any other person whose interests are affected by the sale, by order set aside the sale; and the costs of such application and order, and any deficiency of price which may happen on the re-sale and all expenses attending it, shall be paid by the decree-holder.

- a fair price, in the estimation of the person holding the sale, is not offered for it, and
- the owner of the produce or a person authorized to act in his behalf applies to have the sale postponed till the next day or, if a market is held at the place of sale, the next market-day, the sale shall be postponed accordingly and shall be then completed, whatever price may be offered for the produce.

What Courts may order sales of immoveable property.

82. (1) Where an order for the sale of immoveable property has been made, if the judgment-debtor can satisfy the Court that there is reason to believe that the amount of the decree may be raised by the mortgage or lease or private sale of such property, or some part thereof, or of any other immoveable property of the judgment-debtor, the Court may, on his application, postpone the sale of the property comprised in the order for sale on such terms and for such period as it thinks proper, to enable him to raise the amount.

(2) In such case the Court shall grant a certificate to the judgment-debtor authorizing him within a period to be mentioned therein, and notwithstanding anything contained in section 64, to make the proposed mortgage, lease or sale:

Provided that all monies payable under such mortgage, lease or sale shall be paid, not to the judgment-debtor, but, save in so far as a decree-holder is entitled to set-off such money under the provisions of rule 71, into Court:

Provided also that no mortgage, lease or sale under this rule shall become absolute until it has been confirmed by the Court.

(3) Nothing in this rule shall be deemed to apply to a sale of property directed to be sold in execution of a decree for the enforcement of a mortgage of, or charge on, such property.

83. (1) On every sale of immoveable property the person declared to be the purchaser shall pay immediately after such declaration a deposit of twenty-five per cent. on the amount of his purchase-money to the officer or other person conducting the sale, and, in default of such deposit, the property shall forthwith be re-sold.

(2) Where the decree-holder is the purchaser and is entitled to set off the purchase-money under rule 71, the Court may dispense with the requirements of this rule.

84. The full amount of purchase-money payable shall be paid by the purchaser into Court before the Court closes on the fifteenth day from the sale of the property:

Provided that, in calculating the amount to be so paid into Court, the purchaser shall have the advantage of any set-off to which he may be entitled under rule 71.

85. In default of payment within the period mentioned in the last preceding rule, the deposit may, if the Court thinks fit, after defraying the expenses of the sale, be forfeited to the Government, and the property shall be re-sold, and the defaulting purchaser shall forfeit all claim to the property or to any part of the sum for which it may subsequently be sold.

86. Every re-sale of immoveable property, in default of payment of the purchase-money within the period allowed for such payment, shall be made after the issue of a fresh proclamation in the manner and for the period hereinbefore prescribed for the sale.

87. Where the property sold is a share of undivided immoveable property and two or more persons, of whom one is a co-sharer, respectively bid the same sum for such property or for any lot, the bid shall be deemed to be the bid of the co-sharer.

88. (1) Where immoveable property has been sold in execution of a decree of any kind, including a decree in a suit for sale for the enforcement of a mortgage or charge, any person, either owning such property or holding an interest therein by virtue of a title acquired before such sale,

(a) for payment to the purchaser, a sum equal to five per cent. of the purchase-money, and

(b) for payment to the decree-holder, the amount specified in the proclamation of sale as that for the recovery of which the sale was ordered, less any amount which may, since the date of such proclamation of sale, have been received by the decree-holder.

(2) Where a person applies under rule 89 to set aside the sale of his immovable property, he shall not, unless he withdraws his application, be entitled to make or prosecute an application under this rule.

(3) Nothing in this rule shall relieve the judgment-debtor from any liability he may be under in respect of costs and interest not covered by the proclamation of sale.

89. (1) Where any immovable property has been sold in execution of a decree, the decree-holder, or any person entitled to share in a rateable distribution of assets, or whose interests are affected by the sale, may apply to the Court to set aside the sale on the ground of a material irregularity in publishing or conducting it :

Provided that no sale shall be set aside on the ground of irregularity unless upon the facts proved the Court is satisfied that the applicant has sustained substantial injury by reason of such irregularity.

90. The purchaser at any sale in execution of a decree may apply to the Court to set aside the sale, on the ground that the judgment-debtor had no saleable interest therein in the property sold.

[Ss. 312, 314.]

91. (1) Where no application is made under rule 88, rule 89 or rule 90, or where such application is made and disallowed, the Court shall make an order confirming the sale, and thereupon the sale shall become absolute.

(2) Where such application is made and allowed, and where, in the case of an application under rule 88, the deposit required by that rule is made within thirty days from the date of sale, the Court shall make an order setting aside the sale :

Provided that no order shall be made unless notice of the application has been given to all persons affected thereby.

(3) No suit to set aside an order made under this rule shall be brought by any person against whom such order is made.

92. Where a sale of immovable property is set aside under rule 91, the purchaser shall be entitled to an order for repayment of his purchase-money, with or without interest as the Court may direct, against any person to whom it has been paid.

[S. 316.]

93. Where a sale of immovable property has become absolute, the Court shall grant a certificate specifying the property sold and the name of the person who at the time of sale is declared to be the purchaser. Such certificate shall bear date the day on which the sale became absolute.

94. Where the immovable property sold is in the occupancy of the judgment-debtor or of some person on his behalf or of some person claiming under a title created by the judgment-debtor subsequently to the attachment of such property and a certificate in respect thereof has been granted under rule 93, the Court shall, on the application of the purchaser made within three years from the date of the certificate, order delivery to be made by putting such purchaser or any person whom he may appoint to receive delivery on his behalf in possession of the property, and, if need be, by removing any person who refuses to vacate the same.

95. Where the property sold is in the occupancy of a tenant or other person entitled to occupy the same and a certificate in respect thereof has been granted under rule

93, the Court shall, on the application of the purchaser made within three years from the date of the certificate, order delivery to be made by affixing a copy of the certificate of sale in some conspicuous place on the property, and proclaiming to the occupant by beat of drum or other customary mode, at some convenient place, that the interest of the judgment-debtor has been transferred to the purchaser.

Resistance to execution.

96. (1) Where in the execution of a decree for the possession of property, the officer charged with the execution of the warrant is resisted or obstructed by any person, the decree-holder may apply to the Court at any time within one month from the date of such resistance or obstruction

(2) The Court shall fix a day for investigating the matter, and shall summon the party against whom the complaint is made to answer the same.

97. (1) Where the Court is satisfied that the obstruction or resistance was occasioned by the judgment-debtor or by some other person at his instigation, the Court shall inquire into the matter, and make such order as it thinks fit.

(2) Where the Court is satisfied that the resistance or obstruction was without any just cause and that the complainant is still resisted or obstructed in obtaining possession of the property by the judgment-debtor, or by some other person at his instigation, the Court may, at the instance of the decree-holder, order the judgment-debtor or such other person to be detained in the Civil prison for a term which may extend to thirty days, and further direct that the decree-holder be put into the possession of the property.

98. Where the Court is satisfied that the resistance or obstruction has been occasioned by any person (other than the judgment-debtor) claiming in good faith to be in possession of the property on his own account or on account of some person other than the judgment-debtor, the Court shall proceed to investigate the matter and shall make such order as it thinks fit.

99. (1) Where any person other than the judgment-debtor is dispossessed of property in execution of a decree and disputes the right of the decree-holder to dispossess him of such property under the decree on the ground that the property was in his possession on his own account or on account of some person other than the judgment-debtor, and that it was not comprised in the decree, or that, if it was comprised in the decree, he was not a party to the suit in which the decree was passed, he may apply to the Court.

(2) Where it appears to the Court that there is probable cause for making the application, the Court shall proceed to investigate the matter in controversy, and, if it finds that any of the grounds of dispute mentioned in sub-rule (1) exists, it shall make an order that the applicant recover possession of the property and, if it does not find as aforesaid, it shall dismiss the application.

(3) In hearing applications under this rule, the Court shall confine itself to the grounds of dispute mentioned in sub-rule (1).

The Code of Civil Procedure Bill.(The First Schedule.)(Orders XXI, XXII.)

100. Nothing in rule 98 or rule 99 shall be deemed to apply to a person to whom the judgment-debtor has transferred the property after the institution of the suit in which the decree is passed.

Transfer of property by the judgment-debtor after institution of suit.

101. Where the purchaser of any immoveable property sold in execution of a decree is resisted or obstructed by the judgment-debtor or by some other person at the instigation of the judgment-debtor in obtaining possession of the property, the provision relating to resistance or obstruction to a decree-holder in obtaining possession of the property adjudged to him shall, so far as they are applicable, be deemed to apply.

Obstruction to possession by judgment-debtor or at his instigation.

102. Where the purchaser of any such property is resisted or obstructed by any person (other than the judgment-debtor) claiming in good faith a right to the present possession thereof, or where, in delivering possession thereof, any such person is dispossessed, the Court, on the complaint of the purchaser or the person so dispossessed, shall inquire into the matter of the resistance, obstruction or dispossession, as the case may be, and make such order thereon as it thinks fit.

103. The person against whom an order is made under rule 98, rule 99 or rule 102 may institute a suit to establish the right which he claims to the present possession of the property, but, subject to the result of such suit (if any), the order so made shall be conclusive.

Saving of suit to establish right.

ORDER XXII.

Death, Marriage and Insolvency of Parties.

1. The death of a plaintiff or defendant shall not cause the suit to abate if the party's death, if right to sue survives.

2. Where there are more plaintiffs or defendants than one, and any of them dies, and where the right to sue survives to the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs alone, or against the surviving defendant or defendants alone, the Court shall cause an entry to that effect to be made on the record, and the suit shall proceed at the instance of the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs, or against the surviving defendant or defendants.

3. Where there are more plaintiffs than one, and any of them dies, and where the right to sue does not survive to the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs alone, but survives to him or them and the legal representative of the deceased plaintiff jointly, the Court, on an application made in that behalf, may cause the legal representative (if any) of the deceased plaintiff to be made a party, and shall thereupon cause an entry to that effect to be made on the record and proceed with the suit.

4. In case of the death of a sole plaintiff or sole defendant, the legal representative of the deceased may, where the right to sue survives, apply to the Court to have his name entered on the record in place of the deceased plaintiff, and the Court shall thereupon enter his name and proceed with the suit.

5. Where within the time limited by law no application under the last preceding rule is made to the Court by any person claiming to be the legal representative of the deceased plaintiff, the Court may make an order declaring that the suit has abated, and, on the application of the defendant, award to him the costs which he may have incurred in defending the suit, to be recovered from the estate of the deceased plaintiff; or the Court may, on the application of the defendant, and upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, make an order for bringing in the legal representative of the deceased plaintiff, and for proceeding with the suit in order to a final determination of the matter in dispute.

6. Where any dispute arises as to who is the legal representative of a deceased plaintiff, the Court shall determine who shall be deemed to be such legal representative for the purpose of prosecuting the suit.

7. (1) Where one of two or more defendants dies and the right to sue does not survive against the surviving defendant, or of sole, or defendant or defendants alone, sole surviving defendant, or a sole defendant or sole surviving defendant dies and the right to sue survives, the plaintiff may make an application to the Court specifying the name, description, and place of residence of any person whom he alleges to be the legal representative of the deceased defendant, and whom he desires to be made the defendant in his stead.

(2) The Court shall thereupon enter the name of such representative on the record in the place of such defendant, and shall issue a summons to such representative to appear on a day to be therein mentioned to defend the suit, and the case shall thereupon proceed in the same manner as if such representative had originally been made a defendant and had been a party to the former proceedings in the suit.

Provided that the person so made a defendant may object that he is not the legal representative of the deceased defendant, or may make any defence appropriate to his character as such representative.

(3) Where the plaintiff fails to make such application within the period prescribed therefor, an order shall be made declaring that the suit has abated as against the deceased defendant.

(4) The legal representative of a deceased defendant may apply to have himself made a defendant in place of the deceased defendant, and the provisions of this rule, so far as they are applicable, shall apply to the application and to the proceedings and consequences ensuing thereon.

8. Notwithstanding anything contained in the foregoing rules, whether the cause of action survives or not, there shall be no abatement by reason of the death of either party between the conclusion of the hearing and the pronouncing of the judgment, but judgment may in such case be pronounced notwithstanding the death, and may be antedated accordingly.

9. (1) The marriage of a female plaintiff or defendant shall not cause the suit to abate, but the suit may notwithstanding be proceeded with to judgment, and, where the decree is against a female defendant, it may be executed against her alone.

(2) Where the husband is by law liable for the debts of his wife, the decree may, with the permission of the Court, be executed against the husband also; and, in case of judgment for the wife, execution of the decree may, with such permission, be issued upon the application of the husband, where the husband is by law entitled to the subject-matter of the decree.

10. (1) The insolvency of a plaintiff in any suit in which the assignee or receiver might maintain for the benefit of his creditors, shall not cause the suit to abate, unless such assignee or receiver declines to continue the suit or unless for any special reason the Court otherwise directs to give security for the costs thereof within such time as the Court may direct.

The Code of Civil Procedure Bill.(The First Schedule.)(Orders XXII—XXIV.)

(2) Where the assignee or receiver neglects or refuses to continue the suit and to give such security within the time so ordered, the defendant may apply for the dismissal of the suit on the ground of the plaintiff's insolvency, and the Court may make an order dismissing the suit and awarding to the defendant the costs which he has incurred in defending the same to be proved as a debt against the plaintiff's estate.

II. (1) Where a suit abates or is dismissed under this Order, no fresh suit shall be brought on the same cause of action.

(2) The plaintiff or the person claiming to be the legal representative of a deceased plaintiff or the assignee or the receiver in the case of an insolvent plaintiff may apply for an order to set aside the abatement or dismissal; and, if it is proved that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from continuing the suit, the Court shall set aside the abatement or dismissal upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit.

15. The provisions of paragraph 2 of section 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, shall apply to applications under this Order.

ORDER XXIII.

Withdrawal and Adjustment of Suits.

1. (1) At any time after the institution of a suit the plaintiff may, as against all or any of the defendants, withdraw his suit or abandon part of his claim.

(2) Where the Court is satisfied—

(a) that a suit must fail by reason of some formal defect, or

(b) that there are other sufficient grounds for allowing the plaintiff to institute a fresh suit for the subject-matter of a suit or part of a claim, it may, on such terms as it thinks fit, grant the plaintiff permission to withdraw from such suit or abandon such part of a claim with liberty to institute a fresh suit in respect of such subject-matter of such suit or such part of a claim.

(3) Where the plaintiff withdraws from a suit, or abandons a part of a claim, without the permission referred to in sub-rule (2), he shall be liable for such costs as the Court may award and shall be precluded from instituting any fresh suit in respect of such subject-matter or such part of the claim.

(4) Nothing in this rule shall be deemed to authorize the Court to permit one of several plaintiffs to withdraw without the consent of the others.

2. In any fresh suit instituted on permission granted under the last preceding rule, the plaintiff shall be bound by the law of limitation in the same manner as if the first suit had not been instituted.

3. Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that a suit has been adjusted wholly or in part by any lawful agreement or compromise, or where the defendant satisfies the plaintiff in respect of the whole or any part of the subject-matter of the suit, the Court shall order such agreement, compromise or satisfaction to be recorded, and shall pass a decree in accordance therewith so far as it relates to the suit, and such decree shall be conclusive so far as relates to so much of the subject-matter of the suit as is dealt with by the agreement, compromise or satisfaction.

4. Nothing in this Order shall apply to any proceedings in execution of a decree.

ORDER XXIV.

Payment into Court.

1. The defendant in any suit to recover a debt or damages may, at any stage of the suit, deposit in Court such sum of money as he considers a satisfaction in full of the claim.

2. Notice in writing of the deposit shall be given through the Court by the defendant to the plaintiff, and the amount of the deposit shall (unless the Court otherwise directs) be paid to the plaintiff on his application.

3. No interest shall be allowed to the plaintiff on any sum deposited by the defendant from the date of the receipt of such notice, whether the sum deposited is in full of the claim or falls short thereof.

4. (1) Where the plaintiff accepts such amount as satisfaction in part only of his claim, he may prosecute his suit for the balance; and, if the Court decides that the deposit by the defendant was a full satisfaction of the plaintiff's claim, the plaintiff shall pay the costs of the suit incurred after the deposit and the costs incurred previous thereto, so far as they were caused by excess in the plaintiff's claim.

(2) Where the plaintiff accepts such amount as satisfaction in full of his claim, he shall present to the Court a statement to that effect, and such statement shall be filed and the Court shall pronounce judgment accordingly; and, in directing by whom the costs of each party are to be paid, the Court shall consider which of the parties is most to blame for the litigation.

Illustrations.

(a) A owes B Rs. 100. B sues A for the amount, having made no demand for payment and having no reason to believe that the delay caused by making a demand would place him at a disadvantage. On the plaint being filed, A pays the money into Court. B accepts it in full satisfaction of his claim, but the Court should not allow him any costs, the litigation being presumably groundless on his part.

(b) B sues A under the circumstances mentioned in illustration (a). On the plaint being filed, A disputes the claim. Afterwards A pays the money into Court. B accepts it in full satisfaction of his claim. The Court should also give B his costs of suit, A's conduct having shown that the litigation was necessary.

(c) A owes B Rs. 100, and is willing to pay him that sum without suit. B claims Rs. 150 and sues A for that amount. On the plaint being filed A pays Rs. 100 into Court and disputes only his liability to pay the remaining Rs. 50. B accepts the Rs. 100 in full satisfaction of his claim. The Court should order him to pay A's costs.

ORDER XXV.

Security for Costs.

1. (1) Where, at the institution or at any subsequent stage of a suit, it appears to the Court that a sole plaintiff is, or plaintiff at any stage of suit (when there are more plaintiffs than one) that all the plaintiffs are, residing out of British India, and that such plaintiff does not, or that no one of such plaintiffs does, possess any sufficient immoveable property within British India other than the property in suit, the Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of any defendant, order the plaintiff or plaintiffs, within a time fixed by it, to give security for the payment of all costs incurred and likely to be incurred by any defendant.
- (2) Whoever leaves British India under such circumstances as to afford reasonable probability that he will not be forthcoming whenever he may be called upon to pay costs shall be deemed to be residing out of British India within the meaning of sub-rule (1).
- (3) On the application of any defendant in a suit for the payment of money, in which the plaintiff is a woman, the Court may at any stage of the suit make a like order if it is satisfied that such plaintiff does not possess any sufficient immoveable property within British India.
2. (1) In the event of such security not being furnished within the time fixed under rule 1, the Court shall make an order dismissing the suit unless the plaintiff or plaintiffs be permitted to withdraw therefrom under the provisions of rule 1 of Order XXIII.
- (2) Where a suit is dismissed under this rule, the plaintiff may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside, and, if it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from furnishing the security within the time allowed, the Court shall set aside the dismissal upon such terms as to security, costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.
- (3) The dismissal shall not be set aside unless notice of such application has been served on the defendant.

ORDER XXVI.

Commissions.

Commissions to examine witnesses.

1. Any Court may in any suit issue a commission for the examination on interrogatories or otherwise of any person resident within the local limits of its jurisdiction who is exempted under this Code from attending the Court or who is from sickness or infirmity unable to attend it.
2. An order for the issue of a commission for the examination of a witness may be made by the Court either of its own motion or on affidavit or otherwise, of any party to the suit or of the witness to be examined.

(3) The Court on issuing any commission under this rule shall direct whether the commission shall be returned to itself or to any subordinate Court.

5. Where any Court to which application is made for the issue of a commission for the examination of a person residing at any place not within British India is satisfied that the evidence of such person is necessary, the Court may issue such commission or a letter of request.

6. Every Court receiving a commission for the examination of any person shall examine him or cause him to be examined pursuant thereto.

7. Where a commission has been duly executed, it shall be returned, together with the evidence taken under it, to the Court from which it was issued, unless the order for issuing the commission has otherwise directed, in which case the commission shall be returned in terms of such order; and the commission and the return thereto and the evidence taken under it shall (subject to the provisions of the next following rule) form part of the record of the suit.

8. Evidence taken under a commission shall not be read as evidence in the suit without the consent of the party against whom the same is offered, unless—

(a) the person who gave the evidence is beyond the jurisdiction of the Court, or dead or unable from sickness or infirmity to attend to be personally examined, or exempted from personal appearance in Court, or is a civil or military officer of the Government who cannot, in the opinion of the Court, attend without detriment to the public service, or

(b) the Court in its discretion dispenses with the proof of any of the circumstances mentioned in clause (a), and authorizes the evidence of any person being read as evidence in the suit, notwithstanding proof that the cause for taking such evidence by commission has ceased at the time of reading the same.

Commissions for local investigations.

9. In any suit in which the Court deems a local Commission to make investigation to be requisite or proper for the purpose of elucidating any matter in dispute, or of ascertaining the market-value of any property, or the amount of any mesne profits or damages or annual net profits, the Court may issue a commission to such person as it thinks fit directing him to make such investigation and to report thereon to the Court:

Provided that, where the Local Government has made rules as to the persons to whom such commission shall be issued, the Court shall be bound by such rules.

10. (1) The Commissioner, after such local inspection as he deems necessary and after reducing to writing the evidence taken by him, shall return such evidence, together with his report in writing signed by him, to the Court.

The Code of Civil Procedure Bill.(The First Schedule.)(Orders XXVI, XXVII.)

12. (2) The proceedings and report (if any) of the Commissioner, shall be received in evidence in the suit, unless the Court has reason to be dissatisfied with them, in which case the Court shall direct such further inquiry as it shall think fit.

13. Where a preliminary decree for partition has been passed, the Court may, in any case not provided for by section 54, issue a commission to such person as it thinks fit to make the partition or separation according to the rights as declared in such decree.

[S. 396, second and third paras.]

14. (1) The Commissioner shall, after such inquiry as may be necessary, divide the property into as many shares as may be directed by the order under which the commission was issued, and shall allot such shares to the parties, and may, if authorized thereto by the said order, award sums to be paid for the purpose of equalizing the value of the shares.

(2) The Commissioner shall then prepare and sign a report or (where the commission was issued to more than one person and they cannot agree) separate reports appointing the share of each party and distinguishing each share (if so directed by the said order) by metes and bounds. Such report or reports shall be annexed to the commission and transmitted to the Court; and the Court, after hearing any objections which the parties may make to the report or reports, shall confirm, vary or set aside the same.

(3) Where the Court confirms or varies the report or reports it shall pass a decree in accordance with the same as confirmed or varied; but where the Court sets aside the report or reports it shall either issue a new commission or make such other order as it shall think fit.

(2) A Commissioner may apply to any Court (not being a High Court) within the local limits of whose jurisdiction a witness resides for the issue of any process which he may find it necessary to issue to or against such witness, and such Court may, in its discretion, issue such process as it considers reasonable and proper.

(2) Where the next friend is not a guardian appointed or declared by an authority competent in this behalf, and an application is made by a guardian so appointed or declared, who desires to be himself appointed in the place of the next friend, the Court shall remove the next friend unless it considers, for reasons to be recorded by it, that the guardian ought not to be appointed the next friend of the minor, and shall thereupon appoint the applicant to be next friend in his place upon such terms as to the costs already incurred in the suit as it thinks fit.

(5) Any application under this rule may be made ex parte: but no order discharging a next friend and permitting a minor plaintiff to proceed in his own name shall be made without notice to the next friend.

13. (1) Where a minor co-plaintiff on attaining majority desires to repudiate the suit, he shall apply to have his name struck out as co-plaintiff; and the Court, if it finds that he is not a necessary party, shall dismiss him from the suit on such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit.

ORDER XXXIII.

Suits by Paubers.

The Code of Civil Procedure Bill.(The First Schedule.)(Order XXXIII.)

Explanation.—A person is a "pauper" when he is not possessed of sufficient means to enable him to pay the fee prescribed by law for the plaint in such suit, or, where no such fee is prescribed, when he is not entitled to property worth one hundred rupees other than his necessary wearing-apparel and the subject-matter of the suit.

2. Every application for permission to sue as a pauper shall contain the particulars required in regard to plaints in suits: a schedule of any moveable or immoveable property belonging to the applicant, with the estimated value thereof, shall be annexed thereto; and it shall be signed and verified in the manner prescribed for the signing and verification of pleadings.

[S. 404.]

3. Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules, the application shall be presented to the Court by the applicant in person, unless he is exempted from appearing in Court, in which case the application may be presented by an authorized agent who can answer all material questions relating to the application, and who may be examined in the same manner as the party represented by him might have been examined had such party attended in person.

[S. 406.]

4. (1) Where the application is in proper form and duly presented, the Court may, if it thinks fit, examine the applicant, or his agent when the applicant is allowed to appear by agent, regarding the merits of the claim and the property of the applicant.

(2) Where the application is presented by an agent, the Court may, if it thinks fit, order that the applicant be examined by a commission in the manner in which the examination of an absent witness may be taken.

5. The Court shall reject an application for permission to sue as a pauper—

[S. 405.]

- (a) where it is not framed and presented in the manner prescribed by rules 2 and 3, or
- (b) where the applicant is not a pauper, or
- (c) where he has, within two months next before the presentation of the application, disposed of any property fraudulently or in order to be able to apply for permission to sue as a pauper, or
- (d) where his allegations do not show a cause of action, or
- (e) where he has entered into any agreement with reference to the subject-matter of the proposed suit under which any other person has obtained an interest in such subject-matter.

[S. 418.]

6. Where the Court sees no reason to reject the application on any of the grounds stated in rule 5, it shall fix a day (of which at least ten days' clear notice shall be given to the opposite party and the Government pleader) for receiving such evidence as the applicant may adduce in proof of his pauperism, and for hearing any evidence which may be adduced in disproof thereof.

[S. 409.]

7. (1) On the day so fixed or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, the Court shall examine the witnesses (if any) produced by either party, and may examine the applicant or his agent, and shall make a memorandum of the substance of their evidence.

(2) The Court shall also hear any argument which the parties may desire to offer on the question whether, on the face of the application and of the evidence (if any) taken by the Court as herein provided, the applicant is or is not subject to any of the prohibitions specified in rule 5.

(3) The Court shall then either allow or refuse to allow the applicant to sue as a pauper.

8. Where the application is granted, it shall be numbered and registered, and shall be deemed the plaint in the suit, and the suit shall proceed in all other respects as a suit instituted in the ordinary manner, except that the plaintiff shall not be liable to pay any court-fee (other than fees payable for service of process) in respect of any petition, appointment of a pleader or other proceeding connected with the suit.

9. The Court may, on the application of the defendant, or of the Government Dispaupering. pleader, of which seven days' clear notice in writing has been given to the plaintiff, order the plaintiff to be dispaupered—

- (a) if he is guilty of vexatious or improper conduct in the course of the suit;
- (b) if it appears that his means are such that he ought not to continue to sue as a pauper; or
- (c) if he has entered into any agreement with reference to the subject-matter of the suit, under which any other person has obtained an interest in such subject-matter.

10. Where the plaintiff succeeds in the suit, the Court shall calculate the amount of court-fees which would have been paid by the plaintiff if he had not been permitted to sue as a pauper; such amount shall be recoverable by the Government from any party ordered by the decree to pay the same, and shall be a first charge on the subject-matter of the suit.

11. Where the plaintiff fails in the suit or is dispaupered, or where the suit is withdrawn or dismissed,—

- (a) because the summons for the defendant to appear and answer has not been served upon him in consequence of the failure of the plaintiff to pay the court-fee or postal charges (if any) chargeable or payable for such service, or
- (b) because the plaintiff does not appear when the suit is called on for hearing, the Court shall order the plaintiff, or any person added as a co-plaintiff to the suit, to pay the court-fees which would have been paid by the plaintiff if he had not been permitted to sue as a pauper.

12. The Government shall have the right at any time to apply to the Court to make an order for the payment of court-fees under rule 10 or rule 11.

13. All matters arising between the Government and any party to the suit under rule 10, rule 11 or rule 12 shall be deemed to be questions arising between the parties to the suit within the meaning of section 47.

14. Where an order is made under rule 10, rule 11 or rule 12, the Court shall forthwith cause a copy of the decree to be forwarded to the Collector.

15. An order refusing to allow the applicant to sue as a pauper shall be a bar to any subsequent application of the like nature by him in respect of the same right to sue; but the applicant shall be at liberty to institute a suit in the ordinary manner in respect of such right, provided that he first pays the costs (if any) incurred by the Government or by the opposite party in opposing his application for leave to sue as a pauper.

16. The costs of an application for permission to sue as a pauper and of an inquiry into pauperism shall be costs in the suit.

ORDER XXXIV.

Suits relating to Mortgages of Immoveable Property.

[IV, 1882,
s. 85.]

1. Subject to the provisions of this Code, all persons having an interest either in the mortgage-security or in the right of redemption shall be joined as parties to any suit relating to the mortgage, and the decree shall not bind any person not so joined.

Explanation.—A puisne mortgagee may sue for foreclosure or sale without making the prior mortgagee a party to the suit; and a prior mortgagee need not be joined in a suit to redeem a subsequent mortgage.

[Ib., s. 86.]

2. In a suit for foreclosure, if the plaintiff succeeds, the Court shall pass a decree ordering—

(a) that an account be taken of what will be due to the plaintiff for principal and interest on the mortgage, and for his costs of the suit (if any) awarded to him on the day next hereinafter referred to, or declaring the amount so due at the date of such decree;

(b) that, upon the defendant paying into Court the amount so due on a day within six months from the date of declaring in Court the amount so due to be fixed by the Court, the plaintiff shall deliver up to the defendant, or to such person as he appoints, all documents in his possession or power relating to the mortgaged property, and shall (if necessary) re-transfer the property to the defendant free from the mortgage and from all incumbrances created by the plaintiff or any person claiming under him, or, where the plaintiff claims by derived title, by those under whom he claims, and shall also, if necessary, put the defendant into possession of the property, but

(c) that, if such payment is not made on or before the day to be fixed by the Court, the defendant shall be debarred from all right to redeem the property.

[Ib., s. 87.]

3. (1) Where, on or before the day fixed, the defendant pays into Court the amount declared due as aforesaid, together with such subsequent costs as are mentioned in rule 10, the plaintiff shall deliver up the documents and if so directed re-transfer the property in accordance with the terms of the decree, and the defendant shall, if necessary, be put into possession of the mortgaged property.

(2) Where such payment is not so made, the plaintiff may apply to the Court for a final decree that the defendant and all persons claiming through or under him be debarred from all right to redeem the mortgaged property, and the Court shall then pass such decree, and shall, if necessary, deliver possession of the property to the plaintiff:

Provided that the Court may, upon good cause shown and upon such terms (if any) as it thinks fit, from time to time postpone the day appointed for such payment.

(3) On the passing of a decree under sub-rule (2) the debt secured by the mortgage shall be deemed to be discharged.

[Ib., s. 88.]

4. (1) In a suit for sale, if the plaintiff succeeds, the Court shall pass a decree to the effect mentioned in clauses (a) and (b) of rule 2 and also directing that, in default of the defendant paying as therein mentioned, the mortgaged property or a sufficient part thereof be sold, and that the proceeds of the sale (after defraying thereout the expenses of the sale) be paid into Court and applied in payment of what is declared due to the plaintiff as aforesaid, together with subsequent interest and subsequent costs, and that the balance (if any) be paid to the defendant or other persons entitled to receive the same.

(2) In a suit for foreclosure, if the plaintiff succeeds and the mortgage is not a mortgage by conditional sale, the Court may, at the instance of the plaintiff or of any person interested either in the mortgage-money or in the right of redemption, pass a like decree (in lieu of a decree for foreclosure) on such terms as it thinks fit including the deposit in Court of a reasonable sum, fixed by the Court, to meet the expenses of sale and to secure the performance of the terms.

5. (a) Where on or before the day fixed the defendant pays into Court the amount declared due as aforesaid, together with such subsequent costs as are mentioned in rule 10, the plaintiff shall deliver up the documents and, if so directed, re-transfer the property in accordance with the terms of the decree, and the defendant shall, if necessary, be put into possession of the mortgaged property.

(2) Where such payment is not so made, the plaintiff or the defendant, as the case may be, may apply to the Court for a final decree for sale of the mortgaged property, and the Court shall then pass a decree that such property, or a sufficient part thereof, be sold, and that the proceeds of the sale be dealt with as is mentioned in rule 4.

(c) that, if such payment is not made on or before the day to be fixed by the Court, the plaintiff shall (unless the mortgage be simple or usufructuary) be debarred from all right to redeem the property or (unless the mortgage be by conditional sale) that the property be sold.

8. (1) Where, on or before the day fixed, the plaintiff pays into Court the amount declared due as aforesaid, together with such subsequent costs as are mentioned in rule 10, the defendant shall deliver up the documents and, if so directed, re-transfer the property in accordance with the terms of the decree, and the plaintiff shall, if necessary, be put into possession of the mortgaged property.

[IV. 1882, s. 94.] 10. In finally adjusting the amount to be paid to a mortgagee in case of a foreclosure or sale or redemption, the Court shall, unless the conduct of the mortgagee has been such as to disentitle him to costs, add to the mortgage-money such costs of suit as have been properly incurred by him since the decree for foreclosure or sale or redemption up to the time of actual payment.

[IV. 1882, s. 96.] 12. [1b., s. 97.]

13. (1) Such proceeds shall be brought into Court and applied as follows:—

the Court may by order grant a temporary injunction to restrain such act, or make such other order for the purpose of staying and preventing the wasting, damaging, alienation, sale, removal or disposition of the property as the Court thinks fit, until the disposal of the suit or until further orders.

2. (1) In any suit from committing a breach of contract or other injury of any kind, whether compensation is claimed in the suit or not, the plaintiff may, at any time after the commencement of the suit, and either before or after judgment, apply to the Court for a temporary injunction to restrain the defendant from committing the breach of contract or injury complained of, or any breach of contract or injury of a like kind arising out of the same contract or relating to the same property or right.

(3) In case of disobedience, or of breach of any such terms, the Court granting an injunction may order the property of the person guilty of such disobedience or breach to be attached and may also order such person to be detained in the civil prison for a term not exceeding six months, unless in the meantime the Court directs his release.

(4) No attachment under this rule shall remain in force for more than one year, at the end of which time, if the disobedience or breach continues, the property attached may be sold, and out of the proceeds the Court may award such compensation as it thinks fit, and shall pay the balance, if any, to the party entitled thereto.

3. The Court shall in all cases, except where it appears that the object of granting the injunction would be defeated by the delay, before granting an injunction, direct notice of the application for the same to be given to the opposite party.

4. Any order for an injunction may be discharged, or varied, or set aside by the Court, on application made thereto by any party dissatisfied with such order.

5. An injunction directed to a corporation is binding not only on the corporation itself, but also on all members and officers of the corporation whose personal action it seeks to restrain.

and the Court in its decree may award against the defaulter the amount so paid, with interest thereon at such rate as the Court thinks fit, or may charge the amount so paid, with interest thereon at such rate as the Court orders, in any adjustment of accounts which may be directed in the decree passed in the suit.

10. ## ORDER XLI.

Appeals from Original Decrees.

1. (1) Every appeal shall be preferred in the form of a memorandum signed by the appellant or his pleader and presented to the Court or to such officer as it appoints in this behalf. The memorandum shall be accompanied by a copy of the decree appealed from and (unless the Appellate Court dispenses therewith) of the judgment on which it is founded.

(2) The memorandum shall set forth, concisely and under distinct heads, the grounds of objection to the decree appealed from without any argument or narrative; and such grounds shall be numbered consecutively.

2. The appellant shall not, except by leave of the Court, urge or be heard in support of any ground of objection not set forth in the memorandum of appeal; but the Appellate Court, in deciding the appeal, shall not be confined to the grounds of objection set forth in the memorandum of appeal or taken by leave of the Court under this rule:

Provided that the Court shall not rest its decision on any other ground unless the party who may be adversely affected thereby has had a sufficient opportunity of contesting the case on that ground.

3. (1) Where the memorandum of appeal is not drawn up in the manner herebefore prescribed, it may be rejected, or be returned to the appellant for the purpose of being amended within a time to be fixed by the Court or be amended then and there.

(2) Where the Court rejects any memorandum, it shall record the reasons for such rejection.

(3) Where a memorandum of appeal is amended, the Judge, or such officer as he appoints in this behalf, shall sign or initial the amendment.

4. Where there are more plaintiffs or more defendants than one in a suit, and the decree appealed from proceeds on any ground common to all the plaintiffs or to all the defendants, any one of the plaintiffs or of the defendants may appeal from the whole decree, and thereupon the Appellate Court may reverse or modify the decree in favour of all the plaintiffs or defendants, as the case may be.

Stay of proceedings in execution.

5. (1) An appeal shall not operate as a stay of proceedings under a decree or order appealed from except so far as the Appellate Court may order, nor shall execution of a decree be stayed by reason only of an appeal having been preferred from the decree; but the Appellate Court may for sufficient cause order stay of execution of such decree.

(2) Where an application is made for stay of execution of an appealable decree before the expiration of the time allowed for appealing therefrom, the Court which passed the decree may on sufficient cause being shown order the execution to be stayed:

Provided that no order shall be made under this rule, unless the Court making it is satisfied—

(a) that substantial loss may result to the party applying for stay of execution unless the order is made;

(b) that the application has been made without unreasonable delay; and

(c) that security has been given by the applicant for the due performance of such decree or order as may ultimately be binding upon him.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (2), the Court may make an ex parte order for stay of execution pending the hearing of the application.

6. (2) Such cross-objection shall be in the form of a memorandum, and the provisions of rule 1, so far as they relate to the form and contents of the memorandum of appeal, shall apply thereto.

[S. 565.] 25. Where the evidence upon the record is sufficient to enable the Appellate Court to pronounce judgment, the Appellate Court may, after resettling the issues, if necessary, finally determine the suit, notwithstanding that the judgment of the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred has proceeded wholly upon some ground other than that on which the Appellate Court proceeds.

[S. 566.] 26. Where the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred has omitted to frame or try any issue, or to determine any question of fact, which appears to the Appellate Court essential to the right decision of the suit upon the merits, the Appellate Court may, if necessary, frame issues, and refer the same for trial to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, and in such case shall direct such Court to take the additional evidence required; and such Court shall proceed to try such issues, and shall return the evidence to the Appellate Court together with its finding thereon and the reasons therefor.

[S. 567.] 27. (1) Such evidence and findings shall form part of the record in the suit; and either party may, within a time to be fixed by the Appellate Court, present a memorandum of objections to any finding.

EXECUTION OF DECREES BY COLLECTORS.

- 321.] Powers of Collector. 1. Where the execution of a decree has been transferred to the Collector under section 68, he may—

  - (b) raise the amount of the decree by letting in perpetuity, or for a term, on payment of a premium, or by mortgaging, the whole or any part of the property ordered to be sold ; or
  - (c) sell the property ordered to be sold or so much thereof as may be necessary.
3. 322.] 2. Where the execution of a decree, not being a decree ordering the sale of immoveable property in pursuance of a contract specifically affecting the same, but being a decree for the payment of money in satisfaction of which the Court has ordered the sale of immoveable property, has been so transferred, the Collector, if, after such inquiry as he thinks necessary, he has reason to believe that all the liabilities of the judgment-debtor can be discharged without a sale of the whole of his available immoveable property, may proceed as hereinafter provided.
- 223A.] 3. (1) In any such case as is referred to in paragraph 2, the Collector shall publish a notice, allowing a period of sixty days from the date of its publication for compliance and calling upon—
- Notice to be given to decree-holders and to persons having claims on property.
- (a) every person holding a decree for the payment of money against the judgment-debtor capable of execution by sale of his immoveable property and which such decree-holder desires to have so executed, and every holder of a decree for the payment of money in execution of which proceedings for the sale of such property are pending, to produce before the Collector a copy of the decree, and a certificate from the Court which passed or is executing the same, declaring the amount recoverable thereunder ;
  - (b) every person having any claim on the said property to submit to the Collector a statement of such claim, and to produce the documents (if any) by which it is evidenced.
- (2) Such notice shall be published by being affixed on a conspicuous part of the court-house of the Court which made the original order for sale, and in such other places (if any) as the Collector thinks fit ; and where the address of any such decree-holder or claimant is known, a copy of the notice shall be sent to him by post or otherwise.
5. 322B ] 4. (1) Upon the expiration of the said period, the Collector shall appoint a day for hearing any representations which the judgment-debtor and the decree-holders or claimants (if any) may desire to make, and for holding such inquiry as he may deem necessary for informing himself as to the nature and extent of such decrees and claims and of the judgment-debtor's immoveable property, and may, from time to time, adjourn such hearing and inquiry.
- Amount of decrees for payment of money to be ascertained, and immoveable property available for their satisfaction.
- (2) Where there is no dispute as to the fact or extent of the liability of the judgment-debtor to any of the decrees or claims of which the Collector is informed, or as to the relative priorities of such decrees or claims, or as to the liability of any such property for the satisfaction of such decrees or claims, the Collector shall draw up a statement, specifying the amount to be recovered for the discharge of such decrees the order in which such decrees and claims are to be satisfied, and the immoveable property available for that purpose.
- (3) Where any such dispute arises, the Collector shall refer the same, with a statement thereof and his own opinion thereon, to the Court which made the original order for sale, and shall, pending the reference, stay proceedings relating to the subject thereof. The Court shall dispose of the dispute if the matter thereof is within its jurisdiction, or transmit the case to a competent Court for disposal, and the final decision shall be communicated to the Collector, who shall then draw up a statement as above provided in accordance with such decision.
- S. 322 C.] 5. The Collector may, instead of himself issuing the notices and holding the inquiry required by paragraphs 3 and 4, draw up a statement specifying the circumstances of the judgment-debtor and of his immoveable property so far as they are known to the Collector or appear in the records of his office, and forward such statement to the District Court ; and such Court shall thereupon issue the notices, hold the inquiry and draw up the statement required by paragraphs 3 and 4 and transmit such statement to the Collector.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

---

The Bill is sufficiently explained in the Report of the Special Committee printed below.

H. ERLE RICHARDS.

Simla, 3rd September 1907.

Report of the Special Committee appointed to consider the amendment of the Civil Procedure Code.

We have the honour to present this report on the proposals to amend the Code of Civil Procedure which have been submitted for our consideration by the Government of India and, annexed to it, a draft Bill amended by us. A detailed account of the alterations introduced in the Bill will be found in the Notes on Clauses which form the second part of this Report, but we desire by way of preface to make some observations of a general character on the defects in the existing law which appear to us to call for reform and on the more important of those alterations.

1. The Code of Civil Procedure of 1882 has been in force for 25 years and the experience of those years has shown that the general lines on which it proceeds are sound. The matters in which it has proved defective are for the most part matters of detail, and they arise, as it seems to us, mainly from the fact that it is impossible to frame a fixed and rigid Code in such a manner as to sufficiently meet the varying needs of an area so diversified as that to which the Code applies. In our opinion it is essential that there should be some machinery to enable variations to be introduced in procedure to meet the different requirements of different localities as well as to enable defects to be remedied as they are discovered without resort to the tardy process of legislation. We propose to make provision for these purposes by a re-arrangement of the Code. We recommend that matters of mere machinery should be relegated to rules capable of alteration by each High Court, subject to certain checks, and that those provisions only should be retained in the body of the Code in which some degree of permanence and uniformity is desirable. This re-arrangement is in accordance with precedent and possesses advantages so obvious that it is needless to enlarge upon them.

2. The objection—and as it appears to us the only objection of substance—that can be urged against this proposal is that until the scheme of distribution has become familiar to those who have to administer the Act the change may cause some confusion and the familiar numerical references to the present sections will no longer apply. We are sensible that some inconvenience must arise from this cause in the first instance, but this is but a small disadvantage in comparison with the advantages to be obtained by the change, and we cannot think that anyone will seriously contend that such a slight and temporary drawback should stand in the way of a reform which appears to us in other respects to be wholly beneficial.

3. The adoption of this principle has necessarily involved a departure from the arrangement of the present Code, but in other respects we have advisedly adhered as closely as possible to the existing language, the meaning of which is now well understood by Courts and by practitioners. Speaking generally, it may be said that we have only departed from the phraseology of the Code where experience has suggested improvements or competent authority has called for some change. We have refrained from altering the wording merely because it might be capable of improvement: for in any change, even of a verbal character, there is a risk of opening a door to fresh litigation. In the amendments that we have introduced we have endeavoured to state general rules of procedure rather than to provide in detail for every possible contingency; for we hold it to be a sound view that excessive elaboration of details of procedure tends to cramp the actions of the Court and in consequence to encourage technicalities. For this reason we have made no attempt to embody in the Code a digest of the very numerous decisions on the existing sections: we have made amendments to meet case law only on points on which there is a conflict of authority. And in this connection we desire to point out that at the present time there is even less justification for the enactment of elaborate provisions in regard to procedure than at the time when the Code of 1882 was passed. Since then the standard of legal efficiency in the mofussil has been materially raised, and the principles of procedure are now so well understood that the Courts may be trusted to apply them intelligently in cases for which no provision may be made in terms.

But although we have made the present Code the basis of our draft, we have carefully examined the Bill settled by the Select Committee in 1903, and we desire to express our acknowledgments to that Committee for the store of information it contains, and for the materials collected in their Report.

Apart from the re-arrangement to which reference has been made we have not introduced many changes of a radical character into the Code.

4. The general nature of some of the amendments we recommend may be conveniently illustrated by a brief examination of the extent to which the various stages of a suit will be affected by them.

A. To begin with it is hoped that the multiplicity of suits will be further curtailed by the new provisions we have inserted to remove limitations which we regard as needless on the comprehensiveness of a suit, and by the wider powers of amendment vested in the Courts under the Bill. An adequate check is provided by the power of a Court to interfere where embarrassment is likely to result.

B. Increased facilities have been given for the service of process to which further reference is made in the Notes on Clauses. It is hoped that in the gradual introduction of service by post may be found a solution of one of the principal defects in our legal system.

C. In our opinion it is most necessary that litigants in this country should come to trial with all issues clearly defined, and that cases should not be expanded or grounds shifted without reference to the true facts. For this purpose we think that the present system of pleadings in the mofussil, which is notoriously lax, should be improved, and we have incorporated in the rules an Order on pleadings, which it is hoped will lead to sounder and fairer methods of arriving at the real points in dispute. The forms have been revised and we hope that they will be brought into more general use in the mofussil.

We have not been able within the time at our disposal to make these forms, or the other forms in the Appendix to Schedule I, complete : but this is a matter of detail which can be further considered before the Bill is passed into law.

D. It is not possible to secure expedition in the disposal of suits, unless the questions of fact on which there is a real contest are narrowed down as far as possible. As a step towards this, we have incorporated in the rules an Order in which provision is made for the admission not only of documents, but also of facts. It must be left to litigants and their advisers to make adequate use of this order : but it is hoped that the Courts will encourage the use of it, since it certainly affords a means whereby the two principal evils of litigation, delay and expense, can be materially diminished.

E. We attach much importance to a proper use being made by Courts in the mofussil of the procedure prescribed for the first hearing. The Code as it stands makes provision for the examination of parties by the Court, and we have altered the language so as to compel the production of documents at the first hearing. In our opinion this will act as a substantial check on the fabrication of documentary evidence.

F. The provisions relating to the hearing of suits do not call for material alteration, but we have thought it well to provide expressly for the cases where a party dies between conclusion of the hearing and delivery of judgment. It would obviously be wrong that such an accident should in any way interfere with the disposal of the case, and we have therefore inserted a provision to enable judgment to be pronounced notwithstanding the death.

G. A change of importance has been made in regard to decrees. In the first place, we have inserted an express provision recognizing the distinction between preliminary and final decrees. We hope in this way to afford facilities for checking the delay that now results from the objectionable practice of leaving for determination in execution questions which should be decided by the decree. This change should ensure the more expeditious disposal of a class of suits which at present are conspicuous for the delay to which they give rise. Another amendment of importance which we have introduced is in regard to mortgage-suits. These are very numerous and involve complicated questions of law. Hitherto some confusion has been occasioned by the co-existence of the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act and of the Code in regard to execution in mortgage-suits. We think that the provisions regulating this matter should be dealt with in their entirety in the Code, and we have therefore introduced rules in Order XXXIV to give effect to our view. We propose that the sections of the Transfer of Property Act affected by this change should be repealed. We desire to call the attention of those Provinces to which that Act does not apply to the effect of these changes.

In our opinion it is expedient to give greater assistance to the Courts in the framing of decrees. The importance of this branch of procedure cannot be over-rated ; it is surrounded by difficulties which are a fruitful source of error and consequently of litigation. We have amplified the provisions of the Code to meet this defect, and have introduced some forms which can be adapted to meet the requirements of individual cases. We think that further forms might be added with advantage before the Bill becomes law.

H. Amongst other matters we have removed limitations which at present exist on the power of appointing Receivers, and have conferred a power to appoint Receivers on Subordinate Courts.

5. Execution.—The subject of execution is, perhaps, one of the most difficult with which we have had to deal. The present system, in the mofussil at any rate, tends to excessive delay and affords facilities for defeating the claims of creditors. At the same time the creditor often has only himself to blame, owing to his own laches in prosecuting his rights. In the Presidency Towns the same objections cannot be fairly raised; the system works well; whilst, in the mofussil, the difficulties arise not so much from the machinery itself, as from the defective manner in which it is worked. One of the most fruitful sources of litigation is the setting aside of execution sales, on the ground of irregularity in the publication of the sale proclamation. It is notorious that in many of these cases the Court's officer, either through negligence or dishonesty, has not duly published the proclamation, but it is impossible to deal with such cases by any provision in a Code. After a most careful consideration of the subject, we have not seen our way to any very drastic changes in the present system. We have found ourselves unable to accept the somewhat far reaching proposal of the Committee of 1902 in relation to the execution of decrees by precept: but we are so far in accord with the view expressed by that Committee as to have been able to insert in the Bill a clause which enables the Court which passed the decree to issue a precept to any other Court to attach property of the judgment-debtor, pending execution in the ordinary course. Beyond this we have felt we could not safely go.

We anticipate that there will be a substantial saving of time, and consequent expense, from the provision requiring that mesne profits shall be ascertained by the Court under the decree itself, and not as now in execution proceedings.

Clause 53 has been introduced to settle a long mooted point upon which there is much diversity of judicial opinion, as to whether or not questions as to the liability of ancestral property in the hands of a son or other descendant to whom it has come otherwise than by descent for the payment of the debt for which the decree was passed, can be determined under clause 47 of the present Bill, corresponding with section 244 of the existing Code. We think they should be.

Other amendments deserving notice relate to (1) the power to break open the outer door of the judgment-debtor's dwelling house; (2) the date from which the purchaser's title accrues; (3) oral application for immediate execution; (4) the discretion of the Court in the execution of decrees for the restitution of conjugal rights; (5) execution against partnership property; (6) extended facilities for attaching salaries; and (7) powers to decree-holders to carry decrees into effect at the expense of the judgment-debtor.

We regard the changes made in relation to execution as calculated to materially assist the judgment-creditor in recovering the fruits of his judgment.

6. Arbitration.—Two questions of importance have arisen in connection with this subject : (1) should any of the sections of the Arbitration Act of 1899 be incorporated into the Code ; (2) should the right of appeal, as now existing, be altered, and if so, in what direction ? We are of opinion that the best course would undoubtedly be to eliminate from the Code all the clauses as to arbitration, and insert them in a new and comprehensive Arbitration Act. There are, perhaps, difficulties as to this at present. We have determined therefore to leave the arbitration clauses much as they are in the present Code : but we have placed them in a Schedule in the hope that at no distant date they may be transferred into a comprehensive Arbitration Act.

In regard to appeals, some change has been made. Upon this question, adopting the view of the Judicial Committee as expressed in Ghulam's case (I. L. R., 29 Cal., 167) we are strongly in favour of finality in cases of arbitration. If rights of appeal be given, the disappointed party will take advantage of every such right. To meet the difficulty expressed in the case reported in I. L. R., 25 Cal., 141 (which followed many other cases in the Calcutta High Court), we have inserted the words " or being otherwise invalid " in sub-section (c) of section 521 of the present Code. If, therefore, either party considers the award is invalid on any ground, he can apply to have it set aside. We have thought it right to give one appeal from the opinion expressed by the Court on a special case under section 517, and to allow one appeal as from order under sections 521, 523 and 526. And having regard to the rather wide language of the Judicial Committee in Ghulam's case, we have further thought it advisable to make it clear that an order granting an application either under section 523 or 526 is not to be deemed a decree within the meaning of the Code ; otherwise there would be a wider right of appeal from orders under these sections than from a decree under section 522. The other alterations deal with the text, rather than with any question of policy or principle.

7. Suits relating to public matters.—We have inserted a clause to enable actions for public nuisances to be brought, with the consent of the Advocate General, irrespective of special damage. It has been represented to us that such a power is needed and we concur in that view.

8. Public charities.—The suggestion has been made on high authority that some express reference should be made in the Code to the power of the Court to apply the Cy-près doctrine in the settling of schemes. But this power would appear to exist already within its proper limits (Mayor of Lyons' case, L. R., 3 I. A., 32) and we do not think it necessary to make express reference to it.

It has been represented to us by more than one gentleman whose opinion is entitled to weight, that the power to enquire into the affairs of public charities should be made more extensive. The clause, as it stands, gives sufficient powers to the Courts to direct accounts and to frame schemes when once a suit has been instituted, but it is said that members of the public interested in any public charity ought to have the means of calling for and inspecting accounts without undertaking the burden of a suit, at least in the first instance. We are told that revenues derived from charitable trusts are in some cases very large in amount : that no accounts of their expenditure are ordinarily rendered, and that there is good ground for believing that a considerable portion is misspent or squandered on useless objects.

The Hon'ble Dr. Rashbehary Ghose supports these views and has submitted a clause to give effect to them. It is in the following terms :—

" 93-A. (1) The Court may also, upon an application by any two or more persons having the like interest and having obtained the like consent, direct any trustee of such charity to cause to be prepared and filed in the Court, within such time as may be specified in the order, a detailed account of the receipts and disbursements in connection with the trust property for a period not exceeding three years next preceding the date of the application.

(2) Such accounts, when filed in Court, shall be open to inspection by the public.

(3) A trustee who fails to comply with any such direction shall be removed if a suit for that purpose be instituted, unless he can show good cause for such failure."

We have given to the subject our best consideration and desire to record our sympathy with the motives of the proposers. But we have not inserted the clause in the Bill because we think that the question is one of policy on which the public opinion of the communities interested should first be obtained. It affects primarily, as we understand, the Hindu and, to a less extent, the Muhammadan community. And we should not feel justified in recommending an amendment of the law on such a subject as this, unless the leaders of those communities were to express their support of the proposal in unequivocal terms. If it is eventually decided to adopt the amendment, then we think that the clause proposed by Dr. Ghose may be accepted.

9. Suits by or against firms.—Attention is directed to the new provision in regard to suits by or against firms (Order XXX), which will, we hope, prove acceptable to the commercial community.

10. New procedure.—We have given power to provide by Rules for Counter-claims, Third Party Procedure, Summary Procedure in suits for debt or liquidated demands, as, for instance, rent, or any other definite sum payable under a contract and Originating summons. We are of opinion that these forms of proceeding may usefully be adopted in some, areas but that this is a matter which should be left for each High Court to decide.

11. Appeals.—As regards appeals from original decrees we have departed but slightly from the existing Code. We have thought it advisable to give legislative sanction to the view that no appeal shall lie from a consent decree, or as to costs, except by leave of the Court: but the most important change is that incorporated in clause 97, which renders it obligatory upon a party, who considers himself aggrieved by a preliminary decree, to appeal from that decree, at the risk of being precluded from disputing its correctness on an appeal from the final decree. We feel strongly that this is a most useful provision, as tending to that which is so desirable, viz., finality in litigation.

As regards appeals from appellate decrees the only substantial departure from the existing Code is the insertion of clause 103. Experience has shown the desirability of this clause, the effect of which will be to avoid remands, with their consequent delay and expense.

As regards appeals from orders a comparison of clause 104 of the Bill with section 588 of the existing Code would support a prima facie inference that the right of appeal from Orders had been materially curtailed. But this inference is dispelled on looking at sub-clause (h) of clause 104 which allows an appeal from any Order made under Rules from which an appeal is expressly allowed by Rules. We have gone carefully into the question of the cases in which an appeal should be allowed from these Orders and our conclusion is expressed in the Rules themselves.

12. Rules.—The distribution of the provisions of the Code between the body of the Bill and the Rules is a matter on which opinions may well differ. The general principle on which we have proceeded has been to keep in the body of the Bill those provisions which appear to us to be fundamental and those provisions which confer powers operating outside the Province in which the Court is situated. In some cases we have adopted the plan of inserting leading provisions in the Bill, stating in general terms the powers of the Court, and of leaving the details to Rules; in matters of less importance the provisions have been relegated altogether to Rules. The result of this re-arrangement is to reduce the Act, as distinct from Schedules, to 155 clauses. The existing order of sequence has, speaking generally, been maintained, but the reduced bulk of the Bill has rendered it no longer necessary to reproduce the division into Chapters.

It is proposed to vest the power of making Rules in High Courts, subject to the control of Local Governments (or, in the case of the Calcutta High Court, of the Government of India), but we think it most desirable that in exercising this power the Courts should have the advice of representatives of the various branches of the legal profession, and we have accordingly provided that, in the case of Chartered High Courts and of Chief Courts, Rules shall only be made after those Courts have taken the opinion of a Rule Committee on which there will be representatives of the Bar, of Vakeels or Pleaders and, in Presidency-towns, of Attorneys. In the case of other High Courts power has been given to establish such Rule Committees as the Governor General in Council may determine. It is believed that Standing Committees of this kind will be of great value. We have thought it better to require the same sanction as is required by the Indian High Courts Act of 1861, in order that the rule-making power should correspond with the power conferred under that Act; but we are of opinion that, in the interest of uniformity, it is expedient that all amendments of Rules should be communicated to the Government of India and to other High Courts before sanction is given to them. This, we understand, can be effected by executive order.

If our proposal is adopted, it will probably be useful to publish annually in every Province some manual corresponding to the English "Annual Practice" containing :—

- (1) the Act;
- (2) all rules of procedure made under it or under other Acts in the Province;
- (3) notes of decisions on the Act and Rules.

13. We are sensible that there may be defects and flaws in the Bill which we append to this Report. The subject is complicated and technical and the time at our disposal has been limited. We do not doubt therefore that much improvement may be made in the Bill before it is finally passed into law. But in our opinion it is framed on the right lines. We believe for the reasons we have stated that in any reform of Civil Procedure it is essential to introduce some elasticity, to give wider powers of control to the High Courts, and to invest them with a larger discretion in regard to the conduct of cases which come before them. Mr. Dikshit, Subordinate Judge from Bombay, has been present throughout our deliberations, and we take this opportunity of acknowledging the help we have derived from his experience of the working of the Code in the mofussil. We desire also to record our acknowledgments of the services of Mr. Law, of the Legislative Department, who has attended to the clerical and press work to our entire satisfaction.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

A.—CLAUSES OF BILL.

PRELIMINARY.

Clause 2.—The definitions have been re-arranged in alphabetical order.

Decree.—The importance of the definition of the word “decree” rests on the fact that by reference to it the right of appeal is determined. The Committee have in the main adhered to the existing definition; but they have modified it in two respects, and this has involved a slight recasting of the language. The principal modification aims at permitting an appeal from an adjudication which purports to settle the rights of the parties, though it does not completely dispose of the suit. Such an adjudication the Committee describe as a preliminary decree.

The explanation is intended to make it clear that a decree may be partly final and partly preliminary. Thus a decree for the recovery of possession of immovable property and for mesne profits would be of this mixed character.

The word “within” has been substituted for “mentioned or referred to in” with a view to bringing within the definition of decree orders against sureties (see clause 142) and orders as to court-fees in pauper suits (see Order XXXIII, rule 13) and thus providing for appeals therefrom.

The only other modification is for the purpose of excluding a right of appeal from an order of dismissal for default.

Legal representative.—We have inserted a definition of “legal representative”—an expression which has been variously interpreted by the High Courts as would appear from the reported cases which are not easily reconcilable with one another. See § C. W. N., 843, in which almost all the earlier cases are reviewed.

The Committee trust that the definition which has been added by them will set at rest what owing to the absence of any such definition from the present Code is a somewhat debatable point.

Mesne profits.—The Committee have altered the definition of “mesne profits” so as to exclude from the calculation any increased rents and profits due to improvements made by the person in wrongful possession for which he cannot at present claim compensation from the rightful owner either by way of mitigation of damages or otherwise.

Clause 4.—The clause as drafted will, it is believed, effect all the savings covered by section 4 of the Code. The concluding paragraph of that section is believed to be obsolete and has accordingly not been reproduced. On this point the opinions of Local Governments are invited.

Clause 6.—In view of the extended scope of clause 4 the reproduction of sections 6 and 7 (except as to the final paragraph of section 6) does not appear to be necessary.

The words “or proceedings in suits” have been introduced in this clause to negative the view that a Court to which a decree is sent for execution has jurisdiction to execute the decree though the amount exceeds the limits of the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court, a point on which there is a conflict of opinion (I. L. R., 17 Mad., 309; I. L. R., 16 Cal., 465, 457).

Clause 7.—The provisions as to Provincial Small Cause Courts have been re-arranged in what is hoped is a more convenient form.

PART I.

Suits in General.

The provisions contained in section 10 of the Code were first enacted by Act XI of 1836 and were reproduced in the Code of 1859 and in subsequent Codes. In the opinion of the Committee their retention is no longer necessary and they have been omitted.

Clause 11.—Res judicata.—It is not possible to make a complete exposition of a subject so complex as that of res judicata within the limits of a section of an Act and the Committee think it better to re-enact section 13 as it stands in the Code with such modifications only as experience has shown to be necessary.

The Committee recognize that a proceeding does not come within the language of that section; but they think it better not to deal with this point in express terms for the reason that the applicability of the doctrine of res judicata to certain proceedings is not open to doubt, and they foresee that any express reference to proceedings in a crystallised definition might only lead to difficulties (L. R., 11 I. A., 37, and I. L. R., 29 Cal., 707).

The word “another” has been substituted for “former” as being more in conformity with Indian decisions.

Explanation 1 is new and is intended to affirm the view that the competence of the jurisdiction of a Court does not depend on the right of appeal from its decision.

Explanation VI.—The inclusion of public rights is to give due effect to suits relating to public nuisances (clause 91).

Clause 12.—This clause is new and is necessitated by the transfer of certain of the provisions of the existing Code to Rules.

Clause 13.—The provisions as to foreign judgment have been re-arranged and as it is hoped stated more clearly.

Section 14.—The last paragraph has been omitted. It appears to the Committee that it is not possible to maintain this distinction in the case of all Asiatic Courts. The Courts of Japan for instance are entitled to be treated on the same footing as European Courts. They know of no satisfactory distinction which could be drawn so to give effect to the intention of the existing provisions; and they recommend that the paragraph should be omitted and that Courts should rely on the powers given by clause 13.

Place of Suing.—The provisions under this heading have been collected and re-arranged.

Clause 16 (a).—The insertion of the words “with or without rent or profits” is intended to remove any difficulty there may be where the defendant does not reside within the local limits of the Court within whose jurisdiction the property is situate.

Clause 18.—The Committee have added words to this clause in order still further to restrict the taking of technical objections as to jurisdiction.

Clause 20.—The Committee have omitted Explanation III of section 17, which has become unnecessary owing to the addition made to sub-clause (c) of the words “wholly or in part” in reference to the cause of action.

Clause 24.—The words “at any stage” have been added to remove the difficulty created by the view that a suit cannot be transferred after the hearing has once commenced, as to which there is a conflict of decision.

Clauses 26-35.—The provisions in Chapters III to XVIII of the present Code have been in the main relegated to Rules, but such general provisions as are believed to be essential have been preserved in clauses 26 to 35.

Clause 32.—The Committee have omitted the last paragraph of section 136 of the Code as they think unnecessary to impose penal consequences for a default of the class indicated.

PART II.

Execution.

Clauses 36-74.—The bulk of the provisions as to execution will be found in the Rules, but the main provisions as to the Courts by which decrees may be executed, the questions to be determined by Courts executing decrees, the limit of time for execution, transferees and legal representatives, procedure in execution, arrest and attachment, the delegation to Collectors of power to execute certain decrees, the distribution of assets and resistance to execution have been retained in the body of the Bill.

Clause 46.—Precept.—Though a system of execution based on precepts is in the opinion of the Committee open to grave objection, they think the idea may be utilized for the purpose of enabling a decree-holder to obtain an interim attachment where there is ground to apprehend that he may otherwise be deprived of the fruits of his decree. They have for this purpose introduced clause 46 into the Bill. They think it expedient to fix a time limit for the continuance of this interim attachment, but at the same time they have empowered the Court to extend the period to meet the exigencies of particular cases.

After careful consideration they have come to the conclusion that notwithstanding attachment under a precept, re-attachment on the ordinary application for execution will still be necessary. Though at first sight it may appear a better course to provide that re-attachment shall not be necessary when the issue of a precept is followed by the ordinary application for execution, after careful consideration they have come to the conclusion that it will be safer to require re-attachment, having regard to the agency by which execution is carried into effect.

Clause 47.—The Committee have omitted sub-clauses (a) and (b) of section 244 of the existing Code because they are strongly of opinion that questions regarding the amount of any mesne profits or interest should be determined by the decree and not in execution. If this view is accepted it will be possible to exercise an effective control over the action taken by Subordinate Courts in dealing with such matters.

The Committee have redrafted sub-clause (3) and made it compulsory on the Court to determine questions arising as to representatives of parties. In their opinion it is inexpedient that separate suits should be instituted for the decision of such questions. The delay and expense involved are often very great and result in the needless protraction of litigation.

The explanation is intended to put an end to a conflict of judicial decisions.

Section 257A.—The Committee think that section 257A may be omitted with advantage. It was first enacted by Act XII of 1879 with a view to protect the interests of judgment-debtors against the exercise of undue pressure by decree-holders. The section has given rise to conflicting decisions, and as interpreted by the majority of the High Courts is found in practice to be of little service to judgment-debtors. Moreover, section 16 of the Indian Contract Act as amended appears to the Committee to afford adequate protection where it is required.

Clause 51.—This clause states generally the powers of the Court in regard to execution leaving the details to be determined by rules. It will be observed that the power to direct immediate execution is no longer restricted to one class of suits but that it is now general in terms. Any limitation that may be found necessary will be imposed by rules.

Clause 53 has been added by the Committee in order to set at rest a question on which the High Courts are divided in opinion. It is true that where a son or grandson takes any ancestral property by survivorship he is bound to pay out of such property all debts of his ancestor not incurred for immoral or illegal purposes; but whether the creditor can follow the property in the hand of the son or grandson in execution is a debatable point under the Code. The question is merely one of procedure, and the Committee have come to the conclusion that any controversy between the parties with regard to the liability of the son or grandson to pay the debts of his ancestor should be determined in execution, it being open to them to raise any objection or defence in such proceedings which they might have raised in a separate suit instituted by the creditor, the clause in question not imposing upon them a greater liability than that imposed by the Hindu law.

Clause 55 (1), second proviso.—The object of this proviso is to prevent vexatious forms of resistance to execution which constantly obstruct decree-holders in the execution of their decrees.

Clause 55 (2).—This sub-clause is intended to cover the cases of certain persons or classes of persons whose summary arrest might, as in the case of railway servants, be attended with danger or inconvenience to the public.

Clause 61.—The Committee have reproduced this clause from the former Bill (clause 269B) in accordance with what they understand to be the wishes of the Government. But the conditions should in their opinion be so modified as to relieve the Courts from fixing the portion to be released from attachment.

To impose this duty on the Courts would materially increase their work in a matter in regard to which they are not in a position to form the best opinion and would probably result in an undesirable lack of uniformity.

Clause 62.—The Committee have inserted a new provision to authorize the breaking open of the outer door of a judgment-debtor's house. They do not think that it would be safe to extend the operation of this provision to the house of a stranger.

Section 288.—This section of the present Code first appears in the Code of 1877. It was not suggested by any decided case and the only explanation offered by the Select Committee, by whom it was introduced, is as follows :—

“ We think that the proclamation of execution sales should state the incumbrances (if any) to which the interest about to be sold is liable, and we have provided that no judge, etc., shall be answerable for error in the proclamation, unless it has been committed dishonestly.”

The Committee are of opinion that, having regard to the provisions of Act XVIII of 1850, the section may safely be omitted.

Clause 64.—An explanation has been added to make it clear that claims within the protection of this clause include claims for rateable distribution of assets.

Clause 69.—The provisions as to Collectors have been placed in a separate schedule. They deal with a special matter and are not of general application.

Clause 73.—The Committee have slightly altered the wording of this clause in order to bring it into line with the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, section 96.

PART III.

Incidental proceedings.

The general powers of Courts in regard to commissions have been summarised in clause 75 and the detailed provision will be found in the First Schedule.

PART IV.

The bulk of the corresponding part of the present Code will be found in the Rules. The provisions as to suits by aliens, etc., have been retained in the Bill and a few only of the provisions relating to suits by or against the Government. There is a general clause defining the nature of interpleader suits.

Clause 81.—The Committee think that the same measure of protection should be afforded to the defendant where Government undertakes the defence as where the Government makes no application for the purpose, and it appears to the Committee that the proper protection should be that the defendant should be exempt from mesne arrest and his property from mesne attachment. They therefore propose to strike out the proviso from clause 269 and to alter sub-clause (a) of clause 270 so as to give effect to this.

Clause 86 (2).—The Committee have inserted words in this sub-clause to make it clear that the decision of the Government is final and not open to question by the Court. A doubt had been raised on the point.

PART V.

Special Proceedings.

Arbitration and suits relating to public matters have been discussed in the former part of this Report.

Clause 92 (Public Charities).—As a doubt has been expressed in at least one reported decision whether section 539 is or is not mandatory, the Committee have thought it desirable, in order to settle this question, to introduce sub-clause (2).

PART VI.

Supplemental Proceedings.

Here again a leading provision has been retained in the Bill, and the details of procedure have been relegated to Rules.

PART VII.

Appeals.

Clause 97.—The Committee have inserted an express provision to compel litigants to appeal from preliminary decrees, and have estopped them, on their failure to do so, from raising objections to such decrees in appeals from final decrees. On this point they accept the unanimous opinion of the Calcutta High Court. They think it unreasonable that parties should allow proceedings to be carried on to their final stage and large costs to be incurred if they intend to rely upon objections which could be taken at an earlier stage.

Clause 99.—The Committee have extended this clause in order to give the Courts a larger discretion in dealing with irregularities in proceedings, and they have inserted express words to meet the point decided in I. L. R., 26 Bom., 259, and I. L. R., 27 Mad., 80, and in a recent decision of the Calcutta High Court.

Clause 100.—The Committee have struck out the word "specified" in the expression "specified law or usage", as being in their opinion redundant.

Clause 105.—Though the remarks of the Privy Council in Moheshur Sing v. The Bengal Government (7 Moo. I. A., 283) are wide enough to embrace an appeal from an order of remand, the Committee think those orders were probably not in their Lordships' contemplation when they condemned the view that a failure to appeal from an interlocutory order should deprive the person aggrieved of his right to object to such order when subsequently appealing from the decree. And the Committee think there are good reasons on the score of delay and expense for treating an appeal from an order of remand as a special case and precluding an appellant from taking, on an appeal from decree, any objection that might have been urged by way of appeal from an order of remand.

The Committee have deleted the word "such" to remove a difficulty it creates (10 Moo. I. A., 340, 413; 12 Moo. I. A., 157).

PART VIII.

Reference, Review and Revision.

These provisions are not substantially altered. They are summarised in this Part and the details are in Rules.

PART IX.

Chartered High Courts.

Is not materially altered.

PART X.

Rules.

See observations in the former Part of this Report.

PART XI.

Miscellaneous.

The Committee have omitted section 646 as they see no reason specially to differentiate the case of a Registrar, and it is believed that in practice no use is made of the section.

Clause 137.—The Committee have inserted the words "or other person" after the word "officer" in sub-clause (b) in order to give the High Court power to relieve the officers of the Courts of the work of administering affidavits in cases in which it may be necessary to do so. It has been represented to them by the Calcutta High Court that this relief is much required.

Clause 140.—The terms of section 583 of the Code do not justify the practice founded on it, and the Committee have therefore recast the section so as to bring it into closer conformity with that practice.

Clauses 145 and 148 to 150 are new. They are intended to enlarge the discretion of Courts.

B.—RULES.

The Committee think that the division of the Rules into Orders will be found convenient for purposes of citation and reference.

Under clause 35 the Court has full power to apportion costs. The Committee understand that in practice the provision of section 26 is not operative in the mufassil, and that part of the section which related to costs has not therefore been reproduced.

O. I, r. 3 (s. 28).—The Committee realize that the words “in respect of the same matter” in rule 3 have given rise to great difficulty, and they think it advisable to follow the wording of the English rule and to omit them.

O. I, rr. 5 and 7.—The Committee thought that it was desirable to add O. XVI, rr. 5 and 7, of the English Rules.

O. III, r. 2 (s. 37).—The provisions of existing Code which are represented by this clause are in somewhat different terms and are limited to persons holding general powers-of-attorney within certain local limits. The Committee think it unnecessary to preserve these limitations and have made the sub-clause general. It follows that the present clause 37 (b) becomes unnecessary. It is included in sub-clause (a).

The last paragraph of section 37 has been omitted as no longer necessary.

O. III, r. 4 (s. 39).—The Committee are uncertain whether it is necessary to make a reference to the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of Sindh. The point is one for the Government of Bombay.

They also suggest in the alternative that the privilege now enjoyed by all Advocates enrolled in Chartered High Courts shall be extended to those Advocates enrolled in non-Chartered High Courts who are members of the English or Irish bar or of the Faculty of Advocates in Scotland.

O. IV.—Institution of suits.—The greater part of the existing provision on this subject will be found in the Order on Pleadings.

O. VI.—The Committee have added a few rules relating to pleadings based upon the system of pleading introduced by the Judicature Acts in England which is generally admitted to be the best form of pleading in civil suits. In this country outside the Presidency-town the pleadings are seldom artistically drawn. They are neither concise nor precise but contain vague and general statements from which it is difficult to ascertain definitely the real question in controversy between the parties. The sole object of pleadings is thus frequently defeated, the issue is enlarged, the trial is delayed and much unnecessary expense is incurred by the parties who are also liable to be taken by surprise. They have further provided that the forms in the Schedule shall when applicable be used for all pleadings, and when they are not applicable, forms of the like character shall be used. The rules prescribed by us will not prevent the pleader from exercising his discretion; for the amount of detail must necessarily vary with the nature of each suit. It is, however, made clear that there must be particularity sufficient to apprise the Court and the other party of the exact nature of the questions to be tried.

The Committee have also given a party who considers that his opponent's pleading does not give him the information to which he is entitled, the right to apply for further particulars so as to enable him to know what case he has to meet at the trial.

They have, however, endeavoured to modify the rigour of the rules by providing in accordance with section 55 of the Indian Evidence Act that the Court may, notwithstanding the absence of any specific denial, require any fact to be proved by the party who relies upon it.

O. IX.—Section 104 originally formed part of section 60 of Act VIII of 1859, and in combination with the rest of that section it was appropriate. As a separate section, however, it is misleading, and it certainly is not now required in view of the provisions for service on a defendant residing out of British India and for proceeding with a suit ex-parte when a defendant does not appear. Its retention would involve a diversity of procedure which the Committee think undesirable (see I. L. R., 23 All., 99).

O. IX, r. 13.—The Committee have inserted words to make it clear that a decree can only be set aside in favour of a defendant against whom the decree has been passed ex-parte. There is some conflict of judicial authority upon this point, and the Committee think that the matter should be set at rest in this sense.

O. XI.—Interrogatories.—The provisions in the Code as to discovery are based on the rules of English procedure in force at the time when it was passed. Since then the English procedure has been amended and is now contained in Order 31. This Order has in effect been adopted in the rules regulating the procedure on the original side of the High Courts of Calcutta and Bombay and has, it is believed, been found to work satisfactorily in practice.

On the other hand, in Mufassil Courts little use has yet been made of the machinery of discovery, and the Committee therefore think the rules of the Calcutta and Bombay High Courts on their original sides may be safely adopted without risk of disturbing a procedure with which the Mufassil Courts have become familiarized.

This will secure uniformity of practice and also the advantage of the commentary on the rules prescribed by the English decisions.

O. XII.—Admissions.—The Committee think the practice of admissions may with advantage be extended to facts as well as to documents.

The procedure is not compulsory, but its adoption would result in cheapening and expediting litigation, and it is hoped that its use will be encouraged by the Courts.

O. XIV, r. 6 (s. 150).—There does not seem to be any real conflict as to whether an appeal lies, though at first sight it might appear otherwise. It has therefore been considered unnecessary to provide expressly for an appeal.

O. XX, r. 11 (s. 210).—The Committee have added words to sub-rule (1) of this rule in order to override the ruling of the Bombay High Court in the case of Raghu Govind Paranjpe v. Dipchand (I. L. R., 4 Bom., 96), as the practice inculcated by that ruling seems to prevail only in the Presidency of Bombay and not in the rest of India.

O. XX, r. 14 (s. 214).—These amendments are based on the rulings contained in the decisions of the High Court of Allahabad at I. L. R., 6 All., 370, 455, and I. L. R., 11 All., 164.

Having regard to the opinion expressed in I. L. R., 24 Mad., at page 463, we have thought it right to make it clear that title vests without an instrument of transfer. To require a transfer now might throw a cloud over numberless title which rest on the assumption sanctioned by long practice that no instrument of transfer was necessary.

O. XX, r. 18 (s. 216).—The Committee have introduced an amendment to give effect to the view that appeals from decrees relating to set-off should lie to the Courts to which appeals in respect of the original claim would lie.

O. XXI, r. 2.—The Committee have omitted certain words from the last paragraph of section 258 of the Code in order to make it clear that the Court cannot recognize a payment or adjustment which has not been certified for any purpose whatsoever. It follows that an uncertified payment or adjustment cannot operate to prolong the period of limitation for applying for execution under the Limitation Act.

O. XXI, r. 3.—The Committee have inserted this rule to provide for cases, which they are told are not uncommon, of an estate being situated within the jurisdiction of two or more Courts. There are decisions on this point, but they are not harmonious, and the Committee think it well to determine the law definitely.

O. XXI, r. 11 (s. 256).—The Committee have omitted the limitation imposed under the existing Code on oral applications for immediate execution. They see no reason why this limitation should be preserved.

O. XXI, r. 11 (e).—The Committee have not given effect to the suggestion that this should be limited to payments and adjustments which the creditor executing the decree is bound by law to recognize, as this would remove a valuable incentive to state truly what payments have been made (see I. L. R., 10 Bom., 288).

O. XXI, r. 20.—The Committee have omitted the words “or his or their representatives.” This will be covered by the general clause.

O. XXI, r. 23 (4), explanation and illustration (d), (s. 246).—This addendum has been introduced in accordance with the views of the Calcutta and Allahabad High Courts as expressed in the cases of Hury Doyal Guho v. Din Doyal Guho (I. L. R., 9 Cal., 479) and Ram Sukh Dass v. Tota Ram (I. L. R., 14 All., 339).

O. XXI, r. 26 (s. 248).—The Committee have omitted the reference to a decree passed on appeal, for that is ordinarily the decree to be executed. [ Kristo Kinkur Roy v. Rajah Burrodacaunt Roy (14 Moo. I. A., 465) and Muhammad Sulaiman Khan v. Muhammad Yar Khan (I. L. R., 11 All., 267). ]

O. XXI, r. 32 (s. 260).—The Committee have omitted in this rule all reference to a decree for the recovery of a wife, for there can be no such decree under the law, as a wife cannot be treated as a chattel to be delivered over to the husband. Where any third person prevents the wife from returning to her husband, the latter may obtain an injunction against him which may be enforced in case of disobedience either by the imprisonment of the defendant, or by the attachment of his property, or by both.

O. XXI, r. 34.—Section 261 has been recast so as to bring it into conformity with the chronological order of events, and a provision has been added to meet the requirements of the Indian Registration Act.

O. XXI, rr. 44 and 45.—These provisions were inserted in Bill No. II with the approval of the Government of India, and the Committee have therefore reproduced them in the present edition of the Bill.

O. XXI, r. 56.—The purpose of this rule is to put an end to doubts which from time to time have arisen as to the continuance of an attachment by reason of the practice of “striking off proceedings” or “removing proceedings from the file” for which there is no justification in the Code.

O. XXI, r. 57 (s. 278).—Though the execution of mortgage decree is expressly incorporated in the Code, the Committee still think that claims and objections arising out of the execution of such decrees should not be the subject of summary procedure under this and the following rules, but should be determined in the ordinary course.

This does not imply that the procedure under the later rules as to resistance to possession or dispossession does not apply.

O. XXI, r. 76.—In rules 76 and 83 express reference has been made to a resale so as to make it clear that the default mentioned in those rules will attract the consequence indicated in rule 70. In this connection reference may be made to I. L. R., 7 Cal., 337.

O. XXI, r. 85.—The Committee have altered this rule in order to prevent its being obligatory on the Court to forfeit the deposit in every case. The rule as it stands at present has caused hardship in certain circumstances, vide the case of Sambasiva Ayyar v. Vydinada Sami (I. L. R., 25 Mad., 535).

O. XXI, r. 88 (s. 310A).—Words have been added so as to make it clear that a purchaser acquiring a title before the sale in execution can claim the benefit of the rule. In other respects the Committee consider it advisable to adhere to the wording of the section.

The proposal that the sale should be set aside on payment of the purchase money instead of the amount specified in the proclamation is, in their opinion, fraught with danger: it would be obviously useless unless subsequent protection were given to the property, and such protection might lead to collusion, which would be most prejudicial to the decree-holder.

O. XXI, r. 89.—The Committee have struck out the provision as to irregularity in attaching the property, as such irregularity obviously cannot affect the price.

They have introduced the words “rateable distribution of assets” to clear up a doubt which has been the subject of discussion in several cases.

They have altered the language of the proviso in order to meet the doubts which have been raised as to the evidence upon which the Court can act. [Tasadduk Rasul Khan v. Ahmad Husain (I. L. R., 21 Cal., 66).]

O. XXI, r. 91.—The Committee think it proper to retain the provisions of the Code, which make it necessary for the Court to confirm the sale in each case.

O. XXI, r. 92 (s. 315).—The Committee have added words at the commencement of the clause in substitution of the last paragraph of the section which thus becomes unnecessary.

O. XXI, r. 95 (s. 316).—The Committee have preserved the limitation of three years from the date of the certificate as suggested by the Select Committee in Bill No. II. This clears up a doubt as to the time from which limitation begins to run, which has been discussed on more than one occasion.

O. XXII, r. 1.—The Select Committee struck out two of the four illustrations to section 361 and the Committee think the remaining illustrations may also be deleted as they are too obvious to serve any useful purpose.

O. XXII, r. 3.—The Committee have introduced words in order to conform to the language of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, as amended.

O. XXII, r. 5 (s. 366).—Though or is the word used in the Code of 1882 and the Code of 1877, in the Bill of 1877 the word and is used, and it appears to the Committee clear that and is required by the context. If and is not used, then the contrast with the preceding section is lost.

The explanation can be omitted having regard to the definition of "legal representative" inserted by the Committee.

O. XXIII, r. 3.—The Committee have considered it expedient to alter the language of section 375 so as to recognize the power of a Court to inquire into and to record a disputed compromise.

O. XXV, r. 1 (3) (s. 380).—The Committee have deleted the last words of this sub-rule, because the nature of the suit excludes the possibility of the property in suit being immoveable.

O. XXIX, r. 2.—The Committee have enlarged the language of the Code so as to allow of service by post on corporations having a registered office, and by this means the rule is brought into line with the provisions of the Indian Companies Act. Companies authorized to sue and be sued in the name of an officer or of a trustee must be very few, if, indeed, any exist, and they do not appear to the Committee to call for special treatment.

O. XXX, r. 1.—The Committee have adopted with the necessary alterations the English procedure in relation to suits against firms. This new procedure has been in force for some time in the Presidency-towns of Calcutta and Bombay and has worked satisfactorily.

It is hoped that its general application will be found useful by the mercantile community, for the rules remove technical obstacles which under the present procedure may seriously impede this class of litigation, as where a partner has died.

O. XXXII, r. 3 (4).—This is based on section 443. The Committee think it necessary to ensure that notice should reach one interested in the minor's welfare, and this rule aims at securing this result. The form of application and of notice in conformity with this sub-rule will be inserted in the schedule of forms.

O. XXXII, r. 9.—The Committee think it expedient that where a guardian insists on his right to be appointed next friend in the place of another there should be power to require him to become liable or give security for costs in the suit previously incurred.

O. XXXII, r. 15.—The Committee have extended this rule so as to cover the case of a person incapacitated from protecting his interests by reason of his mental weakness or of his being a deaf mute.

O. XXXIII, r. 1 (s. 401).—The Committee have not preserved section 402. In the light of the case-law it is misleading, so far as it suggests that a suit will lie for loss of caste or abusive language, and they can see no sufficient reason for withholding from a pauper a right to sue as such in respect of defamation or assault.

O. XXXIV, r. 1.—The proviso to section 85 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, has given rise to certain doubts which the Committee have sought to remove by substituting for it the words now added with a view to making it clear that a person not a party is not bound by a decree [Ram Nath Rai v. Lachman Ram (L. R., 2 I. A., 193).]

The explanation has been inserted in order to remove doubts which have arisen from the conflict of authorities on the point.

O. XXXIV, r. 2 (b).—The Committee have inserted the words "if necessary" before "retransfer" as according to mufassil practice a retransfer is not ordinarily required and they think this practice should not be altered.

O. XXXIV, r. 3.—The Committee have omitted the provision as to the defendant paying money to the plaintiff. They think it better that in every case he should pay it into Court.

O. XXXIV, r. 9.—This rule is new. It is a recognition of existing practice and remedies an obvious omission in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882.

O. XXXIV, r. 11.—The Committee have inserted this rule in compliance with the suggestion of the Privy Council in Gupi Narain Khanna v. Bansidhar (L. R., 32 I. A., 123). This clause was in the Transfer of Property Bill, but was omitted by the Select Committee on that Bill on the ground that it ought to find a place in the Civil Procedure Code.

O. XXXV, r. 3.—The Committee think that the institution of the interpleader suit affords a sufficient reason for the stay of other litigation in reference to the same subject-matter and they have modified section 476 so as to give effect to this view.

O. XXXVII, r. 1.—As Chapter XXXIX of the Code is transferred into rules, the Committee have not reproduced paragraph (c) of section 538 as its appropriate place will be in rules under the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882.

O. XXXVII, r. 2.—The explanation to section 532 was inserted to negative the effect of the decision in I. L. R., 1 Cal., 130, but its meaning, as it stands, is obscure. The Committee have therefore deleted the explanation, and added words in the body of the rule which will remove the doubts at which the explanation was aimed.

O. XXXVIII, r. 6 (s. 483).—The Committee have omitted the words "property within the jurisdiction of the Court," as they have caused a conflict of decision; and they think, as a matter of policy, there should not be the restriction these words suggest.

O. XXXVIII, r. 13.—This rule represents the views of the Government of India as expressed in the former Bill.

O. XXXIX, r. 6.—Words have been added to section 498 so as to empower the Court to order a sale of securities where the state of the market requires such a course.

O. XL.—Having regard to their standard of efficiency, the Committee see no reason to withhold from Subordinate Judges the power to appoint Receivers. They therefore propose that section 505 of the Code should no longer be retained, for its effect in practice is often to defeat the purpose for which an application is made.

O. XLI.—Section 554 of the Code has been omitted as unnecessary.

O. XLI, r. 5 (s. 545).—The Committee have added words to section 545 in order to make it clear that proceedings under a decree as well as execution can be stayed by an Appellate Court; the recognition of preliminary decrees makes it the more necessary to have an express power to this effect instead of resting on an inherent power [Balkishen Sahu v. Khugnu (I. L. R., 31 Cal., 722)]. The Committee have introduced express words authorizing an ex-parte stay, as the need for such an order constantly arises in practice.

O. XLI, r. 6 (s. 546).—The Committee have modified this rule in order to make it clear that security may be required though the property has previously been taken in execution [see Hukum Chand Boid v. Kamalanand Singh (I. L. R., 33 Cal., 927)].

O. XLI, r. 7.—The Committee have added this clause to meet particularly the case where the litigant does not quarrel with the decree but appeals from an order passed in execution of that decree (I. L. R., 28 Cal., 734).

O. XLI, r. 23.—After due consideration the Committee have thought it safer not to give legislative sanction to the views enunciated in Habib Bakhsh v. Baldeo Prasad (I. L. R., 23 All., 167). The power of reversal and remand is liable to be abused, while the procedure under section 566 is free from this liability and at the same time furnishes an effectual remedy.

The words at the end of the rule have been added to clear up a doubt which is stated by the Select Committee to exist as to whether evidence recorded at the original trial can be used on the trial after demand.

O. XLI, r. 34.—The Committee consider it most important that an Appellate Court should have the fullest power to do complete justice between the parties.

The illustration indicates a type of case for which provision is intended to be made.

O. XLII, r. 1 (1).—The extension of time for the payment of mortgage-money is obviously of much greater moment to the mortgagor than to the mortgagee. Therefore the Committee have provided for an appeal from an order refusing, but not from an order granting, an extension of time.

O. XLIII, r. 1 (s. 592).—Words have been added to avoid the conclusion at which the Madras High Court has recently arrived (I. L. R., 26 Mad., 369).

O. XLV, r. 1.—The words "or the construction of a document, which construction may affect the merits," have been omitted, as they appear to be sufficiently covered by the power to refer any question of law.

NOTES ON SCHEDULES.

SCHEDULE IV.

The Committee have amended section 22 of the Limitation Act to supply an omission which has been noticed by the High Courts; namely, the absence of any provision with regard to a devolution of interest pendente lite where it takes place otherwise than by reason of death. The section as amended will include not only cases in which a devolution of interest takes place pendente lite owing to death but also to other cases in which such devolution occurs.

The Code [s. 312] contemplates the confirmation of a sale of immoveable property immediately on the expiration of the thirty days allowed by article 166 of the Limitation Schedule. But the period allowed for an application to set aside a sale on the ground that the judgment-debtor had no saleable interest therein is sixty days [article 172]. The result is that in some Provinces the confirmation of a sale is delayed for sixty days; whilst, in other Provinces, sales which have been already confirmed are liable to be set aside. The Committee think that in the matter of limitation an application under section 313 should be brought into line with an application under section 311 and they therefore propose to repeal article 172 and to amend article 166 so as to include applications under section 313.

Candidates are at liberty to name any of these branches of knowledge, with the proviso that the maximum number of marks that can be obtained from the subjects chosen is limited to 6,000. If this maximum is exceeded by a candidate's selection he will be required to indicate one of his subjects, the marks for which should, in his case, be reduced so as to bring his maximum marks within the prescribed limit. The marks so reduced will be subject to a correspondingly reduced deduction under Clause 6.

(a) A Syllabus, defining the character of the Examination in the various subjects, may be obtained on application to the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, London, W.

5. The merit of the persons examined will be estimated by marks (b) ; and the number set opposite to each branch in the preceding regulation denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it.

6. The marks assigned to Candidates in each branch will be subject to such deduction as the Civil Service Commissioners may deem necessary (c) in order to secure that no credit be allowed for merely superficial knowledge.

7. The Examination will be conducted on paper and vivâ voce, as may be deemed necessary.

8. The marks obtained by each Candidate, in respect of each of the branches in which he shall have been examined, will be added up, and the names of the several Candidates who shall have obtained, after the deduction above mentioned, a greater aggregate number of marks than any of the remaining Candidates will be set forth in order of merit, and such Candidates shall be deemed to be Selected Candidates for the Civil Service of India, provided they appear to be in other respects duly qualified. Should any of the Selected Candidates become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the vacancy thus created shall be filled up or not. In the former case the Candidate next in order of merit, and in other respects duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a selected Candidate.

9. Selected Candidates, before proceeding to India, will be on probation for one year, at the end of which time they will be examined, with a view of testing their progress in the following subjects (d) :

In Hindustani the Candidate will be required to be acquainted with both the Persian and the Nagari character; and in the case of the last two Provinces mentioned above, a Candidate whose Vernacular Language is either of the languages shown against his province, must offer the other for Examination.

† These subjects may not be offered by any Candidate who has offered them at the Open Competition.

In this Examination, as in the Open Competition, the merit of the Candidates examined will be estimated by marks (which will be subject to deductions in the same way as the marks assigned at the Open Competition), and the number set opposite to each subject denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it. The Examination will be conducted on paper and vivâ voce, as may be deemed necessary. This Examination will be held at the close of the year of probation, and will be called the "Final Examination."

If any Candidate is prevented by sickness or any other adequate cause from attending such examination, the Commissioners may, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State for India in Council, allow him to appear at the Final Examination to be held in the following year, or at a special Examination.

(b) Considerable deductions will be made for bad handwriting.

(c) No deductions will be made under Clause 6 from the marks assigned to candidates in Mathematics or English Composition.

(d) Instructions, showing the extent of the examination, will be issued to Selected Candidates as soon as possible after the result of the Open Competition is declared.

10. The selected Candidates will also be tested during their probation as to their proficiency in Riding.

The examinations in riding will be held as follows :

- (1) Shortly after the result of the Open Competitive Examination has been declared, or at such time or times as the Commissioners may appoint during the course of the probationary year.
- (2) Again, at the time of the Final Examination. Candidates who may then fully satisfy the Commissioners of their ability to ride well and to perform journeys on horseback will be awarded from 100 to 200 marks, according to the degree of proficiency displayed, to be added to their marks in the Final Examination. Candidates who fail to obtain 100 marks, but are reported by the Civil Service Commissioners to have reached a minimum standard of proficiency in riding, and are certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, will, on their arrival in India, be subjected to such further tests in riding as may be prescribed by their Government, and shall receive no increase to their initial salary until they have passed such tests to the satisfaction of that Government.

A Candidate who fails at the end of the year of probation to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners that he has reached the minimum standard of proficiency in riding, will be liable to have his name removed from the list of Selected Candidates.

11. The Selected Candidates who, on examination, shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9, and who shall have satisfied the Civil Service Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of nationality, age, health, character, conduct during the period of probation, and ability to ride, shall be certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, provided they shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for that Service.

12. Persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates must apply on Forms, which may be obtained from "The Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners, London," at any time after the 1st December, in the year previous to that in which the Examination is to be held. No person will be admitted to the Examination from whom the Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners has not received on or before the 1st July (or, if that date should fall upon a Sunday or public holiday, then, on or before the 1st day thereafter on which their office is open), in the year in which the Examination is to be held, an application, in the handwriting of the Candidate, on the prescribed form.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements :

The whole probation must ordinarily be passed at the same Institution. Migration will not be permitted except for special reasons approved by the Secretary of State.

- (iii.) Each Candidate will be required before receiving the first instalment of his allowance to execute an agreement binding himself to refund all monies he may have received from the Secretary of State for India in the event of—
  - (1) his failure to pass the Final Examination within the time prescribed by the Regulations, and to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners of his fitness for admission to the Civil Service of India, or
  - (2) his subsequent failure to execute the usual covenant, and to proceed to India, as and when he shall be directed by the Secretary of State for India.
- (iv.) All Candidates obtaining Certificates will be also required to enter into covenants, by which, amongst other things, they will bind themselves to make such payments as under the rules and regulations for the time being in force, they may be required to make towards their own pensions or for the pensions of their families. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £1.
- (v.) The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the Candidates obtaining Certificates will be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the combined marks of the Open Competitive and Final Examinations.

CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA; CLERKSHIPS (CLASS I.) IN THE HOME CIVIL SERVICE; AND EASTERN CADETSHIPS.

SYLLABUS showing the extent of the Examination in certain subjects for 1908.

English Composition.—An Essay to be written on one of several subjects specified by the Civil Service Commissioners on their Examination Paper.

English Language and Literature.—The Examination will be in two parts. In the one the Candidates will be expected to show a general acquaintance with the course of English Literature, as represented (mainly) by the following writers in verse and prose, between the reign of Edward III. and the accession of Queen Victoria:

Verse—Chaucer, Langland, Spenser, Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden, Pope, Gray, Collins, Johnson, Goldsmith, Crabbe, Cowper, Campbell, Wordsworth, Scott, Byron, Coleridge, Shelley, Keats.

Prose—Bacon, Sir Thomas Browne, Milton, Cowley, Bunyan, Dryden, Swift, Defoe, Addison, Johnson, Burke, Scott, Macaulay (Essays and Biographies).

A minute knowledge of the works of these authors will not be looked for in this part of the Examination, which will, however, test how far the Candidates have studied the chief productions of the greatest English writers in themselves, and are acquainted with the leading characteristics of their thought and style, and with the place which each of them occupies in the history of English Literature. Candidates will also be expected to show that they have studied in these authors the history of the English Language in respect of its vocabulary, syntax, and prosody.

The other part of the Examination will relate to one of the periods named below, which will follow each other year by year in the order indicated.

| (1911) | [Nineteenth Century writers to the death of Scott] |                         |

The Examination in this part will require from Candidates a more minute acquaintance with the history of the English Language and Literature, as illustrated in the chief works produced in each period, and will be based to a considerable extent, but by no means exclusively, on certain books specified each year by the Commissioners.* The

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 12th September 1907, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The break in the rains over the greater part of northern India continued throughout the week. The depression which was forming over the Bay on the 5th did not develop and disappeared without passing inland; the eastern end of the trough of low pressure however extended well out into the Bay and accordingly the Arabian Sea monsoon gave abundant rain in South Bihar, Chota Nagpur, Orissa, the east of the Central Provinces and of Hyderabad, the areas on the western margin of the trough. In all other parts of the country usually served by this current the rainfall was extremely scanty. The Bay monsoon was entirely restricted to Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Bengal: within these areas the rainfall was much less than is usual for this time of year in the dry area of Burma, in Eastern Bengal and in South Bengal.

Burma.—Rain fell in all parts of the province during the week but the rainfall in the interior districts was generally light. Skies were moderately clouded and temperature was normal.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—During the first two days of the week there was widespread rain in the western half of the division: very little rain occurred on the 8th and from the 9th to the 12th rainfall was confined principally to Eastern Bengal and Assam. Skies were lightly to heavily clouded, the distribution of cloud varying with the area of rainfall. Temperature was low in the northwestern districts on the 6th and in upper Assam on the 10th, and was nearly normal on the remaining days.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—From the 6th to the 8th only a few scattered falls of rain were reported, chiefly from the extreme east of the United Provinces and of the Central Provinces, but on the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th rain fell locally over nearly the whole of the Central Provinces. Skies were almost free from cloud in the United Provinces and were lightly to moderately clouded in the rest of the division. Temperature was approximately normal except for a slight excess on most days of the week in the United Provinces.

Northwest India.—With the exception of a few isolated falls of rain on the 6th and 7th weather was dry throughout the division. Skies were clear or only lightly clouded. Temperature was low in northeast Gujarat on the 7th and slightly high in parts of the Punjab on the 11th: in other respects temperature conditions were practically normal.

The Peninsula.—Rainfall was fairly general but light in the west coast districts from the 6th to the 8th; a few falls occurred in the Deccan, chiefly in Hyderabad during the next three days, and on parts of the west coast on the 11th and 12th. Cloud was light to moderate in amount. Temperature was somewhat high on the central Madras coast and the adjacent districts of the interior and approximately normal elsewhere.

The week's rainfall was below the average over by far the greater part of the country, the only areas where it was not in defect being the Burma coast, Burma Wet, the Brahmaputra Valley, the Indo-Gangetic Plain East and the sub-divisions of Ranchi, Cuttack and Raipur. The rainfall of the whole monsoon period is 20 per cent. or more in defect in the Himalayas and Sub-Himalayas (excluding the sub-division of Dinajpur), the Indo-Gangetic Plain West, South India, the East Coast South, and the sub-divisions of Jubbulpore, Jhansi, Jaipur and Bellary: in the rest of India it differs by less than 20 per cent. from the normal except in the sub-division of Rajkot where it is 37 per cent. in excess.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 7th September 1907.

Burma.—General prospects are good in Lower Burma. The floods in the Amherst district have subsided; but standing crops on a considerable area in the Kyaikmaraw township are reported to have been destroyed. In Upper Burma there has been general moderate rainfall during the week. Of the precarious districts, Shwebo received  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inches; Thayetmyo, Pakokku, Mandalay, Sagaing, Lower Chindwin, Meiktila, Yamethin and Myingyan each from  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch to  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch; Minbu  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch; and Magwe a minute amount. The crops in Thayetmyo and 3 townships of Pakokku are poor. The early sesamum in Minbu has failed. More rain is wanted for ground-nuts in Magwe. In Mandalay except in the canal tract prospects are unsatisfactory. The rainfall in Lower Chindwin is still insufficient to produce normal crops. All crops in Myingyan are withering for want of rain. Crops in Sagaing, Meiktila and Yamethin are fair. The general position in the dry zone districts is unsatisfactory; outside the dry zone prospects are good. The price of paddy has risen slightly in Henzada and Mandalay; has fallen slightly in Rangoon and Thayetmyo and considerably in Tavoy; elsewhere it is stationary.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is cloudy and the temperature normal. Heavy rain fell in Jalpaiguri, Karimganj and Cachar; and slight to moderate rain elsewhere. Plucking and manufacture of tea are in progress and prospects are generally fair to good. Mosquito blight is disappearing in Cachar. Harvesting of early rice is nearly finished. Prospects of jute are reported fair to good in all districts, though in some harvesting is retarded by want of sufficient water for steeping. The rain which has fallen has greatly improved the prospects of winter rice, but more rain is still required in most parts of Eastern Bengal and Lower Assam. Insects are damaging crops in Dacca and Sibsagar. Prices of common rice are:—Manipur 16; Kohima and Rangamati 11; Chittagong 9; Noakhali 8 to 9; Comilla  $8\frac{3}{4}$ ; Silchar  $8\frac{1}{2}$ ; Pabna and Sylhet  $8\frac{1}{2}$ ; Dacca, Mymensingh, Barisal, Rampur Boalia, Dhubri, Gauhati and Dibrugarh 8; Dinajpur  $7\frac{3}{4}$ ; Jalpaiguri, Bogra, Malda and Tezpur  $7\frac{1}{2}$ ; Faridpur, Nowgong and Sibsagar 7; Tura 6 to 7; Rangpur  $6\frac{1}{2}$ ; Shillong 6; and Aijal 5 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in six; have fallen in five; and have remained stationary in the remaining districts.

Bengal.—Rain was general all over the Province; the fall was heavy in Patna, Shahabad, Saran, Darbhanga, the Sonthal Parganas, Singhbhum, Cooch Behar and in parts of Hooghly, Midnapore and Muzaffarpur; and light in the districts of the Presidency Division and in Burdwan, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Darjeeling and Puri; it was moderate in other districts. It is reported that more rain is still wanted for the standing crops in Burdwan, Birbhum, Murshidabad, Jessore, Khulna, Saran and Purnea. Paddy is now reported to be suffering from deficient rain in parts of Murshidabad. Damage has been done by floods in parts of Burdwan, Midnapur, Monghyr, Cuttack and Balasore; and by excessive rain in Gaya and Palamau. Agricultural operations are at a stand still in the flood affected areas in the Jajpur and Kendrapara sub-divisions of Cuttack. Lowlying lands in parts of Balasore are still under water. Sugarcane is doing well. The harvesting of early rice and jute continues. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. The price of common rice has risen in five and has fallen in nine districts.

United Provinces.—Rain has fallen in twenty-six districts; but, except in Azamgarh, Ballia, Ghazipur, Basti and Gorakhpur, it has not been more than a sprinkling and quite insufficient. More rain is now urgently required almost everywhere. Hot westerly winds have been blowing in the three western Divisions. The standing crops, especially rice, have begun to suffer. Harvesting has commenced in a few districts and irrigation is in progress where practicable. Transplantation of late rice is going on and fields are being prepared for spring crops. Bhusa is scarce in Farrukhabad, Hardoi, Sitapur, Kheri and Rae Bareilly. Supplies are adequate, but prices are rising.

Punjab.—The rainfall was light to moderate. Rain has fallen in Hissar, Jullundur, Amritsar, Sialkot, Mianwali, Ambala and Rawal Pindi. Prices of food-grains are rising in most districts; and are falling in Rohtak. Sowings of autumn crops and ploughings for the next spring crops continue and weeding is in progress in Gurgaon and Jullundur. Carrots are being sown in Gurgaon and toria in Amritsar, Sialkot, Shahpur and Lyallpur. The condition of the standing crops is good to average, except in the Rawal Pindi district and the riverain tracts of Mianwali. The crops are withering on account of westerly winds and cessation of rain in Rohtak, Gurgaon, Delhi and Sialkot. More rain is badly needed in some districts. Rats are damaging the standing crops in Lahore. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Green fodder is becoming scarce in Sialkot for want of rain. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Good rain fell throughout Hazara; and slight showers in the Mardan and Laki tehsils of the Peshawar and Bannu districts. More rain is needed all over the Province. The condition of the standing crops so far is good; but outside Hazara they are beginning to show the effect of the drought. There is no irrigation from hill torrents in the Dera Ismail Khan district. Irrigation from the Paharpur canal continues. The water-supply and fodder are sufficient. Prices of wheat and maize are rising. Prices—wheat  $13\frac{1}{2}$  to 19; maize  $20\frac{1}{4}$  to 32; gram  $16\frac{1}{2}$  to 23; and bajra 19 to 23 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was slight rain during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat from 12 to 20 and maize 16 to 24 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is fair. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The weather is bright. Crops are in good condition. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Showers fell in Marwar, Sirohi, Dungarpur, Partabgarh, Bundi, Kotah, Jhalawar, Alwar and Merwara; the maximum fall being 53 cents at Kishangarh and Alwar. Rain is wanted for the standing crops in Jaisalmer, the hill tracts of Mewar, Alwar, Karauli, Bharatpur, Dholpur and Ajmer. Crops are generally in fair to good condition throughout. Weeding operations are in progress generally; also sowing continues in places. Irrigation has commenced in Dholpur and Ajmer-Merwara. Cattle are generally in good condition, except in parts of Mewar. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are falling in Mewar, Partabgarh and Kotah; are rising in the hill tracts of Mewar, Dungarpur, Bundi, Karauli, Bharatpur, Dholpur and Ajmer; and are practically steady elsewhere.

Central India.—There was no rain in Bundelkhand or Baghelkhand; the rainfall was general elsewhere. Sowing and weeding are in progress. Agricultural stock is in good condition in Gwalior and Bundelkhand. Pasturage is fair in Baghelkhand and good elsewhere. Prices are high in Bhopal and Baghelkhand and are steady elsewhere. Crops have been slightly damaged by rats in parts of Indore and by excessive rain in Malwa and Bhopawar.

Central Provinces.—The weather continued warm and cloudy. Light to moderately heavy rain fell in all districts during the week except in Nimar and Mandla and also in Chhindwara where more rain is needed now. The rainfall in Raipur amounted to 6 inches; and in Drug to 4 inches; Nagpur, Yeotmal, Bilaspur and Hoshangabad had from 2 inches to  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inches; the quantity received elsewhere was under one inch. A break in the rains is needed in Drug. Transplantation of rice is completed and weeding and preparation of land for sowing of spring crops are in progress. Juar and til in parts of Damoh have been slightly damaged by excessive moisture; and cotton in the Burhanpur tehsil of Nimar is not doing very well. Some damage from grass-hoppers is reported from a few villages in Raipur; otherwise the condition of the standing crops is good throughout the Provinces and prospects are generally favourable. Fodder and water are adequate. Prices of food-grains have fluctuated slightly in some seven districts only, exhibiting a tendency to rise. Prices were generally dearer than those ruling in the corresponding week of the previous year and continued equal to or above the scarcity level in Mandla, Seoni, Hoshangabad, Chhindwara, Chanda, Bhandara, Balaghat, Drug, Bilaspur and the districts of Berar.

Native States.—The rainfall during the week measured:—In Raigarh  $8\frac{1}{2}$  inches; in Sirguja  $8\frac{1}{2}$ ; in Sakti  $6\frac{1}{2}$ ; in Raj-Nandgaon  $5\frac{1}{2}$ ; in Sarangarh  $4\frac{1}{2}$ ; and in Chhuikhadan and Jashpur each 2 inches. Sowing of autumn crops is completed everywhere and weeding and preparation of land for spring sowings continue. Til in Raigarh is partially injured by excessive rain; elsewhere standing crops are in flourishing condition. Fodder and water are sufficient. Wheat became dearer by 4 seers in Chhuikhadan.

Bombay.—Good rain fell during the week in parts of the Konkan and Savantwadi; and slight rain elsewhere. More rain is needed in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. Inundation in Sind is not satisfactory. Autumn sowing continues in parts of Karachi, the Upper Sind Frontier, Gujarat, Ahmednagar, Poona, Dharwar, Baroda, Palanpur and Cutch. Transplantation is progressing in parts of Karachi, Ahmedabad, Kaira, the Konkan, Nasik and Palanpur. Standing crops are suffering from want of sufficient moisture in parts of Sind, the Deccan and the Karnatak; otherwise they are in good condition except for slight damage by recent excessive rain in parts of Poona and Satara; and by rats in parts of Karachi and Hyderabad. The fodder-supply is generally adequate. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Drinking water is sufficient. The supply of water for irrigation is sufficient except in parts of Nasik and Bijapur. The quantity of food-grains purchasable per rupee is in the Karnatak 22 to 33 per cent; in the Deccan 2 to 27 per cent; and in the Konkan 12 to 33 per cent less than the normal; and in Gujarat 36 per cent less than the normal to 18 per cent above normal; and in Sind 26 per cent less than the normal to 16 per cent above normal. During the week ending the 31st August 18 persons were relieved gratuitously in Belgaum.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall during the week was 10 cents. In some parts of nine talukas the autumn crop is withering for want of rain. Rain is urgently required in eleven talukas. Autumn and early rice crops in other parts are in good to fair condition; and are being weeded. Spring sowings continue and more land is being prepared for the purpose. Prices:—wheat  $8\frac{1}{2}$ ; coarse rice  $7\frac{1}{2}$ ; and juar  $14\frac{1}{2}$  seers per rupee.

Mysore.—There was generally slight rain during the week. Prices of food-grains are generally steady. The standing crops are in good condition, but more rain is needed. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—The rainfall during the week was 2 inches 51 cents. Transplanting of rice is completed. Prices of food-grains are normal. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was heavy in South Canara ; good in the Vizagapatam Agency, South Arcot, the Nilgiris, Malabar and Ganjam ; nil in Godavari, Kistna, Kurnool, Nellore and Tinnevely ; and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are insufficient in parts of all districts, except in Coimbatore, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, Malabar, South Canara and the Nilgiris. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress. The standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Malabar have been damaged by floods ; and some in parts of the Circars, Kurnool, Cuddapah, Chingleput, North Arcot, Tanjore, Madura and Tinnevely require more rain. Harvests are proceeding except in Kurnool, with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of Guntur, Cuddapah, Nellore, North Arcot, Madura and Tinnevely. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in twelve districts ; has fallen in four ; and has slightly risen in six. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in eight districts ; has fallen in four ; and has slightly risen in eight. Cholam is stationary in five districts ; has fallen in two ; and has slightly risen in six. Cumbu is stationary in five districts ; has fallen in three ; and has slightly risen in seven.

TERRITORIAL FORCE.

Raising and Maintenance of Force.

6. It shall be lawful for His Majesty to raise and maintain a force, to be called the "Territorial Force," consisting of such number of men as may from time to time be provided by Parliament.

Government, Discipline, and Pay.

7.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, it shall be lawful for His Majesty, by order signified under the hand of a Secretary of State, to make orders with respect to the government, discipline, and pay and allowances of the Territorial Force, and with respect to all other matters and things relating to the Territorial Force, including any matter by this Part of this Act authorised to be prescribed or expressed to be subject to orders or regulations.

(2) The said orders may provide for the formation of men of the Territorial Force into regiments, battalions, or other military bodies, and for the formation of such regiments, battalions, or other military bodies into corps, either alone or jointly with any other part of His Majesty's forces, and for appointing, transferring, or attaching men of the Territorial Force to corps, and for posting, attaching, or otherwise dealing with such men within the corps; and may provide for the constitution of a permanent staff, including adjutants and staff sergeants who shall, except in special circumstances certified by the general officer commanding, be members of His Majesty's regular forces; and may regulate the appointment, rank, duties, and numbers of the officers and non-commissioned officers of the Territorial Force.

(3) Subject to the provisions of any such order, the Army Council may make general or special regulations with respect to any matter with respect to which His Majesty may make orders under this section.

(4) Provided that the said orders or regulations shall not—

- (a) affect or extend the term for which, or the area within which, a man of the Territorial Force is liable under this Part of this Act to serve; or
- (b) authorise a man of the Territorial Force when belonging to one corps to be transferred without his consent to another corps; or
- (c) when the corps of a man of the Territorial Force includes more than one unit, authorise him when not embodied to be posted, without his consent, to any unit other than that to which he was posted on enlistment; or
- (d) when the corps of a man of the Territorial Force includes any battalion or other body of the regular forces, authorise him to be posted without his consent to that battalion or body.

(5) Where a man of the Territorial Force was enlisted or re-engaged before the date of any order or regulation under this Part of this Act, nothing in such order or regulation shall render him liable without his consent to be appointed, transferred, or attached to any military body to which he could not without his consent have been appointed, transferred, or attached if the said order or regulation had not been made.

(6) Orders and regulations under this section may provide for the formation of a reserve division of the Territorial Force, and may relax or dispense with any of the provisions of this Act relating to the training of the men of the Territorial Force so far as regards their application to men in the reserve division, and may, notwithstanding anything in this section, authorise a man in the reserve division to be transferred from one corps to another, so, however, that a man in the reserve division shall not, without his consent, be transferred to a corps of another arm.

(7) All orders and general regulations made under this section shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament as soon as may be after they are made.

8. Enlistment, Service, Discharge.

9.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, all men of the Territorial Force shall be enlisted by such persons and in such manner and subject to such regulations as may be prescribed :

Provided that every man enlisted under this Part of this Act—

- (a) Shall be enlisted for a county for which an association has been established under this Act and shall be appointed to serve in such corps for that county or for an area comprising the whole or part of that county as he may select, and, if that corps comprises more than one unit within the county, shall be posted to such one of those units as he may select;
  - (b) Shall be enlisted to serve for such a period as may be prescribed, not exceeding four years, reckoned from the date of his attestation;
  - (c) May be re-engaged within twelve months before the end of his current term of service for such a period as may be prescribed not exceeding four years from the end of that term, and on re-engagement shall make the prescribed declaration before a justice of the peace or an officer, and so from time to time.
- (2) A man enlisted in the Territorial Force, until duly discharged in the prescribed manner, shall remain subject to this Part of this Act as a man of the Territorial Force.
- (3) Any man of the Territorial Force shall, except when a proclamation ordering the Army Reserve to be called out on permanent service is in force, be entitled to be discharged before the end of his current term of service on complying with the following conditions:
- (i) Giving to his commanding officer three months' notice in writing, or such less, notice as may be prescribed, of his desire to be discharged; and
  - (ii) Paying for the use of the association for the county for which he was enlisted such sum as may be prescribed not exceeding five pounds; and
  - (iii) Delivering up in good order, fair wear and tear only excepted, all arms, clothing, and appointments, being public property, issued to him, or, in cases where for any good and sufficient cause the delivery of the property aforesaid is impossible, on paying the value thereof;

Provided that it shall be lawful for the association for the county, or for any officer authorised by the association, in any case in which it appears that the reasons for which the discharge is claimed are of sufficient urgency or weight, to dispense either wholly or in part with all or any of the above conditions.

(4) A man of the Territorial Force may be discharged by his commanding officer for disobedience to orders by him while doing any military duty, or for neglect of duty, or for misconduct by him as a man of the Territorial Force, or for other sufficient cause, the existence and sufficiency of such cause to be judged of by the commanding officer:

Provided that any man so discharged shall be entitled to appeal to the Army Council who may give such directions in any such case as they may think just and proper.

(5) Where the time at which a man of the Territorial Force would otherwise be entitled to be discharged occurs while a proclamation ordering the Army Reserve to be called out on permanent service is in force, he may be required to prolong his service for such further period, not exceeding twelve months, as the competent military authority may order.

10.—(1) The following sections of the Army Act shall apply to the Territorial Force (that is to say):

- (b) (In section one hundred) of "has not within three months claimed his discharge on any ground on which he is entitled under this sub-section to do so" for "has received pay as a soldier of the regular forces during three months."

(2) A recruit may be attested by any lieutenant or deputy-lieutenant of any county in the United Kingdom, or by an officer of the regular or Territorial Forces, and the sections of the Army Act in this section mentioned, and also section thirty-three of the same Act, shall as applied to the Territorial Force be construed as if a justice of the peace in those sections included such lieutenant, deputy lieutenant, or officer.

12. If a man of the Territorial Force enlists into the army reserve without being discharged from the Territorial Force, the terms and conditions of his service whilst he remains in the army reserve shall be those applicable to him as a man belonging to the army reserve, and not those applicable to him as a man of the Territorial Force.

(2) The requirement to attend training and drills, and to fulfil conditions under this section, shall be in addition to the requirement to attend training and drills and to fulfil conditions for the purpose of annual training.

15.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, every man of the Territorial Force shall, by way of annual training:
